LADIES' NIGHT

The second annual banquet of the Newton Board of Trade will be held in Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale, Monday evening, April 12, and from all accounts one of the most enjoyable occasions is in store.

This meeting will be in the form of a "Ladies' Night." A banquet will be served at 7:15 and is to be followed by an elaborate program. Preceding the banquet a reception will be held whereby an opportunity will be given for all to get better acquainted and to meet the officers and the guests of the evening.

Through the efforts of President William J. Cozens, Lieutenant Governor Grafton D. Cushing has consented to be present and address the meeting. His Honor, Mayor Edwin O. Childs, who is a member of the Board of Trade, will also be present as a guest.

Each member of the Board of Trade has been presented with two tickets one for himself and the other for his guest. It is expected that between two hundred and three hundred will be present.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is comprised of M. H. Haase, S. J. Pickering and C. G. Newcomb.

DRAW JURORS

At a special meeting of the board of aldermen Monday evening, the following jurors for service in the Superior Court at Cambridge next month were drawn by Alderman Allen, W. K. Chandler, W. K. Travis of Lower Falls.

The mayor's appointments of Charles E. Braman and Hugh Campbell as assistant assessors in place of Frank E. Hunter and Henry C. Daniels were confirmed. Sewers were ordered constructed in Albion place and in Washington street and Aspen avenue and the Gas Light Co. was given permission to dig up several streets.

GIRLS GYMNASIUM MEET

Successful Event Held Last Friday in High School Gym

The gymnasium at the High School was completely filled last Friday afternoon by parents and friends, gathered to witness the annual gymnastic meet of the girls of the Newton High School.

The girls made a most attractive appearance in their white middie blouses, dark bloomers, and a large loosely flowing tie of the class colors, the freshmen being green, the sophomores, blue, juniors, yellow and seniors, red.

The audience was liberal with fully deserved applause for the work in all the events, and the girls themselves joining in urging on their favorites in the competitive parts of the program.

The meet was won by the seniors, with the sophomores second, and freshmen third, and the summary which follows gives the names of the point winners.

The games aroused intense enthusiasm, especially in the relay race, where the finish was a matter of inches. The ball relay race was won by the sophomores, who beat the freshmen rather easily.

The arch goal ball game was played in two rounds, the sophomores beating the freshmen and the seniors winning from the juniors in the first round, with the seniors beating the sophomores in the finals.

The relay race developed exactly the same conditions, altho the finish of the finals was much closer.

The dancing numbers of the program were greatly enjoyed, the graceful Swedish schottische by the freshmen and the fire fly dance of the seniors and juniors being particularly interesting.

Before Mr. S. Warren Davis announced the decision of the judges, he gave a greeting to the girls and the audience from Headmaster E. C. Adams (who is convalescing from a long illness), and which was greeted with applause.

As Mr. Davis announced the winners in the various events, the girls gave vent to their interest with cheers and yells which vied with those usually given by the boys, but when he stated that the meet had been won by the senior class, there was an outburst of cheering that lasted for several minutes and was followed a moment later by another yell when he stated that the sophomores had won second place.

The girls then cheered the successful classes, the winners in the events, the teachers and the school and a most successful meet was over.

Great credit is due to Miss Shephardson, the physical director, and her assistant, Miss Flanders, for the splendid work done by the girls.

The judges were Miss Bouve of the Boston School of Physical Education, Miss Maley of Smith College, Miss Baxter of the Winsor School and Miss Shaw of the Brighton High School.

The summary:—Floor work won by seniors, sophomores, second.

The action of the Legislature in passing the bill to prohibit the transportation of liquor into Newton by liquor dealers in other cities, will meet with the hearty approval of almost the entire community. The present situation in this respect is objectionable to many good citizens and ought not to have been created. The only danger from the passage of the transportation bill will come from possible short-sighted action of the city government in refusing to grant our reputable expressmen the right to transport liquor, as provided by law. If such permits are refused, and liquor dealers are prohibited from sending their own teams into the city, the vote on the license question at the next city election will be an object lesson to some of the good people of Newton.

The resignation of Miss Thurston, the librarian at the Newton Free Library, will be a great surprise to many of our citizens, for Miss Thurston has given such painstaking, conscientious, faithful and valuable service to the community for so many years that the library without her will seem a different place. Miss Thurston will have the best wishes of hosts of friends in her coming retirement.

His Excellency, Governor Walsh will honor the whole city in making a friendly visit at the Hunnewell Clubhouse week after next. He will be received with the greatest respect, not only for the office which he holds, but for his own personality.

The new fifteen-minute schedule between Newtonville square and the Upper Falls to be started next Monday by the M. & B. Street Railway Co. is a step in the right direction, as the service on this line has never met the approval of the travelling public.

The action of various clubs and organizations in Newton Highlands in making a systematic campaign in that village to stamp out the mosquito is well worth emulation in other portions of the city.

There is a rapidly growing sentiment in the Newton or Nonantum square section of the community in favor of having the fire alarm bell placed in use once more.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The great event this week at the State House was the action of the Legislature in passing the bill favoring the temperance people to a third reading. These bills change the present law so that the board of aldermen "may" license the pony express, instead of "shall" as at present, and there is a new bill to prohibit liquor dealers from delivering their wares in a no license community. As one observer wittily remarked when this bill passed, "that bill will ruin one of the chief industries of Brighton." These matters now go to the Senate, where Mr. Ellis will make a hard, but as many believe, an unsuccessful fight to put them thru. Representative Weston was one of the speakers in favor of the transportation bill on Tuesday and also helped defeat the bill to allow "boxing" matches in this state the same day.

City Solicitor Bishop appeared before Ways and Means on Wednesday to oppose the half mill tax bill for educational purposes. This bill would cost Newton about $45,000 and while opinions differ as to the amount of benefit which we would receive, Mr. Bishop is of the opinion that Newton would receive nothing in addition to what is now being paid us by the state for our Vocational school.

The committee on Cities has reported a bill recommended by the recess committee on city charters, and which has already been discussed in this column. The bill allows each city its choice of one of four schemes of government—a mayor and city council, with elections at large, a mayor and city council, the latter being partly by ward and partly at large, a mayor and commission form of government, and the city manager form of government. If the bill passes any city may, by a petition signed by a suitable number of voters, have any one of these plans placed on the ballot at a state election for acceptance or rejection, and if accepted, the bill provides for a city election the following month, and the new officers take control in January. If this bill becomes a law, a few far sighted men in this city are of the opinion that such a referendum will be placed on the ballot in November, 1916, particularly if the city election this fall does not prove entirely satisfactory.

The Supreme Court sent an opinion yesterday to the General Court stating that the point made by Mr. Allen of this city that a census taken on April 1st might be illegal, in which the court says that the Legislature has the authority to designate the day on which the census shall be taken. Since this point was raised by Mr. McMorro of Boston brought up the same thing last year, but it was so late in the session and as the Supreme Court was not in session, no action was taken.

The following State House letter was in type for our issue of last week but was unavoidably crowded out.

CASTLE SQUARE—All records for runs have been broken by the Craig Players in the history of the Castle Square Theatre by "Common Clay," the Harvard Prize Play by Cleves Kinroad, which began its remarkable run on Jan. 8. About 223,000 people from Boston, Massachusetts, and other states in New England have visited the Castle Square Theatre, most of them upon the recommendation of their friends. Old patrons of the theatre will be glad to learn that John Craig does not intend to give up the Castle Square just because he has a new theatre. He will use the new Craig Theatre for the Harvard prize plays and for special attractions and keep his stock running on at the old place.

BOSTON THEATRE—The long absence of grand opera from Boston amusements has created a keen interest in the coming short season of grand opera in English to be given at the Boston Theatre beginning Monday night, April 5th, under the direction of Milton and Sargent Aborn. Verdi's "Aida" will be given for four performances during the first half of the opening week, including Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night and the Wednesday matinee. For the latter half of the first week the same number of performances of Puccini's "Madam Butterfly" have been scheduled, including Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights with a matinee on Saturday. The second week will be divided in the same manner between Wagner's "Lohengrin" and Verdi's "Il Trovatore" with extra matinees of "Hansel and Gretel" at 3:00 P. M. on Tuesday and Friday. The third week will bring four performances each of "The Tales of Hoffman" and "Carmen."

WILBUR THEATRE—Easter Monday will usher in the fifteenth week of "A Pair of Sixes" at the Wilbur Theatre, and it is quite probable that this remarkable success will not be permitted to leave Boston until every man, woman and child in the Hub City has enjoyed it. While many theatrical attractions throughout the country are complaining of poor attendance, "A Pair of Sixes" is breaking all records in Boston. There has never been a farce presented in New England that contained as much wholesome laughter, as many witty situations or as much joyous merriment as are to be found in "A Pair of Sixes." For nearly four months this play has been the one bright spot among Boston theatrical attractions, drawing crowded houses to each of its performances. So much has already been said and written regarding the many qualities of this jolly farce that nothing new can be added. Ask any person in Boston about this play, and the answer is sure to be "the best I ever saw."

CHRISTIAN FORUM MEETING

Sunday evening, April 11, in Elliot Church will be held the last meeting of the Christian Forum of the Newton Churches.

Ex-Governor Malcolm R. Patterson of Tennessee will be the speaker and his subject will be "National Prohibition."

Mr. Patterson is without question one of the finest speakers in the country and his thorough knowledge along Prohibition lines assures a most interesting meeting.

THE MOSQUITO WAR

The boys and girls of Newton Highlands have been enlisted in the good cause of stamping out the nuisance caused by mosquitoes by the Men's Club, Men's League, and the Newton Highlands Improvement Association. The village has been divided into four districts with a supervisor in charge of each district and the entire community will be covered each week, and the necessary steps taken to prevent the breeding of mosquitoes. Forest Commissioner Colton is giving his hearty co-operation to the movement.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Board of Directors will hold their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, April 6th, at 8 o'clock in the Directors' Room at the Association. In the Church Bowling League there are four teams still in the race for first place. Next week the Immanuel Associates will play the team from Elliot Church and the Newtonville Methodist will play a team from the Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton. The winners of these matches will play for the honor of having their names engraved on the shield. The Fellowship Club will meet at 6:30 o'clock. If the weather holds good we hope to have the tennis courts ready for playing by the 19th of April. The baseball diamond will also soon be ready for use.

Boys' Department

The tickets for the minstrel show are out and most of the boys have them for sale. The rehearsals are progressing finely and everything points to the best show yet.

The boys of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Greater Boston will meet for the last conference of the season at Newton on Wednesday, April 7th. A good speaker will be secured.

Two baseball leagues are being formed and much of the activity during the spring will be along these lines.

A fine program is being prepared for vacation week with something to keep everybody busy.

NAVY CHAPLAIN DEAD

Rev. Wm. O. Holway Dies at Home of Mr. L. R. Speare, Newton Centre

Rev. Wesley O. Holway, D. D., for thirty-three years a chaplain in the United States navy, died early last Friday morning at the home of his son-in-law, Lewis R. Speare, at Newton Centre, after an illness of several months, from valvular heart trouble.

Dr. Holway was born in Lowell, June 9, 1839, and received his early education at the Latin and English High School at Cambridge. He entered Harvard in 1856 and was graduated in 1860. For a short period after his graduation he filled the position of professor of mathematics and modern languages at Wyoming Seminary, at Kingston, Pa., but in 1861 he was ordained a preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church, serving successfully the pastorates of Bucksport, Damariscotta and Bangor, Me.

In 1866, owing to ill health, he was forced to give up the ministry and sought an appointment as chaplain in the United States Navy, receiving his commission June 2, 1868, when he entered upon a long and notable career which was only terminated by his retirement in 1901. Of his first eighteen years of naval service, eight were spent on the water, in the South Atlantic, and North Atlantic Oceans, and the China Sea, at the completion of which he received the rank of commander, which entitled him to duty at home.

Dr. Holway was an able writer and engaged extensively in journalism. The greater part of his literary work was devoted to the Methodist denominational journal, Zion's Herald, on whose staff he served continuously from 1870 until his death.

His greatest work, however, and that for which he will most widely be remembered, was the impetus which he gave to the movement for moral and physical improvement among the sailors during his chaplaincy which to no inconsiderable extent marked a period of reconstruction in the personnel of the Navy. During his service at Newport, he compiled the course of calisthenics which has since been in use at that point and prepared Naval Manual of Physical Drill which was adopted in the face of severe competition by the Bureau of Navigation and has since been and is at the present time in use in all branches of the United States service throughout the world.

His greatest single achievement was probably that accomplished at New York, in which he was aided by Admiral Philip. A network of saloons had been established outside the navy yard gate, where the sailors were waylaid, cleaned out and left stranded. Unable to return on time, they were blacklisted and quarantined, which meant no liberty for three months. A naval general committee was organized to work in conjunction with the International Y. M. C. A., of which Admiral Philip was president and Chaplain Holway secretary. Their zeal attracted the attention of Miss Helen Gould, now Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, who purchased a nearby estate, and the Naval Young Men's Christian Association was organized. The first building proved inadequate and Miss Gould erected a $250,000 structure, which in turn became too small, and Mrs. Sage duplicated it with one of equal size. As many as a thousand sailors used these rooms in a single evening. At about the same time Dr. Holway organized the Navy Temperance League, of which he was chief secretary, which enjoyed a large enrollment among the crews of the various ships.

While attached to the South Atlantic fleet Dr. Holway was honored by Harvard with the degree of Master of Arts, and on June 24, 1896, received from the same college the distinction of Doctor of Divinity. He was a member of the Harvard Club and Boston Athletic Association of Boston.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Hepsie Croft Holway, whom he married in Boston Nov. 8, 1869; one brother, Rev. Raymond F. Holway, of Northampton; a sister, Mrs. William D. Bridge, of Orange, N. J.; three sons, Charles Wesley, Archer Croft and Clinton Fisk Holway, and two daughters, Mrs. Lewis R. Speare, of Newton Centre, and Mrs. Charles R. Fletcher of Buffalo, N. Y.

SHUBERT THEATRE—Tonight's "The Night," presented by the London Gaiety Company, the most famous musical comedy organization in the world, and fresh from an unusually successful run at the Shubert Theatre, New York, comes to the Shubert Theatre in this city next Monday night for a limited engagement. The artists heading the company include Mr. Lauri De Frece, the most popular leading juvenile in light musical entertainment in London; Miss Fay Compton, a delightful ingenue; Mr. Maurice Farkoe, famous on two continents for his impersonation of impulsive and amorous Latins; and Miss Emmy Wehlen, an Anglo-German singing comedienne possessed of an irresistible personality. Then there is a bevy of the famous "gels," famous from one end of the civilized world to the other for their beauty and charm. The daintiness, delicate charm and essential politeness which always characterize Gaiety productions and which has never been successfully reproduced in American presentations of Gaiety pieces, it is promised, will be in evidence in this production.

The officers of the Clafin Guard Veteran Corps, and the officers of the Cambridge City Guard Veteran Corps, held a joint installation and social evening at the Quincy House, Saturday evening, March 27. MAJESTIC THEATRE — Maeterlinck's wonderful fairy play, "The Blue Bird," comes to the Majestic Theatre next Monday, April 5th, for a special farewell engagement of two weeks, after a third triumphal tour of the entire country. This gorgeously beautiful spectacle of fairyland which ran for 268 days at the New Theatre, and which has never had a No. 2 company, is a wonderful drama, which portrays a quest of happiness, the heart's desire. The curtain rises on a small border and sister, Tyltyl and Mytyl, who are asleep in their beds in a wood-cutter's cabin. They are awakened by the fairy Berylune, who bids them start on the quest of the Blue Bird, the symbol of happiness. She intrusts Tyltyl with a marvelous green cap with a magic diamond, the mere turning of which allows them to see the hitherto unseen. The adventures of these children through beautiful lands and regions of despair are made the basis of a series of gorgeous spectacles which cost the directors of the New Theatre, New York, $150,000. Lovely music from the works of Debussy, Massenet and Bizet enhances the charm and there are many group dances by large numbers of young girls.

THE JOURNEY CLUB

The Journey Club is an interesting literary and social organization of ladies, which was started in West Newton about twenty years ago, the membership originally limited to twelve, but it has steadily increased in popularity, and now has a membership of twenty-five.

Until this year it was a luncheon club the meetings being held every two weeks at the homes of the members, but owing to the urgent demands for aid for the war sufferers, the Club has reduced its expenses, so that it may be enabled to give more freely to charities, and this year the meetings have been held in the afternoon, closing with informal tea. In addition to the regular program, there are always three or four open meetings when each member may invite one or more guests, and when these meetings are held in the evening gentlemen are invited.

The last open meeting was held at the Misses Allen School and Miss Maria Meyer gave an interesting address.

Many of the members have travelled extensively in Europe and on the Continent, and the papers are intensely interesting and instructive, containing many personal experiences and entertaining descriptions.

The subject for the season 1914-15 is "England" and the papers which have been presented are "The Famous Schools of England: Eton, Rugby, and Harrow," by Mrs. John Avery; "Transportation Problems in England," by Mrs. William Harrington; "The English Army and Navy," by Mrs. George Ellis; "Old Dartmouth," by Mrs. Frank Sherman. Mrs. George Bullard related a personal experience at the breaking out of War in Switzerland, France and England.

"Westminster Hall and its place in English History" was read by Mrs. Ellery Peabody; "Fountains and Rivers Abbey," by Mrs. James Neal; "William Wordsworth," by Mrs. S. H. Woodbridge; "Literary Characters and their haunts in London," by Miss Lucy E. Allen; "Dr. Samuel Johnson," by Mrs. Enoch Adams; "George Eliot," by Mrs. Lawrence Mayo.

"Southport and Vicinity," by Miss Caroline Lovett, who related personal experiences at Southport, and illustrated her talk with colored lantern slides. Mrs. Harry L. Ayer related interesting personal experiences "Around the World via the Fortifications of Great Britain"; "The Isle of Wight," by Miss Margaret Haskell; "English Actors and Actresses," by Mrs. Arthur Hosmer; "Bath and some of its Ghosts," by Mrs. Henry Talbot.

The last meeting of the Club was held this week on Thursday at the residence of Mrs. Henry B. Day on Chestnut street. Mrs. Day was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Enoch C. Adams. "American Shrines in England," was the title of Mrs. Day's paper.

A musical program is given at some of the meetings by Mrs. H. Haskell and Mrs. George Royal Pulsifer.

The other members of the Club include Mrs. James Richard Carter, Mrs. Charles E. Hatfield, Miss Louise Lovett, Mrs. James Tolman, Mrs. Marcus Morton, and Mrs. Robert Williamson.

MARKET BUREAU FAVORED

At a largely attended meeting held last Friday evening at the First Church, Newton Centre under the auspices of the Home Economic Committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, the matter of the establishment of an agricultural and market bureau for this city was discussed and approved. Mr. Horace W. Hall presided and the speakers were Secretary Wilfred Wheeler of the State Board of Agriculture, Richard Hittinger of the Chamber of Commerce, C. W. Prescott of Concord, president of the Mass. Asparagus Growers association, John McClelland of Westford and Miss Beulah C. Hatch of Simmons College.

The bureau proposes—
1. Dissemination of information on the handling of food products. Weekly reports and telephone communication.
2. Information to the producers as to the needs of the consumers in Newton so as to stimulate proper sorting, grading and packing as well as quick delivery to insure freshness and the handling of all food products in a sanitary way.

3. To stimulate cooperation among our own market men so as to make it possible for them to compete with the Boston market men in the buying of produce directly by carload lots. A great percentage of Newton trade is going to Boston. Why not help the market men here to buy and sell produce as cheaply as the Boston market men.

4. To promote a wide-spread enthusiasm among the children in Newton in the planting of gardens, thus opening up a new and practical field for healthy outdoor life.

5. To inaugurate a systematic study of home economics in our schools and in our homes.

6. To arrange from time to time meetings at different centres in Newton where experts on agriculture, home economics and marketing can impart information to the people.

MR. BAMBURGH'S LECTURE

Wednesday, April 21, has been appointed by the entertainment committee of the Newton club for Mr. Bamburgh's lecture on "Illuminated Manuscripts," which will be accompanied by an exhibition of examples illustrative of the subject. There will be a number of original 15th century specimens and many copies by the lecturer of historical initials and pages.

Books which have actively passed through as many possessors' hands as a valuable piece of real estate on a prominent corner of a busy city block, invariably have stories of their ownership and sale and purchase which would make readable chapters in a modern novel. When, however, a valuable illuminated manuscript is secretively carried from the library of a town in the path of the operations of a great war, and is smuggled to a place of safety only to become the victim of fire or pillage, the story is romantic enough to become a chapter in the Arabian Nights or the tragic history of nations.

There are many rare volumes of chronicles, classical texts, and service books of the church of which the romantic history is known, and there are a multitude of manuscript books which have been in the hands and coffers of famous kings and queens, princes, princesses and potentates of the church, which are not only of surpassing beauty but which have had chequered careers. The lifetimes which have been spent by artists upon such volumes, the pages of texts in solid gold, the bindings encrusted with large jewels, the silver clasps, and the uses to which the volumes have been put, render each worthy of interest, bringing the life of the middle ages into our intimate knowledge.

This lecture will be open to citizens of Newton as well as to members of the club, and it is expected that a large and distinguished audience will be present.

THE MEN'S FORUM

The last in a series of three interesting sessions of the Men's Forum of the Clafin Club, was held Sunday at the Newtonville Methodist Church.

Mr. John H. Hebbard, Massachusetts Deputy Commissioner of Prisons, gave a very interesting discourse, occupying nearly two hours. His subject was "Prison Reform in Massachusetts," and Mr. Hebbard spoke most graphically of the present prison conditions, treating his subject with a keen appreciation of what is needed to improve them.

He gave a detailed description of the prisons and the life of the prisoners, and told of how the prisoners become habitual criminals in the prisons of Massachusetts, some of them having served on an average of six times which shows the great need of reforming them while in prison. He pointed out the reasons why men were sent to prison; one important reason is to protect society; another is to prevent others from committing crimes, but in all cases the reasons are sufficient to have them imprisoned.

Mr. Hebbard believes that if we are to redeem the prisoners so that they will be able to take their proper places in the world, we will have to have a different sort of prison. Only a small percentage of the prisoners are vicious, and they ought to be provided with suitable quarters apart from the others. The majority of prisoners are tractable and peaceable, and they could be kept separate in cheaper places, and he believes that prisoners should be graded.

Mr. Hebbard also spoke on the question of health and said that prisoners should be provided with hospitals and more precautions taken to prevent disease, as diseased prisoners when pardoned, and allowed to go out into the world, were liable to contaminate others.

Another essential point he touched upon was the matter of education. There is practically no education in our prisons, and he claimed that regular trained teachers should be provided so that the prisoners might get instruction and training to qualify them to fill occupations when they come out of prison, and measures should be taken to find employment for them. The matter of pardons should be systematized and when prisoners are released they should be started on the right road.

Mr. Hebbard strongly advocates religious instruction in the prisons, as under present conditions the prisoners get practically none, and ministers rarely visit the prisons.

He thinks that arrangements should be made with clergymen of the various denominations to make regular visits to the prisoners, which would be a great help in the process of reform.

Mr. Hebbard is a very instructive and inspiring speaker, and was formerly teacher of History in the Newton Technical High School.

Local Happenings

The bright little comedy, "A Case for Sherlock Holmes" was creditably presented by members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club at the meeting last Friday afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Irving T. Farnham. Those who took part were: Mrs. H. W. Shedd, Mrs. W. D. Keefe, Miss Ruth Winslow, Mrs. James G. Patterson, Mrs. W. C. Church, Mrs. L. A. Bacon, Mrs. E. F. Robinson, Mrs. R. H. Evans, Mrs. C. C. Parlin, Miss Dorothy Farnham.

The Elliot Mandolin Club furnished music both before and between the acts and the songs by Mrs. Church and Miss Winslow were much enjoyed. In the close there was a cake and candy sale for the benefit of the club's scholarship fund.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. C. Peter Clark of Newton Centre was hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. It being one of the special days of the club it was decided to have an Irish Afternoon inasmuch as the club had studied Ireland during the early part of the season. The program included some Old Irish Songs by Miss Grace White, Irish folk dancing by the Misses Clark, daughters of the hostess, and recitations and anecdotes contributed by the members of the club. It is needless to say the afternoon was most enjoyable.

The Newton Highlands Monday Club considered the work of John Galsworthy at its meeting on March 22 and on Monday of this week had the pleasure of a social meeting at the home of Mrs. C. G. Wetherbee, when Mrs. Irving O. Palmer gave a lecture on "The Sea-Islanders." There were a large number of members and guests present to enjoy the occasion.

On Tuesday afternoon the Auburndale Woman's Club held its regular meeting in the Methodist parish house, Mrs. Brown, presiding. Miss Packard gave a report of the Federation Educational conference at Whitman. Mrs. McIntyre spoke of an opera to be given by the West Newton Music School in Norumbega Hall. Plans for a Newton Clean-Up day and for raising money for the Hospital social service were presented. Mrs. Corey sang a group of charming songs. Mrs. Freeman at the piano. The program of the day was in charge of the Home Economics committee, Mrs. Norton, chairman. She introduced Prof. Alpheus Woodman of the Institute of Technology, who gave a most interesting and enlightening talk on "The Honest Label," illustrated by samples and by lantern slides.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning a paper on "The Powers of the Speakership" was read by Mrs. L. S. Drake. The executive and legislative powers were carefully analyzed and the gradually increasing power of the speakership was traced, beginning with Henry Clay in 1811. Mrs. Drake enumerated the various men who have held the position and pointed out the special characteristics of each. Up to the time of the Civil war, she said, that Congress had gained little power since the time of Henry Clay. Each of the most recent speakers has gained power in a different way. At the present time, the speaker is a moderator, a member, a party chieftain, and the most influential person in the House.

On Wednesday afternoon the Pierian Club held its meeting with Mrs. Carolyn of High street. Mrs. C. P. Rogers, Jr., was in charge of the work, taking for her topics, "Arctic Canada and Yukon Gold Country," Mrs. Mills' subject was, "The Canadian Rockies." Numerous photographs were shown which added much to the interest of the study. Mrs. Rogers also spoke of "Ralph Connor, the Man and the Author." The afternoon closed with the usual social hour.

RECITAL

The first grade of the Pianoforte and Theory Students Association, pupils of Miss Helen Douglas, entertained their parents and friends with an exhibition of their class work on Thursday afternoon at the studio on Bowers street, Newtonville.

The program opened with a thorough drill of the Major scales. After answering numerous questions, each pupil proved a scale on the keyboard and then played a scale on the piano. This was followed by a drill of the minor scales after which the "scale game" was played.

Altho' the class has had but six lessons at the piano, each pupil played a piece and duet, and transposed the piece to other keys.

Interesting stories of the famous composers were also told by the children.

The following pupils took part: Paul C. James, Marjorie Carr, Esther Stiles, Eleanor Martin, Helen Dodge, and Jennette Martin.

The audience was pleased with the exhibit, and remarked on the thoroughness and accuracy of the pupils' work, the rapid progress made in so few lessons and how much easier and more interesting this method is for the beginner in music.

BEATRICE BAERMANN

A beautiful and gifted life has gone from our midst. For many years Mrs. Baermann lived in Newton endearing herself to all who knew her. Her realm was her home and those who were privileged to be her friends knew its unbounded hospitality. Her personal charm, her brilliant mind, her warm sympathetic heart drew old and young to her and kept them her loyal friends. One never made her a hasty call but lingered in her genial presence.

She loved all the little creatures in God's out-of-doors, squirrels, pigeons, bluejays, even the detested little sparrows were fed from her window every day. This is one of my pleasures, she would say.

Needy ones never suffered if she knew of their need.

Constant thoughtfulness of those about her made it a joy to serve her. A cup of hot coffee to a driver exposed to the cold; a warm supper to the one who had driven herself and Mr. Baermann to an evening concert; the remembrance of some anniversary in a friend's life showed her lovely spirit. Sadly will she be missed but everyone who knew her will rejoice because of the lovely memories of such a friend.

INVITATION DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Remick of Exeter street and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton H. Dwinell of Berkeley street entertained a company of friends at a dancing party on Tuesday evening at the Neighborhood Club, West Newton.

The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion with Japanese colors. A large umbrella was hung under the chandelier, in the center from which were festooned strings of lanterns to each of the four corners of the hall, giving a very artistic effect. The stage was fitted up as a room, and furnished most luxuriously.

The costumes worn by the ladies were very handsome and the ball-room presented an extremely attractive appearance. A splendid order, containing all of the modern society dances, was arranged, and the enthusiastic disciples of Terpsichore danced until midnight, to the charming accompaniment of delightful up-to-date music by Russell's Orchestra.

Supper was served during the intermission in the bowling-alley. Long tables were arranged and decorated in a combination scheme of white and yellow, with beautiful golden baskets filled with yellow jonquils.

There were about one hundred guests present.

AMHERST CLUB CONCERT

A good crowd assembled in the High School Hall last Friday night to enjoy the concert by the combined musical clubs of Amherst College. The audience was composed of High school pupils, besides a number of Amherst graduates. The "Easter Trip Program" was given. The first number in Part I was, "Lord Jeffery Amherst," by the Glee and Mandolin clubs. It was loudly applauded and an encore was played. "Rockin' in de Win'" came next sung by the Glee Club quartet composed of L. T. Webster, '15, R. R. McGowan '15, H. L. Gillies '16, and H. A. Lyon '15. This second number also was encored, as, in fact, was every selection on the program.

The Mandolin Club was comprised of, first mandolins, R. B. Cooper '15, R. A. McCague '15, J. K. Smith '15, R. S. Gillet '16, A. H. Washburn '16, R. Munroe '17, and R. J. Brinkerhoff; second mandolins, J. N. Lincoln '15, and E. R. Proctor '17; traps, R. H. Parks '17; first violin, A. P. Goodwin '15; second violin, G. K. Ripley '15; cellos, J. S. Bixler '16 and A. D. Marks '16; guitar, P. F. Greene '16 and A. W. Bailey '18; and banjo, H. Wales '15.

The Mandolin Club next played the beautiful "Cecelle Waltz" which reminded the audience that there was to be dancing in the Gym after the concert.

Next on the program was "Good-Bye," sung in a delightful manner by the Glee Club Quartet.

COMEDY SKETCHES

The members of the Junior Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church, Newton Highlands, are rehearsing for an entertainment to be presented on Easter Monday and Tuesday evenings, in the parish house, under the direction of Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse.

The program will include three one-act plays, "The Kleptomaniac," "The Workhouse Ward" and "The Circus Rider."

Miss Vera Waterhouse, president of the Junior Auxiliary, will take the leading role in "The Kleptomaniac," and the cast will include the Misses Laura Williams, Jeannette Lawson, Mildred Hiltz, Violet Child, and Marjorie Keith.

Mr. W. F. Coan, Mr. J. B. Melcher and Mr. Emory Leonard gave "The Workhouse Ward" recently at Newton Centre with gratifying success, and Mr. Walter H. Dugan, for many years manager of The Criterion Club of Boston has kindly consented to put on "The Circus Rider" written by Rosina Vokes, which is more of a professional than an amateur performance, the members of the cast being prominently identified with theatricals, and of exceptional dramatic ability. The cast includes Mr. Dugan, who takes a prominent part, Mr. Theodore Tewksbury, Mr. Arthur Logan and Mrs. Jessie Palmer Grahame.

During the intermissions a musical program will be given, consisting of solos and trios by Messrs. Tewksbury, violinist, Emory Leonard, cellist, and Miss Whittemore and Mrs. W. H. Leonard, pianists.

MOSQUITO SUPPRESSION

Mosquitoes of all kinds have been declared by the Board of Health to be nuisances, and a menace to health, and the co-operation of all is requested in the extermination of these pests.

Efforts to limit or prevent the propagation of the mosquito are not alone for the purpose of securing relief from the annoyance which the bite of this insect inflicts, as it has been conclusively proven that certain varieties of the mosquito transmit disease.

As the mosquito breeds only in the water, it is possible to thoroughly stamp them out by destroying their breeding places. Collections of water in ground depressions, barrels, tin cans, catch basins, garbage buckets, pails, water troughs, bottles, and defective house gutters which contain water from time to time, furnish a well-known means of propagating this insect.

Trouble from mosquitoes about your house indicates standing water, either on or adjacent to your premises, and as very small receptacles, in the most unsuspected places, breed mosquitoes, the most careful inspection should be made to discover their whereabouts and remove them.

Ground depressions should be drained or filled in, but where this is impracticable, crude or kerosene oil may be used as a temporary measure to destroy the mosquito larvae. A pint of oil is sufficient to cover a water space of twenty feet in diameter; the oil may be distributed by the use of an ordinary garden sprinkling pot. This process should be repeated every fourteen days during the season.

A remedy that is very effective in keeping away the mosquito is a mixture composed of oil of citronella, 1 ounce; spirits of camphor, 1 ounce, and oil of cedar, 1-2 ounce. A little of this compound used on the person is sufficient.

The Forestry Department requests the co-operation of all citizens in its efforts to abate and prevent the mosquito nuisance, and is ready to assist with suggestions and advice.

WHAT TWO STATES SAY
The Legislature of two States, Colorado and Kansas, where women vote, have at the present session told what they think of equal suffrage in unmistakable terms.
In answer to the misrepresentations about suffrage in Colorado, the Colorado Senate passed unanimously on January 22, 1915, the following resolution:
"Whereas, the question of woman suffrage has become an important issue in many States of the Union, and
"Whereas, woman suffrage was made a part of the organic law of the State of Colorado more than 22 years ago, and
"Whereas, the operation and effect of woman suffrage in this State is being made the subject of misrepresentation in other States where the question is an issue.
"Therefore, We deem it to be our duty to say that experience has demonstrated that woman suffrage is not only a just recognition of the rights of all before the law, but has proved in all respects materially helpful to good government among the people, and to a noticeable degree has incited a higher respect for the majesty and supremacy of the law."
Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 39, introduced by Senator Shouse in Kansas.
Whereas, The women of our State exercised the right of universal suffrage at the last election for the first time in the history of Kansas; and
Whereas, The right to vote was exercised by them generally and with interest in the question at issue; and
Whereas, This right was exercised by them on the basis of informed intelligence and their vote was the expression of individual views of party principles, neither being one-sided nor prejudiced, but having been given for such political measures as appeared to their judgment to be right,
Therefore, Be it resolved by the Senate of the State of Kansas, the Senate concurring therein,
That it is the judgment of this Legislature that the granting of the right of suffrage to the women of the State, so long withheld from them, was not only an act of justice to a disfranchised class, but that it also has proven to be of great good to the State, and to the women themselves.

RAILROAD LEARNS WOMEN NEED IT

Pennsylvania President Finds Majority of Stockholders Have No Political Power

The President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Samuel Rea, has just had an object lesson on votes for women. Mr. Rea recently sent out a letter to the stockholders, numbering some 92,000, "constituting a great army of the most substantial citizenship of the country." He asked them and their friends to urge directly upon the Legislatures of Pennsylvania and New Jersey the repeal of the Full Crew laws. But Mr. Rea forgot that the majority of the stockholders of the Pennsylvania Railroad are women.

Mrs. Wilfred Lewis, president of the Equal Franchise Society of Philadelphia, in answering Mr. Rea's letter, said:

"Many women members of this organization have received your letter urging their assistance for the repeal of the Full Crew law."

"I have heard one of your directors state publicly that the majority of your stockholders are women."

"We would point out to you that being unenfranchised we have no legitimate power over Legislatures."

"Therefore, we ask you in your own interest and for the larger public weal to talk to your friends and associates to the end that they may clearly understand the matter and join you in enfranchising the women of Pennsylvania and New Jersey."

COLLEGE SONGS

The following song has recently been written by Rev. Mr. Phipps of Newton Highlands for the Amherst College Quarterly.

The glorious Songs of College Boys,
Wild, jubilant and free,
When every youth his voice would raise Joyous as victory!

These sparkling rhymes of wit and fun,
That flashed from tongues of flame,
Inspiring each College Song
Enlisting for Life's Game!

Chorus.

O Glorious Songs of College Days!
With boyish vim we sung them then—
Deep echoes in our souls they raise,
Those merry Songs of College Days—
And still we sing,—as men!

And of all music that may thrill
And charm with grand appeal,
No other strains the heart more fill,
Or stir souls quick to feel—
Than those enraptured voices sung,
When breaking through the air
Volcanic bursts of chorus ring,
As clouds the lightnings tear!

Nor rolling drum nor bugle blast
E'er gave more telling speech,
In Memory's echoing halls to last,
Or through long years to reach
A helping hand,—to nerve the power
Men strong in heart would wield
Than those brave Songs that cheered each lonely athletic field!

THE RED CROSS AUXILIARY OF NEWTON

A certain number of ladies in Newton are still working faithfully for the relief of the wounded in Europe. At the three meetings held thus far in March, in the parlors of Channing Church, with an average attendance of thirty, the following work has been accomplished:

Pajamas, 34 sets, convalescent robes 13, Bandages 12 doz., "Sponges" 76 doz., Knitted articles 50.

Since the need of hospital supplies at the European battlefield becomes daily more urgent, it is hoped that more ladies will find some time each Friday to devote to this work.

HOLD IMPORTANT SESSION

Ass Annual Budget of Over $1,600,00 and Refuse to Change Shingle Ordinance

In less than ten minutes, last Monday evening, the board of aldermen, with every member present, passed the annual budget which carries a total of $1,600,000 to the tax levy and $123,500 to the Water revenue account, making a total budget for the year of $1,723,500. This action is quite a compliment to the work of the Finance Committee, which has been considering the budget for the past six or seven weeks and "burning the midnight oil" in a strenuous endeavor to meet the necessary expense of the city within the ability of the taxpayers. The budget is nearly $50,000 less than recommended by Mayor Childs ($1,773,500), the largest cut being made, as usual in the Street Department. The details of the budget is given in another column.

The session was also marked by a debate on the so-called "shingle ordinance" which the Rules Committee reported ought not to be modified. Alderman Rice favored an amendment limiting the requirement of fire-retarding roof covering to all new construction and to re-shingling within fire limits. Mr. Rice presented petitions and letters from about 500 persons representing about $2,000,000 of property asking for amendment or repeal, and he added that probably 70 per cent of the people of the city were aware of this ordinance. He believed that the ordinance was too drastic as it now stands, that it entailed an additional cost of 20 to 50 per cent, which was a hardship to place on property owners. The worst feature, he said, was the inability to re-shingle part of a roof, and which he said could make a house look like a man carrying one tan and one patent leather shoe. Fully 80 per cent of the houses in Newton have shingled roofs and to require other roof coverings would be entirely inconsistent with most of the present architecture. There is no great hazard in such an open residential city like Newton, and Mr. Rice believed the present ordinance was passed without much consideration. Lynn, he said, after the Salem fire, had refused to pass a similar ordinance and with competent and efficient fire department, and a competent Buildings Commissioner, there was little fear of any hazard existing in this city. Insurance people say that Newton has the best fire risk in the state, and conditions do not warrant such a drastic ordinance as this. Alderman Rice then offered his amendment, as stated above.

Alderman Bartlett said that the Rules Committee had given the matter great deal of thought. While a large number of persons were evidently interested in this question, it was undoubtedly started by persons interested in the sale of wooden shingles, and while they had a right to take such action, it is well to keep in mind how this movement had been started. The committee is satisfied that the cost is increased by this ordinance, as everybody admits that the initial cost is about the same, the difference coming in the life of the shingle. With no statistics as to the life of the asphalt shingle, which has been on the market for about 10 years, it is as fair to claim that its life is 40 years, as for the other to say that its life is but 10 years. It should also be borne in mind that the wooden shingle of today is not as good as that produced twenty years ago. There is no question but that the wooden shingle is a fire hazard. The Planning Board, the Board of Appeals, Chief of the Fire Department, chiefs of other fire departments, and the Fire Prevention Commissioner all recommend this ordinance. The only argument in favor of modification is that it might affect the architecture of the house. Asphalt shingles come in various colors and ought to meet anybody's taste. In Newton there have been ten shingle fires within the last few weeks, and five fires were set last week from one fire on a shingle roof. Chelsea burned down, but Salem didn't appreciate the danger and also burned down. The committee believe that the ordinance is for the benefit of the city, and that all the arguments leads to this and to this conclusion only.

Alderman Rice stated that the best shingles, creosoted, will cost about $9 per square and will last from 20 to 25 years, while asphalt costing about the same, are only guaranteed for ten years. With a bill now pending in the Legislature, which will modify things considerably, the city should pass the amendment and tide this over until the new law became operative.

Alderman Allen said that while he had first believed in some modification, the house next to him had had two shingle fires within a short time, and he should support the ordinance. Alderman Cabot said that the commission which had revised the Building Code two years ago had favored this ordinance with but one dissenter.

Alderman Harriman spoke on the hardship to the property owner, saying that a wooden shingle roof on an ordinary size house cost $108, a Bangor slate but $144, making a difference of but $36 on a $5,000 or $6,000 house. It is absurd to say that this small sum is a hardship. It is admitted that the life of slate will far exceed wood and a good architect states that excellent effects can be produced with slate roofing. With no dispute that the wood shingle is a fire hazard, the board should stand for safe construction and take no backward step.

Alderman Hollis read from a report by an expert on the Salem fire recommending that "the entire abolition (of wooden shingles) in the entire city limits." Mr. Hollis said that the fire waste of Boston last year was $2,893,000—an absolute waste, and said that this ordinance protects the best interests of the city.

Alderman Clark called attention to the mass of misinformation contained in a pamphlet sent to the alderman by Mr. Bacon.

Alderman Jarvis thought it well to go carefully and the change should first be applied only to new construction. Newton was built much different from Chelsea or Salem. He did not believe the fire loss would amount to 1-20th of the cost involved in complying with the new ordinance. People in my ward, he said don't want it, as the cost is far more than should be imposed on property owners. He claimed that wooden shingles cost less than $10 per square, while asbestos cost $17, and that the time was not ripe for such a drastic change.

Alderman Murphy read from a letter from Chief Randlee that the fire loss from shingle fires alone in the past 11 years had been $31,670.

Alderman Rice closed the debate by saying that there was no need of the ordinance unless there was danger of a great conflagration and that people think it is unreasonable.

His amendment was then refused.

MUSICALE

West Newton Music Club Renders Enjoyable Program

The social event of the week in West Newton was a musicale which was given Tuesday afternoon by the members of the West Newton Music Club, at the residence of Mrs. Louis J. Balliett on Bigelow road.

The rooms were very attractively decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and potted plants, and there were about 75 guests present.

A very select program of six numbers comprising works by the celebrated composers, Mozart, MacDowell, Strauss, Lehmann, Manney, Brahms and Mendelssohn, was presented which was very pleasing to the audience and liberal applause was frequently accorded.

The program opened with piano solos "Scotch Poem," Op. 31, No. 2, "Romance" and "Gavotte," which were rendered with fine execution by Miss Elizabeth B. Alley.

A group of songs, "Cry of Rachel," "Sheena Van," and "The Star," by Miss Margaret Baker who has a soprano voice of rare quality and sweetness, were received with great enthusiasm. Miss Baker was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Baker.

Miss Rosalind Kempton was heard in pleasing illustrations of the violin pieces, "Fourth Sonata," "Allegro" and "Tempo De Minuetto" by Mozart, with accompaniments by Miss Allen.

Miss Lucy Clarke Allen played with pleasing effect a group of piano solos, "Träumerei," "Mazurka De Salon" and "Spinning Song."

Mrs. Norman Marshall contributed a group of songs, "Mirage," "O Swallow," and "I Love and the World is Mine," with violin obligato for the latter played most delightfully by Miss Hildegard Nash. Mrs. Harry L. Burrage was accompanist for the other numbers.

The closing number was a Trio adagio, movement from Opus 6, "Allegro Energico" and "Andante Sostenuto," for piano, violin and cello, which was played beautifully by Mrs. Hermann C. Lythgoe, pianist, Mrs. Allen Hubbard, violinist and Miss Alma La Palme, cellist.

The excellent program was arranged under the direction of Mrs. Ferrin and Miss Keach.

During the intermissions punch was served by Mrs. Balliett and Miss Blodgett.

DIES SUDDENLY

Mr. Charles W. Emerson Passes Away On Easter Sunday

On Easter morning, after having received the Holy Sacrament in Grace Church, Newton, Mass., Charles Walter Emerson entered into the life eternal. He had attended the first service of the day, and then left the church in his automobile to go for his friend of years, Rev. Robert LeBlanc Lynch, who was to take the second service, and assist the rector during the day. On the way he was stricken with a heart-attack, but revived sufficiently to get Mr. Lynch and deliver him at the church. Arriving at his home, his sister, who was with him in the car, saw that he was becoming rapidly worse, and he soon passed away. His last conscious moments were occupied in prayer.

It was a beautiful and fitting death—"Let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like his." Mr. Emerson was a loyal and enthusiastic member of Grace Church. For twenty-five years he served on the Vestry, resigning a few years ago because he was not able to attend the meetings regularly, but not in the least abating his interest in the parish or his generous giving to its work. He was of the deepest religious convictions.

Church attendance was to him a pleasure and a joy. If on a journey, he did not fail to stop over for Sunday service. He always planned for that. He had been up to his farm on Lake Champlain and had stopped at Vergennes, Vt., for Good Friday services; then had hurried on to spend Easter in his own beloved parish church.

Quiet and without ostentation in his life and in his giving, Mr. Emerson did much that even his intimate acquaintances did not dream of. He was a very kind, gentle, and unassuming man, and in the most beautiful and thoughtful way did he take measures to render assistance—an assistance always unobtrusive and sometimes undiscovered as to the source.

For years Mr. Emerson was the head, and in later years the sole owner, of the business of D. R. Emerson & Co., on Temple place, in Boston. This business was founded by his father, Darius R. Emerson, and has been successfully and honorably carried on by father and son in the same place for about sixty years.

Mr. Emerson was a life long resident of Newton, having been born in a house on the same grounds, at the corner of Waban park and Jewett street, where he died. He was 55 years of age and leaves one sister, Mrs. Mary Emerson Mead, the widow of Dr. Julian A. Mead, who was one of the most prominent and useful citizens of Watertown. Since her husband's death, she has lived in Newton.

FOR NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Prominent Speaker at Meeting Sunday in Elliot Church

A new national prohibition campaign, the second to be launched in Massachusetts this year and second also in a series which will be waged statewide all during the coming year, will be started in Newton, April 11.

At the Elliot Church on Sunday evening, former Governor Malcolm R. Patterson of Tennessee, one of the most foremost figures in the country-wide battle for a saloonless nation, will tell the reason why he deserted the ranks of the license forces. The Detroit Tribune says of him:—

Ex-Governor Patterson is one of the best known and most eloquent speakers for the cause of Prohibition in this country. He was twice elected governor of Tennessee and during those terms was one of Prohibition's bitterest foes. In his speeches at that time he characterized Prohibition as the prolific cause of almost every ill which had befallen his state and party, and as an infringement on personal liberty and property rights.

He became converted to the new viewpoint that the general welfare of society was of more importance than individual liberty, whose strong advocate he had always been. From this new attitude he studied the liquor problem and came to the conclusion that Prohibition was the only remedy for its evils.

He gave up his law practice to devote his whole time to the cause of Prohibition and his eloquence and evident sincerity have brought him enthusiastic listeners. He made a declaration of his change of conviction at the national convention of the Anti-Saloon League in Columbus, O., last November, where he was invited to speak. He said, "I acknowledge the wrong I did when I once advocated policies which would have made legal a trade which I have come to look upon as having no rightful place in the scheme and economy of Christian civilization. I favor Prohibition in any form that will either reduce or destroy the liquor traffic. I favor it personally, town-wide, state-wide, nation-wide and world-wide."—Detroit Tribune.

Japanese women appeared for the first time in history in a political campaign last week. The wives of several of the candidates for the new House of Representatives made a house-to-house canvass in behalf of their husbands. According to press dispatches their participation caused wonder and led the Japanese newspapers to comment on the development of the new women in Tokio. Women cannot vote in Japan, but only about 2,000,000 men out of a total population of 54,000,000 have the right. Tokio, with a population of a little over 2,000,000, has only 40,000 voters.

WHERE THE CITY'S MONEY GOES

Interesting Details of the Largest Budget Ever Authorized

The annual budget as adopted Monday night by the aldermen authorizes an expenditure of $1,606,700.86 by the various city departments during 1915, or about $50,000 less than recommended by Mayor Childs.

The various departments fare as follows:

Executive, $16,826.83. Practically the only increase in this department is an item of $2000 to pay claims under the Workmen's Compensation act. Accounting, $12,822.47. Comptroller John Daboll and the bookkeeper Thomas L. Eddy are given small increases in salary, and there are substantial increases in the amounts for laborers' pensions, Veterans' pensions and State Aid.

Treasury Dept., $365,302.84. There are satisfactory decreases in the interest charges from $239,567 to $216,058. Sinking Funds drop from $75,400 to $69,400 while Serial bonds decrease from $70,500 to $69,059.30. Two clerks are given a small increase in salary. Assessing Department, $14,904, practically the same as last year.

Law Dept., $4,000, including salary of the new city solicitor, $3,000. City Clerk Dept., $16,353.50. The City Clerk and Assistant City Clerk are given small increases in salary. City Messenger Dept., $1,950.

Engineering Dept., $13,118, and includes $488 for a new automobile. Public Buildings Dept., $29,689, with $20,000 for Maintenance and $518 for a new automobile.

Police Dept., $103,609.24, including money for two new patrolmen. Fire and Wire Dept., $97,705.82, including salary for three new men, one of whom is a mechanic, a reduction in the call force of 5 men, and $9000 for purchase of new motor apparatus.

Scaler of Weights and Measures Dept., $1,555.

Forestry Dept., $62,768.33, of which $33,000 is for Moth work, $9,000 for Shade trees, $2000 for Mosquitoes, and $488 for a new automobile.

Health Dept., $38,115.50, of which $12,677 is for removal of garbage, $11,300 for care of disease and $526 for new automobile.

Street Dept., $293,522.50. The Street Commissioner is given a small increase in salary to $3,250, $40,000 for Street Maintenance, $23,235 for resurfacing Adams street, Auburn street, Beacon street, Lower Falls, Boylston street to Chestnut hill, Lagrange street, Waltham street, and Watertown street, $26,000 for Street Sprinkling, two new automobiles, $1004, $61,585 for street lights, $26,000 for collection of ashes, and $10,754 for purchase of new equipment, including a new steam roller at $4500.

Charity Dept., $38,029, of which $14,000 is for Poor Relief and $8,000 for assistance of mothers with dependent children.

School Dept., $390,887.04. This amount is substantially in accordance with the agreement of last year that the school appropriation should grow with the school population. In this case, however, the amount of the appropriations made this year to pay for excess bills incurred last year (about $4,000) have been deducted.

Library Dept., $31,750. Playground Dept., $17,817.79. Planning Board, $100.

Water Dept., $54,144. The most interesting item in this department was that of Conduits and Lands, on which three members of the Finance Committee dissented from the amount of $1450. This was the item which the Newton Forestry Association wanted fixed at $2850 in order to plant 50 acres of land in Needham to white pine.

While the new budget does not state in definite terms, the intention of the aldermen, the amounts for new automobiles are for new Ford machines, and it is the intention of the mayor to replace most of the present department machines with Ford cars at as early a date as possible. It is expected that these cars will be operated much more economically than the machines which have heretofore been used.

The passage of the annual budget with a considerable reduction in the appropriations for street work is a matter of regret to many persons who have watched with interest the recent attempts to have this work done in a far sighted and thoro manner. For many years, the favorite way to keep down the tax rate was to cut the street appropriations, but during the past two years, thanks to the efforts of ex-alderman Frank L. Richardson, some progress had been made in handling this important phase of municipal work in a systematic manner. Mr. Richardson's plan contemplated a careful separation of reconstruction work from that of repairs, the appropriations for the former to be used at first on the more important thoroughfares, and when these had been fixed, on such streets as required work the most. The maintenance appropriation was to be used for street cleaning and for systematic work of patching holes in order to save resurfacing later on. The appropriations for these purposes during the past two years have averaged about $45,000 for each class of work. The new budget, however, cuts down the maintenance account to $40,000 and the resurfacing to about $32,000. While it is true that the new system of accounting has created some new accounts, which were formerly charged to the Maintenance item, the fact remains that the figures this year are some $12,000 less than in 1914 for street work. While there is some force to the argument that by appropriating over $10,000 for the purchase of new equipment for the Street Dept. the net result is not far from that of last year, it should be remembered that money spent for steam rollers and carts cannot be used for resurfacing work.

With the constant wear on our streets by the heavy automobile traffic in this city, our street appropriations ought not to be used as a buffer for the tax rate, but should be regularly and systematically increased each year.

The situation outlined Monday night by Alderman Calkins in regard to improvements contemplated by the Boston Elevated Company at the Lake street end of their car lines, deserves careful consideration. Mr. Calkins believes quite strongly that, unless one of the conditions of the order of location is modified there is a great danger of the entire abandonment of the project, which means so much to the thousands of persons using that route to reach the city. It is hard to understand the reasons of the majority of the committee in insisting that the order of location, itself, shall prohibit the use of the land of the Company for car barns and repair shops, when the Company is willing to enter into any agreement, other than the order of location itself, to reach the same result. What would happen, for instance, if, by any chance, the order was accepted with this restriction, and the improvement made, in case the Company, some time in the future, wished to erect car barns on this property. They would petition the then city government for a modification of this restriction, and the whole matter could and would be settled by that city government. If the order is passed now, without such restriction, but with some sort of an agreement with the Company, as suggested by Mr. Calkins, similar action would also be taken in the future in case the Company wished to change its policy. The net result is, therefore, that the possible use of this land for car barns is wholly in the hands of some future city government, with possibly, the chance of an adverse action of its part being overruled by the Public Service Commission. Under these circumstances, therefore, it seems purile to endanger the prospects, or to even postpone an improvement which means so much to the convenience and safety of the travelling public.

The attempt to systematize the automobile service given the city departments by placing it on a Ford basis, is the result of several years consideration by members of the city government who have been greatly exercised over the enormous cost of automobile maintenance in this city. The automobile service for City Hall has "grown" like Topsy, with hardly any attempt to place it on a business basis. Every department head got as large an appropriation as he could and bought the most expensive car he could induce the city government to authorize, with the result that repairs and parts had to be made or purchased on an individual basis. The fact that the cars are kept a half mile away from City Hall is also a serious factor in the cost of maintenance and the matter of a city garage nearer the City Hall is worth consideration.

The meeting Sunday evening at Eliot Church in the matter of National Prohibition is of considerable interest in this city where many thoughtful citizens are rapidly becoming convinced that only by this method can practical results be reached in conquering the evils caused by liquor. It is of little benefit to this city, in one sense, to have all the liquor desired brought into its territory from Boston, and it would be of but little use to have state wide prohibition with Providence but one hour and New York but six hours away.

Until national prohibition can be obtained, however, the present Massachusetts plan of local option is by far the best, and it should be strengthened and not abandoned for the shadow of state prohibition.

In addition to the $100 just voted to Mrs. D. C. Heath to reimburse her for a portion of the actual expenses incurred in the work of laying out Lowell avenue some twenty years ago, she should be given the thanks of the entire city for her labors in bringing about this valuable public improvement.

Census enumerators are now engaged in this city in gathering the facts required every ten years by the state. It is the duty of every good citizen to make prompt and full replies to all the questions asked by these representatives of the state, and thereby assist in this important work.

The person who threw a large stone thru one of the plate glass windows of the Graphic office last Sunday evening, had a most peculiar sense of humor. The inconvenience caused by this malicious mischief, to say nothing of the expense involved, made it far from funny.

The failure of the city government to authorize the planting of trees on the land owned by the Water department in Needham is a disappointment to numerous citizens, who believe that this is a desirable piece of work, and which should have been started years ago.

The name of Peabody road given to the street near Tremont street, in property now being developed, sounds rather ironical to those who are aware of the efforts to establish a playground in that vicinity.

SUCCESSFUL COMEDIES

The members of the Junior Auxiliary of St. Paul's Parish, Newton Highlands, gave two very successful entertainments this week on Monday and Tuesday evenings in the parish house, under the direction of Mrs. J. T. Waterhouse.

The program included three one-act plays, "Kleptomaniac," "The Workhouse Ward," and "The Circus Rider." A most excellent musical program was given on both evenings, the opening number on Monday being a trio selection "Hungarian Dance," which was beautifully rendered by Mr. Emery Leonard, violinist, Miss Martha Whittemore, cellist, and Mrs. W. M. Leonard, pianist. Miss Whittemore also contributed a cello solo, and the artists received much merited applause.

"The Kleptomaniac," a comedy sketch in one act, written by Margaret Cameron, was ably presented by a competent cast. Miss Vera Waterhouse, president of the Junior Auxiliary, scored a great success in the leading role of "a young widow the Kleptomaniac," and Miss Laura Williams was excellent in the role of "Peggy." Miss Mildred Hiltz was charming in the role of "Mabel a bride" and Miss Violet Child as "Bertha," and Miss Jeanette Lawson as "Miss Freda Dixon," played the parts assigned them in an exceedingly pleasant manner. Miss Nora Good was a great success as "a reporter," and Miss Marjorie Keith, as "Katie, the maid," played the part with perfect ease, and her lines were splendidly spoken.

"The Workhouse Ward," an excruciatingly funny farce written by Lady Gregory, was admirably presented by Mr. W. F. Coan, who took the part of "Mike McInerney," Mr. J. B. Melcher, in the role of "Michael Miskell," and Emery Leonard as "Mrs. Donahoe."

By courtesy of Mr. Walter Dugan, The Criterion Club of Boston presented "The Circus Rider," a comedy in one act. The cast included Mr. Walter H. Dugan as "Lord Martin," Mr. Theodore Tewksbury as "Lord Weldon," Mr. Arthur Logan as "Lord Weldon's butler" and Mrs. Jessie Palmer Graham as "Lady Grafton," and their interpretation of the different characters brought out their dramatic ability to good advantage. Violin selections were admirably rendered during the intermissions by Mr. Theodore Tewksbury and Mr. Emery.

The audiences were large on both evenings and most enthusiastic in showing their approval of the performances.

THE JOURNEY CLUB

The members of the Journey Club were entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. James Richard Carter and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer at Mrs. Carter's residence on Mt. Vernon street, West Newton.

There was a large attendance, and the papers were very interesting. Mrs. James P. Tolman presented a paper on "Charlotte Bronte" and Mrs. Henry B. Day, on "American Shrimps in England." At the close of the meeting tea was served.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Many Newton people were deeply interested in matters coming before the Legislature this week, the so called sectarian amendment to the constitution being defeated in the House, Wednesday by a vote of 107 to 115, a two thirds favorable vote being required, and the license measures being either defeated or amended in the Senate the same day. The bill to make the granting of pony express licenses permissive instead of mandatory, as at present, being lost, while the bill to prohibit liquor dealers from delivering their wares in no license communities being amended so that such deliveries could be made by permission of the local authorities. The amendment is strictly in line with the vote taken last fall by the Newton aldermen in favoring legislation requiring liquor dealers to be licensed to make deliveries by the local authorities. The temperance people, who have been advocating this bill, however are up in arms against this amendment and say they will defeat the bill, as it now stands. Further action on this amended bill will be watched with great interest.

Senator Ellis made a vigorous protest this week in the Senate over the manner in which bills were voted down without discussion or apparent objection from anyone. Mr. Ellis made this protest in asking for reconsideration of a bill defeated last Friday relative to emergency rooms in certain manufacturing establishments. Reconsideration prevailed by a vote of 16 to 14.

Speaking of Senator Ellis the following clipping from a recent copy of Practical Politics may be of interest in this city.

"Another of the solid men who add lustre to the east side of the capitol is the gentleman from Newton, George H. Ellis, a newcomer to the upper house, but seasoned to the work by numerous terms in the other chamber.

Sen. Ellis used once to be chairman of the committee on railroads. He isn't this year, chiefly because he didn't want to be. He is of philanthropic turn naturally and he felt that his talents might be employed to better advantage helping ameliorate the troubles of the downtrodden—consequently he is chairman of the committee on social relations.

He served on it when he was in the house, but it was not until this year he presided over it, and the manner in which he has handled the so-called humanitarian legislation—as the bull moose term it—has been one of the revelations of the present session. The senator from Newton is a hard worker, a pleasant personage and a stickler for adherence to duty. The hearings before his committee are always entertaining, when they are not too technical, and he himself brings to the task of solving such problems as widows' pensions and like matters a wide experience founded on many years as one of the foremost master printers in the United States."

In the House the past week, our three representatives voted against the constitutional amendment relative to taking of land by eminent domain and in favor of the Hampden Railroad bill. Messrs. Allen and Weston voted to refer the building of the west wing of the state house to the next general court and Mr. Bothfeld, with the majority in favor of doing the work at once.

In the Senate, Mr. Ellis voted against the constitutional amendment to authorize the taking of land for purposes of relieving congestion caused by population. The Senate also killed the biennial amendment to the constitution.

Our representatives are to be saved the bothersome question as to the proper course to pursue on the matter of the initiative and referendum, which they were instructed to favor by vote of the people of this city last fall. The action of the Senate, recently noted in this column, in first substituting a bill for the adverse report of the committee on this question and then defeating the bill at a subsequent stage, prevents this measure from coming before the House for action. It is a clever parliamentary device, and in this instance, is well taken.

The committee on Cities has favorably reported the four forms for a city charter as recommended by the recess committee on city charters and which has been mentioned several times in this correspondence. These forms will allow any city to change its form of government to one of the following plans, without action by the Legislature and on a vote of the people:

Plan A—For a city government with a mayor and a city council of nine members elected at large.

Plan B—For a city government with a mayor and a city council elected by districts or wards.

Plan C—For a city government with a mayor and four commissioners (the so-called commission form).

Plan D—For a city government with a mayor and four councillors and an administrative officer called the city manager.

Ways and Means has favorably reported the bill to construct a levee on the south bank of the Charles River between Brooks street, Brighton, and Charlesbank road, Newton, at a cost of $35,000. Unless there is some reason in the way of employing labor for this work, it is a needless piece of legislation. Mr. Bothfeld dissented from the committee on Metropolitan Affairs which originally favored this bill.

Y. M. C. A. MINSTREL SHOW

Although the busy times of "vacation week" are at the Y. M. C. A. the officers and boys are all working steadily getting ready for the minstrel show. Fifty boys are out selling tickets, one of them having sold forty-one already. Twenty-five more are practicing continually for the chorus. Mr. Carlton L. Ellison and Mr. Louis Tabaldi are working day and night to make the affair successful and the six end men are not far behind them. So if success is spelled w-o-r-k all records will be broken.

All the latest songs are included in the program beside several hundred brand new jokes. A large attendance is expected at the two performances, April 15 and 17, and the show fully promises to be "the best yet."

DIED

SAWYER—At Newton, April 8, Mrs.
Ellen M. Sawyer. Funeral services

Hickmott, 145 Jewett street, Saturday 10.30 A. M.

Skunk's Enemies of Caterpillars.
A field of usefulness has been found for the much-ridiculed skunk in the fact that it is a vigorous enemy of the full-grown range caterpillars. Birds are of no service whatever in destroying these large caterpillars, but skunks devour quantities of them, and this is another reason why these little creatures should receive more consideration than they now do.

Buy It Now

It's a pretty poor dollar
that can't "come back."
Your dollar spent now will go through the pockets of hundreds and finally come back.

NEWTON CLUB

One of the largest crowds of the season filled the club house on Thursday, April 1. Neighborhood night brought out about 50 couples for the dancing and the bowling alleys were also crowded until a late hour. The collation was full of sport, as a great many fool candies and fancy pastry were served to the members and their guests.

Club night on Saturday, April 3, was practically abandoned on account of the terrific snow storm.

On Wednesday the 7th, evening bridge brought out a goodly number, and on Thursday, neighborhood night, the attendance was as large as is usual when there is no orchestra in the ball room.

Last week the league bowling team won from the Arlington Boat Club one of the most remarkable events ever pulled off, calling out a very large gallery and creating an immense amount of interest and enthusiasm. The following were the scores:

Newton—587, 530, 487—Total 1604.
Arlington C. C.—528, 557, 474—Total 1559.

The ladies' tournament also ended last week. There were three contestants for the first place, teams No. 6, 7 and 9, the final roll-off being won by Mrs. Toole's team with a score of 399, 424, 399—Total 1222. Against this Mrs. W. L. Allen's team rolled 1131 and Mrs. Duff's team 1151.

Next week on Tuesday the 13th, there will be afternoon bridge, this being the last of the season.

On Thursday the 15th, neighborhood night, with ladies' bowling, cards, billiards, pool and informal dancing with orchestra, will no doubt bring out the usual large crowd. Miss Collins will be in attendance to give individual and class instruction from 8 to 9 o'clock, and there will be a collation.

Mr. Bambrugh's lecture on Wednesday the 21st is noticed elsewhere.

The subscription list for the squash court is growing rapidly, and the committee in charge are enthusiastic over the prospective success of it. When the plans are finally completed, this paper will give the full description of the alterations to the club premises.

The entertainment committee announces that it is making arrangements for a vaudeville entertainment, to be given Wednesday and Thursday, May 5 and 6. A very classy program is being arranged for, and announcement of the details will be made later.

Books for ladies in mediaeval ages

There were no novels in the middle ages for ladies to read. There were no short stories, no magazines, no ladies' fashion papers. Yet the queens and princesses, ladies of noble blood and wives of wealthy provincials owned and read from books of very great beauty made for them at great expense. It was not unusual for a wealthy woman to pay for a single book as much as 300 sheep. It was customary for a book in the possession of a noble dame to be passed on to others of equally noble blood. Some of the libraries of noble women numbered as many as 1100 volumes all written by hand. Of such a number was the library of Anne of Brittany.

It is of many such fine books which Mr. Bambrugh will tell in his lecture on "Illuminated Manuscripts" at the Newton Club on Wednesday, April 21.

Not only will Mr. Bambrugh describe the superb volumes used by the ladies of the middle ages, but he will tell the stories of the romantic careers of some of them which have been owned by notable persons throughout the past five centuries. His collection of stereopticon slides for this event is fast nearing completion, and will present to the audience many pages of books rarely ever seen by the public.

This country possesses all told fewer examples of illuminated manuscripts than the number which have been destroyed in Europe by war's sacking and confiscations. The destruction of many more seems imminent. Some of those now in foreign libraries will be among the volumes described by Mr. Bambrugh.

MUST RETURN PORTRAITS

J. Warren Bailey, aged 70, of 120
Jewett street, Newton, was given until May 3 by Judge Jenney in the equity session of the Superior Court,
this week, to return certain family portraits and other heirlooms to Col.
Henry Hastings.

Col. Hastings asked to have Bailey and his wife, Fannie B. Bailey, adjudged in contempt for failure to obey
a decree directing them to return the portraits to him. The decree was made Feb. 9.

Col. Hastings and his sister resided at Boston until 1905, when he left the house, owing to differences with her,
taking away clothing and necessities.
In that year he sued her, seeking to restrain her from proceeding against him on a note for $11,000 and one for $325, and to have her ordered to return to him certain personal property of historic and sentimental value. She died Feb. 2, 1907, without having returned the articles. Meantime she gave a bill of sale of them to Fannie B. Steeves, who lived with her and later married J. Warren Bailey, executor of the will of the sister of Col.
Hastings.

Col. Hastings then sued Mr. and Mrs. Bailey for a return of the articles and they were ordered to do so.
Bailey was called to the bench by Judge Jenney and he told the latter his wife had sold the pictures to one, that she was ill and they had been innorant of the decree of the court until within a few days.

Counsel said they would waive costs
if the family portraits were returned.
Judge Jenney said he would send a sheriff to see if Mrs. Bailey were ill, if the portraits were not returned on or before May 3, to which time the case was continued and if she were not she would be taken to court.

FOR ONE NIGHT ONLY

Judging from the demand for tickets for the play, "For One Night Only,"
which will be presented next week on Monday and Tuesday evenings at the Hunnewell Club, Newton, crowded houses will greet the performers when the curtain rises for the first act of this very amusing comedy.

Frequent rehearsals are being held under the direction of Mr. Ernest W.
Wright, who also takes a prominent part, and the play is proving to be one of intense interest and more elaborate proportion than was at first dreamed of by those who have undertaken its presentation.

The play is one of great dramatic force and abounds in ludicrous situations, and will be more professional than amateur, members of the original cast having been prominently identified with theatrical entertainments
in the past.

Members of society from all of the Newtons will be present in large numbers at both performances, and those in charge, who have worked so hard to make it a success, guarantee an entertainment that will be sure to please.

"THE JAPANESE GIRL"

The aid of such a powerful ally as
"The Federation of Women's Clubs of Newton" gives the West Newton Music School cheer and heartening.

Both organizations are working for the production of the operetta, "The Japanese Girl" by Charles Vincent, as a joint benefit, for both have at heart the object of social service as well as service by the power and influence of music.

Miss Ethel Howland has the stage management for "The Japanese Girl," and Miss Mary Sprague the training of the dances. For the orchestral music, which is charming, the orchestra will include several members of the faculty of the Music School.

Two performances of the operetta will be given in Auburndale, on the afternoon of Saturday, April 24th, and the evening of Wednesday, April 28th.
On the evening of Monday, April 26th, the operetta will be given at the Newton Technical High School, Newton-ville.

DEATH OF STANLEY HOUGHTON

Stanley William Houghton passed away Tuesday, April 6th, at Newton-ville, following a short illness.

He was born in Tarrytown, N. Y., April 18th, 1898, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William S.
Houghton. He was a member of the freshman class at the Newton High School.

The funeral took place Thursday morning at St. John's Church, of which he was also a member. Rev.
Richard T. Loring, the rector, conducted an impressive service at 10.30, and sacred selections were rendered by choir. Prior to the church service, a service of prayer was held at his home, 931 Washington street.

The St. John's Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, of which the young man was a member, acted as bearers.

The remains were taken to White Plains, New York, for burial.

TRAIN DERAILLED

Approximately 1200 commuters were stalled Wednesday evening when the locomotive of the 5.35 outward-bound Boston & Albany train, for the Newtons and vicinity, was derailed about 100 feet beyond the outer end of the South Terminal.

The derailment was at the "neck"
formed by the intersection of seven
B. & A. tracks, which were "dead" until a wrecking crew made it possible to run a train out at 6.20 P. M. Normal service was restored shortly after 7
P. M.

FIRE NEAR WATERTOWN LINE

The house 153 Galen street, Watertown, close to the Newton line was badly burned Sunday morning the fire evidently starting from a defective chimney. The Newton department was called upon and rendered valuable assistance. The house is owned by Mr. John T. Burns of this city and was burned from the same cause about two years ago. The damage is estimated at $2000.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

If there is anything which Newton needs above all others after the windy days of March is a clean-up campaign.
This is something which clubs in other places are doing with marked success. Why not in Newton? Our neighbor Watertown under the impetus of the Planning Board is organizing one and all activities of the town are being enlisted for the fray. Our method of collecting rubbish, particularly papers, is distinctly bad. Barrels placed upon the sidewalk, the night before give the best possible opportunity for the wind to play havoc with the contents before the arrival of the collecting teams the following day. If all the organizations of Newton should put their heads together, it seems as if some of this unnecessary rubbish blowing about the streets might be obviated.

We pride ourselves on being the Garden City. Let us look to our laurels or we are in danger of losing our reputation.

State Federation

The Civics department of the Federation will hold an all-day conference in the Unitarian Church at Wollaston on Thursday, April 15, beginning at 10.15 A. M. The subject for discussion for the morning session will be, "The Need of Women Police Officers," and the speakers, Mr. Edwin Mulready, Commissioner of Labor;
Miss Lucy Hutchins, and Mrs. Caroline Engler. In the afternoon Mr.
George F. Willett of Norwood will speak on "Community Welfare and Town Management." Reports of Clean-up Campaigns will be given.
There will be a box luncheon and coffee served at a nominal fee. Train leaves South Station at 9.34 A. M. Admission by personal card with name of club.

Local Happenings

Mrs. W. B. Godsoe was hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club this week. The subject considered was "Modern Illustrators," and it was treated by Mrs. C. S. Luit-wieler, Mrs. C. T. Bartlett and Mrs.
H. M. Chase. Among the names mentioned were: Howard Pyle, Christie, Gibson, Fisher, Maxwell Parrish. Exfreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Miss Cora Cobb was in charge of the work at the meeting of the C. L. S.
C. of Newton Highlands on Monday afternoon, the subject being, "Classical Women." Miss Cobb pointed out the seclusion of the matriarchal women of Hebrew times, the comparative freedom of the Egyptian women, and the fact that those of Athens had much less freedom than those of other parts of Greece, while of Rome had great freedom and had equal rights with the men. The subject will be

One of the most enjoyable afternoons experienced by the Waban Woman's Club this year was the musicale
arranged by Mrs. Archie C. Burnette and given at her home on Monday, April 5th. The artists were, Mme.
Wilhelmina Wright Calvert, soprano; Mary Humphrey-Tower, pianist and Frank Stanley Tower, cellist. The program was one of unvaried excellence and met the approval of club members and visiting officers of the Newton clubs. During the social hour
the following ladies poured, Mrs.
George H. Moore, Mrs. Louis W. Arnold and Mrs. C. A. Sawyer, Jr.

The Auburndale Review Club met on Tuesday, April 6th, at the home of Mrs. Guy N. Winslow of Woodland road. The first number on the program was a paper on Current Events prepared by Mrs. Knowlton and read by Mrs. J. N. Draper. Mrs. Winslow was in charge of the music which, as it was "College Day," consisted of the singing of College songs by seven young ladies accompanied by Mrs.
Freeman. "Fair Harvard" was followed by a most interesting paper on Harvard and Radcliffe by Miss Smith.
Miss Peloubet told of being at Williams

Miss Snyder, Mrs. Norton and Mrs.
Sprague, while Newton was repre-

Young. At bridge, the ladies souvenirs were won by Mrs. F. H. Curtis and Mrs. Harding and the gentlemen's by Mrs. W. B. Arnold and Mr. John H.
Eddy.

The Tuesday night dances which have been such an enjoyable feature of the social season this winter will be continued this month, with the exception of Tuesday, April 13. That on last Tuesday was largely attended.
The other dates are April 20th and

den City Mutual Aid Association, composed of employees of the Middle-

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Pasquale Koloropio, 22, boarding at 1209 Washington street, West Newton, died in Newton Hospital at 10 P. M. on Wednesday from injuries received at 6 P. M. when his motorcycle ran into a lamp post on Washington street near Concord street, Newton Lower Falls.

He had lived here only a short time,
and nothing is known of his antecedents.

James A. Early, postmaster at Newton Lower Falls, who picked up the injured man, said he was not running fast, but appeared to have lost control of his machine.

The occupant of a passing auto took
the unconscious victim to the hospital, where he was found to have received a fracture of the skull and other injuries.

MYSTERIOUS BURGLAR

Newton Police were notified early Sunday morning by Mr. George Cron-ey, a chauffeur for Mr. J. W. Weinberg of Hancock street, that while taking care of his employers house Saturday night while the family were away, he was awakened by peculiar noises at the rear door. He got his revolver and crept to the door, which he suddenly opened, and came face to face with a man who was evidently trying to get into the house. Cron-ey fired his revolver twice while the man was running away. Careful investigations were made by the police department but nothing was found and they are now inclined to think that the affair was an hallucination.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Miss Lydia A. Webster, a resident of Chester street, Newton Highlands for many years, was struck and killed yesterday morning about eleven o'clock, near Eliot station. While the story has been rumored that it was a case of suicide, friends of the family believe that as Miss Webster is quite deaf, she probably became confused
while taking a walk on the Sudbury aqueduct, and stepped in front of the one Commencement and noticing that the students removed their hats while singing their college song, "The Mountains," which was not done when hymns were sung. The chorus then sang this song and the Amherst song "Lord Geoffrey Amherst."

Mrs. Van Wagenen read a paper on Williams, Amherst and Tufts, which was followed by the singing of the Tufts and Mount Holyoke songs. Miss Elizabeth Dike read Mrs. Dike's paper on Mount Holyoke, Smith and Wellesley, and also a letter written by Mrs. Eliza Day Hildreth, a resident of Auburndale at the time of her death last year at the age of ninety-four, describing the opening of Mount Holyoke Seminary, in which as one of the first pupils she was a participant.
As a closing number the chorus gave the Wellesley College Song.
Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, president of the Newton Federation, was present and called the attention of the members to the annual meeting of the Federation and to the opera to be given by the scholars of the West Newton Music School. She also brought news from the Dental Clinic.

On Tuesday evening the Newton Parliamentary Law Club held its annual meeting at the Newton Library. After a practice session in charge of Mrs. Electa M. Sherman, the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Robert Gorton; vice-presidents, Mrs. George K. Clark, Mrs. Harry Lutz, Miss Myra G. Hall; secretary, Mrs. Florence Phelps; treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Tripp, auditor, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle. Mrs. J. W. McIntyre was present and brought news from the Federation.

The members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild had an unusual treat in the dramatic reading by Mr. Otto C. Selzer of the Leland Powers School of Expression at the meeting on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Selzer is a delightfully artistic reader and his portrayal of Disraeli, the great prime minister, suffered not at all in comparison with George Arliss's production of the play. The club was also fortunate in its music that afternoon, the artist being Mrs. Romeo Frick of Boston, who has recently been heard in a recital of Mrs. H. H. A. Beach's songs. She has a highly cultivated and brilliant soprano voice and it was heard to particularly good advantage when accompanied by the flute, this being done by Mr. Frick. Mrs. D. E. Baker was at the piano.

The executive board of the Guild had an enjoyable social meeting at the home of Mrs. J. F. Brant on Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being complimentary to Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, the president, who retires from office at the close of the year. Mrs. Palmer was presented with a pearl and diamond brooch as a token of their affection.
On April 20 the club holds its annual luncheon and business meeting.

At the monthly business meeting of the Social Science Club reports of work were given by the various committees. The course of study for the coming year was discussed at length and it was voted to devote eight mornings to the consideration of the great Peace Treaties of the world.

Mr. Horace Hall of Newton Centre under the auspices of the Home Economics committee spoke briefly of the plans for an Agricultural and Market Bureau for Newton. The purposes of the Bureau are as follows:

1. Dissemination of information on the handling of food products. Weekly reports and telephone communication.
  2. Information to the producers as to the needs of the consumers in Newton so as to stimulate proper sorting, grading and packing as well as quick delivery to insure freshness and the handling of all food products in a sanitary way.
  3. To stimulate cooperation among our own market men so as to make it possible for them to compete with the Boston market men in the buying of market men here to buy and sell produce at a great percentage of Newton trade is going to Boston. Why not help the market men here to buy and sell produce as cheaply as the Boston market men.
  4. To promote a wide-spread enthusiasm among the children in establishing home gardens, thus opening up a new and practical field for healthy outdoor life.
  5. To inaugurate a systematic study of home economics in our schools and in our homes.
  6. To arrange from time to time meetings at different centres in Newton where experts on agriculture, home economics and marketing can impart information to the people.
- Mr. Hall explained why prices for food stuffs are necessarily higher for Newton than for many other places under present arrangements and considers that this fact may be obviated by the formation of this bureau. He was listened to with great interest and much regret was expressed that so important a subject could not have had a longer time for discussion.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club held its annual meeting at the Brae Burn Club on Thursday. A delicious luncheon was served at one o'clock, after which followed the reports of officers and committees and the election. Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, president of the Newton Federation, brought greetings from that organization and the greeting from the State Federation President, Mrs. George W. Perkins, was presented by Mrs. B. E. Taylor. One item of general interest from Mrs. Perkins is the fact that there have been sent 322,795 articles to the hospitals of Northern France, 13,000 more than were contributed by the State of New York.

There was an open discussion of the question of having a club house and of enlarging the club to 500. Adjournment was taken for two weeks in which to consider these matters.
These officers were elected: President, Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell; vice-presidents, Mrs. Robert F. Hayden, Mrs. P. N. Nathan; recording secretary, Mrs. Sumner Clement; corresponding secretary, Miss Priscilla Ordway; treasurer, Mrs. C. L. Smith; auditor, Mrs. F. E. Banfield.

adoption by a voice vote and the report "no action necessary" adopted. At a hearing held on the petition of the Edison Co. for poles on Washington park, Mr. Gould appeared for the Company and the locations were opposed by Mr. E. T. Trofetter and by Forest Commissioner Colton. No one appeared at hearings on permits to keep gasoline by David R. Brown, Ward street, G. F. Kennedy, 361 Commonwealth avenue, and F. L. Pierce, Mill street, and they were immediately granted. No one appeared at hearing on petition of the Non-Metallic Oilless Bearings Co. to locate a boiler and gas engine on Crafts street. No one appeared on the taking of land for sewer in Davis avenue. Mr. Michael McCarthy objected to curbing on Beech street, as there was no need for it and because no one could afford to pay for it.

Mayor Childs sent in a long list of recommendations, including 2780 for laying water mains, $100 for sewers in Commonwealth avenue, $280 for office expenses City Treasurer, $500 charge account for Forestry Department, a new automobile for the Forestry Department, $100 for Military Aid, $150 for Laboratory Expenses, Health dept., various additions to the budget, and notice of hearing on widening Wales street bridge at Lower Falls.

The Street Commissioner submitted a list of streets to be sprinkled during 1915, the School Committee sent in notice of injury to Wilfred Hotin and petition for changes in the Oak Hill school house, the Board of Health recommended a sewer in Windsor road, and notice was received of a hearing April 3 on matter of apportionment of assessments for the Metropolitan Park district.

Petitions of Helen K. Sisk for apportionment of betterments on Duffield road, license to run a merry-go-round on Cook street for three weeks in May, and of Phillips Byfield, John T. Burns, Jr., James W. French, and T. W. Travis for auctioneer licenses were granted.

Other petitions were received from J. A. Nevins for an auctioneer license, Geo. W. Knowles, Francis P. Malone, Lawrence Antonellis for minors' licenses, Fannie W. Fogg for abatement of sewer assessment on Oak terrace, N. J. Soderlund for sewer, Playstead road, Wm. Dyson for sewer, Indiana terrace, Altman et al for sewer, Commonwealth avenue, Thompson et al for laying out of Chesley road, Powers et al for laying out of Chesley road, Dora B. Marcy and E. E. Hopkins protesting against non-retarding roof coverings, the Edison Co. for attachments, Charlesbank road, attachments, Walnut and Homer streets, the Telephone Co. for attachments, Gramere street, Highland street, Keefe et al for street sprinkling on Webster street, O'Donnell et al for street sprinkling on Auburndale avenue, Maude Adams for sewer in Waban Hill road, Dunn et al for laying out of Adams street, extension, Maguire et al for laying out of Chandler street, and Monaghan et al for improvements in Cheesecake brook.

A hearing on April 26 was assigned on petition of the M. & B. St. Rwy. Co. for alteration of street in Woodward street and a public hearing was ordered for the same evening on the proposition to establish a Bureau of Markets.

On recommendations of committees, ordinances relative to payments for Workmen's Compensation and requiring removal of snow from concrete sidewalks in Auburndale, were passed, leave to withdraw granted on license petitions of Anthony Morello, pool tables, Frank A. Mason, Pool tables, Joseph DeAngelis, pool tables, H. Statland, common victualer, granting petitions of Edison Co. for poles on Turner street, Park place, Cross street, attachments Commonwealth avenue and relocation on Cabot street, assigning hearing April 26 on concrete sidewalks on Lincoln street, authorizing street sprinkling during 1915, $100 sewer work in Commonwealth avenue, $2780 for water mains in certain streets, authorizing sewer construction in Lexington street, Rockwood terrace and Glen road, $2267 for damage of Washington park and Park place, and referring to Inspector of Wires the matter of removal of poles from Hammond street, to the Street Commissioner of resurfacing of Judkins and Johnson streets, to the school committee of complaint relative to condition of the old Adams school.

Alderman Cox opposed the leave to withdraw recommendation on the claim of former police officer N. F. Boston for back pay of $38 due in 1898, but the report was accepted. Alderman Murphy opposed the leave to withdraw recommendation in the case of claim of John A. Lowell for damages to books injured by surface water entering his cellar. Mr. Murphy said that while there was no legal liability, he felt that the petitioner had a moral claim which the city ought to settle. Alderman Bartlett said the committee had been advised last year by City Solicitor Slocum and again this year by City Solicitor Bishop, that it was clear that the city was not liable for the injury done, and moreover, Mr. Lowell's landlord had repaired part of the damage done by the water. The committee recommendations were then accepted.

$1000 was appropriated for reimbursement of Mrs. D. C. Heath without debate. Alderman Calkins, who opposed the majority report in favor of granting locations for curved tracks across the north roadway of Commonwealth avenue, near Lake street, said he did so because he opposed the sixth restriction favored by the committee whereby it was stipulated that no car barns or repair shops would be erected on the land in question. Mr. Calkins said that the Elevated Railway had purchased land at this point on which it intended to erect a transfer station on one level, the car passing around a loop and taking passengers at another level, thus removing the present dangerous transfer at Commonwealth avenue and Lake street, as the M. & B. Co. would also use this same transfer station. The present condition, Mr. Calkins said, was most dangerous, as Commonwealth avenue was a popular road for automobiles, and should be remedied. The Company proposed to expend some $30,000 to $50,000 in building this transfer station. Objections were made at the committee hearing by Boston parties on the ground that the Company might sometime erect car barns on this property, but later the objectors had been satisfied with a letter from the president of the road stating that they had no such intention. The Committee, however, had insisted in placing this restriction in its order. While the Company was willing to enter into any agreement to carry out this restriction, it objected to having it made a part of the order, as it would create precedents, which might embarrass the Company in its locations in other municipalities. Mr. Calkins feared that if this restriction was insisted upon, the Company would not accept the location, create a deadlock, possibly cause the Company to take its $30,000 to some other part of its system. He also argued that this restriction was possibly illegal. He suggested that the orders granting this location be tabled and that the City Solicitor be requested to confer with the Company and report a form of contract agreement or bond covering the point involved and which would insure that the land would not be used for a car barn or repair shop. This action was then taken.

The only discussion on the budget was the speech of Alderman Winslow objecting to the salary of $3,000 for city solicitor. Mr. Winslow questioned the amount of time given to city business, which at 1-3 or 1-2 made this salary the highest in the city. We have first-class men in other departments giving all their time, he said, for $2500 or $3000. In 33 cities in the state only 5 pay $3000 or more and all of these are twice the size of Newton. He believed there were plenty of high class attorneys in the city who would gladly act as city solicitor for $2500. Alderman Winslow failed to make any motion, however, and no action was taken on his suggestion. An order was also adopted instructing the Mayor and City Solicitor to favor legislation for a wider bridge at Wales street, Lower Falls. Alderman Early saying that this bridge was but 19 1-2 feet wide, and built in 1780. Wales street in Newton is 40 feet and Wellesley proposes to widen on its side to 50 feet. The cost to Newton he said would not exceed $1000. Alderman Pratt favored the matter as providing a new automobile route to Wellesley and relieving the traffic thru the Lower Falls.

The board adjourned at 10.10.

Miss Cora Cooper, 1915, will take Miss Francis Prescott's place as stenographer in the Boston office of A. H. Waitt during her trip to Washington as one of the winners in the Graphic Contest.

A new dictaphone has been purchased, and placed in the model office. This is the latest type of machine and is constructed for teaching the pupils the use of up to date office appliances. David Douglas, 1913, who has been driving a motor ambulance for the American Hospital of Paris, has recently been assigned to Mrs. Harry Whitney's Department of Hospital Service in July.

This Wednesday it was the Sophomore class's turn to go up to the Assembly Hall and vote for its two representatives on the Students' Council. The four candidates for the positions were Herbert Hovenden, Miss Adeline Adams, Wallace Allen and Miss Catherine Goddard. After the election, the class enjoyed solos by two boys of their class who sang in a pleasing manner.

President Stickney of the Senior class chose Miss Edith Johnson, Miss Diamond, and Hammond Perkins to constitute the committee of three to have charge of class photographs. At the first meeting on Monday, Perkins was voted chairman.

Ralph Davis "tickled the ivories" as the Seniors sauntered into the Assembly Hall last Friday. Hon. Henry E. Bothfield, Newton, was on at the first meeting on Monday, Perkins was voted chairman. The speaker's introduction set forth why it was a pleasure for him to be present, because he was one of the men who worked for the establishing of a technical high school in Newton. Mr. Bothfield described fully the institution peculiar to Massachusetts, the co-operative bank. He said a share holder was a stock holder. The co-operative plan is for the benefit of the depositor, and serves one of the most valuable means of learning how to save. The habit of saving not only benefits materially, but is a moral benefit. The co-operative bank is a fine institution to pay the monthly amount on time. Mr. Bothfield showed how many young people had been aided in procuring homes of their own through the co-operative bank. The Savings Bank was then taken up, and the speaker said that it was a mutual undertaking, there being no stockholders, and that it was absolutely safe. Mr. Bothfield's remarks on questions brought out a number of intelligent ones from the pupils. Miss Hinkley's query elicited facts about the great service the Clearing House Association gives in the banking world.

The sixth period the Seniors again assembled in the Hall. This time to hear last year's editor of the "Dynamo" Mr. Richard Cotton, give personal experience at the University of Vermont, situated in Northfield, Vermont. "Dick" was dressed in his military clothes. His talk was very amusing and interesting, and gave a clear insight into the life of a "rook" or freshman at the school. At the conclusion, Cotton announced that he had two films to show. The lights were turned out, and those present enjoyed pictures of army riding, monkey drill, and steeple chasing at Norwich. They were very good and closed with graduation exercises at the school.

Charles E. G. Capon has been appointed chief assistant manager of the "Dynamo" to fill Mitchell's place, as the latter has gone to work in the Newton Trust Co. Daniel Kiley and Edward Hollingsworth have been added to the staff of assistants. The Junior class selected Gladys Kingham, Edward Williams, Marie McCarthy, and Minnie Foley to be its representatives on the Students' Council.

It was Miss Mildred Wennehrund's turn this week to act as public stenographer in the model office from eight-thirty till five each day.

Warren Jackson, 1916, was appointed manager of the Track Team for next year. Charles Burgess, 1916, has been awarded the management of next year's Hockey team.

President Kepner called the Debating Club to order at eight-thirty on Monday. Gold watch fobs were presented to the members of the two debating teams. Each fob had "N. H. S. D. T., 1915," and the initials of its owner on it. The proof of the picture was handed around for approval. Noble and Francis were voted a committee to arrange a debate with the Girls Debating team. Kepner said that he believed that next year a teacher of elocution would be engaged, and that debating might be put on the curriculum. Kepner read parts of two articles in the Williams college paper emphasizing the importance and value of debating to boys. Parlin moved to have a prepared debate at the next meeting on the question of a students' council. His motion also contained the fact that two men should debate on a side, and that the participants be chosen by the club presidents.

Posters in the halls of the two schools call attention to a N. H. S. Golf Tournament, the date of which will be announced later. A silver cup is to be awarded the winner, besides prizes to the runner up and winner of the consolation.

Subscriptions to the Junior class publication, "The Harlequin," are pouring in to the business manager, Dalton E. Francis. This new undertaking promises to be a great success. At the last meeting of the German Club it was voted that one of the classical German dramas be presented in March. But this decision was reconsidered and Miss Judd and Walter Roberts have written short plays which are now being rehearsed under their direction.

Alfred Crossman, 1912, was elected secretary of the Junior class at Bowdoin.

A graduate of the class of 1914, William Rice, has been playing hockey on the Harvard Freshman team. Another member of that class, Arthur Holt, has been running on the Amherst Freshman track team. Ruth Allen, 1914, was elected vice-president of the Freshman Class at Boston Normal Art. Dorothy Weston, also a graduate in 1914, is spending the winter with her sister Mrs. Margaret W. Polhemus at Winnipeg, Canada.

Edgar Burkhardt, 1916, has been unanimously elected captain of the hockey for the season of 1915-16. Newton should have a winning team next year, as with the exception of one man, the other members will be in school.

Very good work has been done by the two boys who went to Boston College this year, David Horgan and Joseph Ryan, as both received an average of 89 per cent. at their mid-year's.

Malcolm Brock who graduated in 1913 has made the Tech Relay Team. There was a good attendance at the Monday meeting of the Portia Club. The question, Resolved—That the Arctic Explorations are justified by their results, was debated. The affirmative side, composed of Misses Sampson, Beck and Miss Weinz, presented some strong arguments, but the judges decided in favor of the negative speakers. Misses Seavy, Jackson and Miss Addison comprised the winning side. The challenge of the Boys' Debating Club has been accepted by the Portia Club.

The boys and girls are really going to debate. The date set for the great event is the first Wednesday in May, the fifth. The Girls' Debating team chose the subject, which is, Resolved—That the Press in the United States should be regulated by the Government. The boys are to take the negative side of the question. The Girls' debating team is composed of Misses Eleanor Mason, Evangeline Huntley, and Miss Miriam Keeler. Charles C. Parlin, Charles Noble, and Dalton E. Francis make up the boys' team. Mr. Adams will officiate as chairman. The debate will be held during the Wednesday morning assembly period.

General Hull Lodge, No. 123, Ancient Order of United Workmen of Massachusetts, held its regular meeting at Denison Hall, Newtonville on Friday evening, March 26th, Master Workman Laurence A. Sprague in the chair, and transacted much important business.

In view of the success attending the "Ladies' Night" held in February, it was voted to hold another on Friday, April 9th, when music, whist and dancing will be enjoyed.

General Hull Lodge has extended an invitation to all the lodges in this district, to participate in a Class Initiation, to be held at Denison Hall on the evening of Friday, April 23rd. It will be a red letter night in the history of the Order in this section and each lodge will present candidates for initiation.

Grand Master Workman, Frank W. Waite has promised to be present and it is probable that he will be accompanied by other General Lodge officers. A large gathering is expected.

A DELIGHTFUL TRIP

Newton Graphic Travel Club Returns from Visit to Washington

The young ladies who won the regatta in the NEWTON GRAPHIC for a trip to Washington returned to the city last Saturday morning, but full of enthusiasm over their experiences during the week. The party consisted of Mrs. M. Milbardsley, chaperone, and the Misses: Julia H. Glazier, Grace E. Penney, Jean M. Prescott, Catherine P. Eaton and Elizabeth Horsfall. They were accompanied by Miss Julia P. Pier. Miss Horsfall did not return for a longer visit in New York, member of the party has written following account of the trip.

Among the multitude of tourists in the city on Friday, April 2nd, there did not seem to be any more than the GRAPHIC trippers. Our fighting chief, Mr. Curtis, had followed us through fears and hopes, those many weeks and the big promise Mr. Brimble and let me say right here that as no idle promise by a good deal, we pulled out at 6 o'clock for a splendid farewell and some sweet that would last a while at rate. We had our mascot, but, an uneventful boat trip when we into a blizzard at Philadelphia.

Our Easter bonnets unprotected almost lost her honored position. However, we braved the furies and repaid many times as we came a long familiar tokens of the days of our Independence, as the old Liberty Bell so carefully protected in its glass case. Our trip to the Mint showed us how easily rapidly money can be made. A fine collection of coins was most interesting. The entrance hall of leaf mosaic costing $92,000 gave history of the early art of masonry and is the first thing one sees on enter this old Mint.

After a refreshing luncheon and a stroll drying up we sailed forth to station and reached Washington but happy, as it had been up, after Sunday in Washington was a trifle, the smaller bulbs were in and most every kind of a for sale on the streets as well upon milady's hat. Some of us Rev. Mr. Stocking, formerly of tonville, preach, and others after successfully attempting to gain even hold at St. John's went for a. A sight-seeing trip in the afternoon gave us all an excellent chance to get our points of compass see all Washington on parade famous Connecticut avenue. We an excellent glimpse of Rear Adl Dewey in front of his home. A to Corcoran Gallery afforded us a trifle treat among many bits of Easter Monday is given over to children and all over the city one the tots carrying baskets of many eggs wending their way toward lawns of the White House. Here vie with each other in rolling and the eggs everywhere. An egg may not enter without a child he hand so many keen eyed boys to be found who for a nickel may nticed to become related outward-til you are safely past the police gates.

Judged that eating the eggs was as part of the game as rolling them heard many a despairing parent to prevent her young hopeful consuming his or her sixth egg. President spent an hour with them but we were on our way to Mt. Vernon at that time. Situated high above and overlooking towards the city the historic Potomac we approached that beautiful and peaceful home of Washington. Outside there was room for all, but inside one longed for a little system of "keep to the right." Then we could have half appreciated the glorious old furniture so rich in memories of its owners. Getting a fairly early start next morning we visited the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. First we saw the stamps, 100 to a sheet passed along to the perforating machine and at last done up in packages of 10,000 for the postoffices. The green backs became a beautiful clean green bill as we watched, having been printed on one side before we saw it. The top of the monument 555 ft. was out next jump. In the Congressional Library there is a relief map showing Washington as it is laid out. From the top of this shaft the city appears about the same size. As far up as the marble goes was given by the school children of the nation, one sees the difference in color easily.

The Capitol is much too wonderful to try and describe in such a meagre account, but we all felt that our national representative body had as fine a building to meet in as any country. The same may be said for that noble home of our Congressional Library. A beautiful afternoon at the Naval Academy in Annapolis was much enjoyed as we were nearly the only ones there. The beautiful church guarding in its crypt the remains of Capt. Paul Jones, brought several years ago from an unknown grave in France. A rare collection of flags also took our fancy. The original "Don't give up the ship" banner holds a central place. The only Royal Standard anywhere in captivity spread most across the ceiling. It was taken at York, now Toronto, and England would give much to have it back. The Maine's flag, under water 16 years, is well preserved. A Mrs. Fowler of Boston holds the unique method of preserving these relics. The remaining flag was much on mummy cloth then a catch stitch done in the same colored thread gives it at a distance the appearance of a whole flag.

It was with many regrets we left this beautiful city. It was even suggested we telegraph the real necessity of another week, but only the fear of more votes being required prevented. Reaching New York, the shops and theatres took all our short stay although we did see the fishes in the Aquarium and had a general ride to Grant's Tomb and down town. The few hours came to an end all too soon in very truth and we were obliged to make a very hurried trip to the boat. We had a delightful return trip on the boat and left at 7 A. M. via train for Boston, arriving safe and sound shortly after eight.

The trip was one of great pleasure and interest from start to finish and I am sure will never be forgotten by all the members of the GRAPHIC TRAVEL CLUB.

The Haverhill Ministers' Association has gone on record the past week as unanimously in favor of woman suffrage in Massachusetts.

A new suffrage league was formed in Chelsea Tuesday afternoon and starts off with a good sized membership and much enthusiasm.

INTERESTING FIGURES

Traffic Statistics at all the Railroad Stations in the City

Some figures which will interest many persons in this city are contained in a recent report made by the Public Service Commission to the Legislature on the matter of transportation in Metropolitan Boston.

The Commission transmits in its report the facts and recommendations of Mr. William B. Bennett of Wisconsin, who was engaged as an expert in that line.

The report is most voluminous and contains many important features which would interest Newton in general with the remainder of the district. As most of these have already been published in the Boston papers, the Graphic will only print what is of direct interest to Newton.

Mr. Bennett places Newton in a division west of Boston and says that "it is now provided with rapid transit to some extent by both the Newton Circuit of the B. & A. and the Boylston Street subway. When the time comes that the Newton Circuit can be electrified and perhaps joined up with the Boylston street subway, such an arrangement together with intersecting and connecting surface lines may well be expected to furnish a fair measure of service to this district." Referring to the Boylston street subway, Mr. Bennett again speaks of "the electrification of the Newton Circuit and its connection with a rapid transit line reaching the heart of the city, should be a part of any board transit plan."

Possibly the greatest interest will attach to the following data relative to the number of persons riding on the B. & A. trains for an average of three days, the count being taken Nov. 16-17 and 18 of last year. All the stations on the main line are taken as far as Wellesley, and all the Circuit stations as far as Riverside. Only the stations in this city, however, are printed below.

The outbound traffic from Boston averaged 7623, with a maximum hour from 5 to 6 P. M. with a total of 2839. Of this number 928 left at Newton, (433 at maximum), 1347 at Newtonville (595 maximum), 975 at West Newton (364 maximum), 757 at Auburndale (231 maximum) and 444 at Riverside (99 maximum). A total for these stations of 4451, or 58% of the total suburban business. During this same time the following number of passengers boarded these trains going west, Newton 176, Newtonville 136, West Newton 53, Auburndale 62 and Riverside 116. The inbound traffic the same days averaged 7779 passengers arriving at Boston, the maximum hour being from 8 to 9 A. M., when 2937 got off the trains. Of this number, 830 got on at Newton (maximum 371), 1424 at Newtonville (539 maximum), 1013 at West Newton (367 maximum), 824 at Auburndale (313 maximum) and 519 at Riverside (maximum 136). The following number of passengers got off the trains at the various stations, Newton 212, Newtonville 160, West Newton 71, Auburndale 37 and Riverside 212.

On the Highlands branch, similar figures are furnished.

The outbound traffic totalled 2959 with a maximum between 5 and 6 P. M. of 1285. Of this number, 180 left Chestnut hill (58 maximum), 493 at Newton Centre (323 maximum), 698 at Newton Highlands (234 maximum), 204 at Eliot (91 maximum), 374 at Waban (120 maximum), 67 at Woodland (16 maximum) and 93 at Riverside (12 maximum).

GOV. WALSH HERE

As Guest of the Entertainment and Hunnewell Clubs

Governor Walsh honored the Entertainment Club, the Hunnewell Club and the whole city by his presence here Tuesday evening at the performance given by the Entertainment Club of the four-act comedy "For One Night Only" in the Hunnewell clubhouse. His Excellency and two of his secretaries were the guests at the show of Mr. Leverett D. G. Bentley, a member of the cast. He was entertained at dinner that evening at the home of Hon. A. R. Weed, chairman of the board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners and at 7:30 o'clock became the guest of the Hunnewell Club for a brief reception held in the ladies parlor.

Mr. John Hopewell, president of the club received with the Governor and the guests were presented by a distinguished body of ushers, including Hon. G. Fred Simpson, who had served with the Governor in the Council of Governor Foss, Hon. A. R. Weed, Messrs. F. O. Stanley, Oliver M. Fisher, William F. Garcelon, Mason H. Stone, Warren F. Gregory, Thomas F. Murray and Dr. M. E. Gleason.

The audience rose when the Governor entered the assembly hall and greeted him with loud applause. During the intermission between the acts he went behind the scenes and greeted the members of the cast. The Governor was introduced to the audience at the end of the third act by Mr. Hopewell, as a man who had friends in both the leading political parties, and responded by saying facetiously that he had been surprised to find so many warm hearts in the Republicans of Newton. The Governor told one or two interesting incidents of his work in the office, expressed his great pleasure at being present, paid a graceful tribute to the players and when he sat down was given three hearty cheers. After the performance, he was the guest for a short time at the home of Mr. Simpson and later at the residence of Mr. William F. Garcelon.

Considerable interest was taken in the presentation of the play both on Monday and Tuesday evenings, because four members of the cast, Mrs. Charles J. Brown, Mrs. R. W. Bartlett, Mr. Ernest W. Wright and Mr. Bentley took the same parts they had played when the same show was given in Channing Church parlors, fourteen years ago. The other members of the cast were Miss Emily Wellington, Miss Dorothy Wellington, Dr. L. H. Naylor and Mr. Geoffrey Baker.

The parts were admirably taken. Mrs. Brown taking the audience by storm with her characterization of Mrs. Goldwinney, while Mr. Wright as her henpecked husband gave as finished a performance as ever was seen on an amateur stage. Mr. Bentley made the most of his part as a "barnstormer" and divided the honors

NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Strong Addresses Made Sunday Evening at Eliot Church

There was a good audience present Sunday evening at the special meeting of the Christian Forum to hear addresses on the question of National Prohibition.

Mayor Childs presided and introduced the two speakers, Rev. Dr. Howard Russell, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America and ex-governor Malcolm R. Patterson of Tennessee.

Dr. Russell's address was largely devoted to a plea for money to be used in the work of the League in maintaining headquarters at Washington, in aiding the work of the state organizations and in preparing for ratification of the amendment to the national constitution in regard to prohibition which he confidently predicted would be adopted by Congress within a very few years, and which would have to be ratified by 36 states.

Pledge cards were circulated and collected during the meeting.

Former Governor Malcolm R. Patterson of Tennessee bitterly attacked the liquor traffic. In part he said: "The Anti-Saloon League and I have not always been friends. The paths we traveled were wide apart. They seemed so parallel that it looked incredible that they should ever meet. The path I traveled turned in its course. It ran into the other and we find ourselves in the same road, marching in the same direction, under the same flag, actuated by the same desire to destroy the traffic in liquor and redeem a nation from its curse."

"I am neither ashamed nor abashed to stand here and acknowledge the wrong when I once advocated policies which would have made legal a trade which I have come to look upon as having no rightful place in the scheme and economy of Christian civilization."

"I will leave the causes which led to my change of view to your own opinion. I grew up in the city of Memphis where saloons were numerous and regarded as fixed and permanent institutions. I cannot ever remember to have heard of any movement to close them or recall any speech or newspaper article attacking them. I grew up in their midst and attended races like other young men of the city. I became a lawyer, was elected district attorney and afterwards sent to Congress for six years. Liquor was sold in both wings of the capitol. The convenience and comfort with which intoxicating liquors could be obtained often interfered with my attendance and distracted from the duties of our representation."

"While serving in Congress I became candidate for Governor, and took a position on the liquor question in the first speech I made from which I never deviated throughout my official career. At that time it was pleasing to many of the temperance people of our state

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

Large Attendance at First Ladies' Night Held at the Woodland Park Hotel

Nearly two hundred ladies and gentlemen attended the first banquet and ladies night of the Newton Board of Trade, held Monday evening at the Woodland Park hotel and enjoyed every moment.

An informal reception preceded the dinner which was served in the large dining room at 7:30. Seated at the head table were President William J. Cozens and other officers of the Board of Trade and the invited guests, Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Mr. Walter D. Allen, secretary of the Brookline Board of Trade.

A letter of regret was read from Lieutenant Governor Cushing who was unable to be present on account of an error in the date.

Mr. Cozens said in part, "The main business of the Newton Board of Trade is to advance the mutual interest of our business men and to aid the growth of our community. We are young but we have a place in this world and by the grace of God we are going to take that place. Where there is unity there is strength, and if the public are with us and we are with them, we will become a strong organization. We have the open door policy and there is no business man of Newton, who, if he will cast his lot with us, he will find it just as easy to be a man amongst men, and of being one of us."

"We are not a body for the purpose of creating laws, and we want fewer laws or else those on the books enforced. "One reason why we have so many present here tonight is because there has been such hearty co-operation. We are going forward and Newton is going to feel the effect of a vigorous trade by the help of our members."

Mayor Childs said, "Mr. President, ladies and fellow members of the Board of Trade, I thank you for this cordial greeting, and for this opportunity of again expressing myself on this matter of organization, and stating my belief in the Newton Board of Trade. If anything worth while is to be accomplished, men must get together. This is true in politics, in business, in philanthropy, in religion."

"Any order to do things must organize these days to put things across, because there is power in numbers. A labor agitator goes up and down this land preaching, but he does not get the working men very far along before they form a union, they organize. A capitalist may proclaim his emotions from the house tops, but if he wants

The Newton Improvement Society has an excellent opportunity to do some valuable work for its part of the city in obtaining the land on Charlesbank road for park purposes. The development has already commenced in this section of the city and the completion of the new boulevard on the south side of the Charles River, from Brighton to connect with Charlesbank road, will bring this property right into the market. It will be a great pity if this opportunity to have a park space right on the river is lost by the lethargy of our citizens.

The passage of the bill to prohibit the transportation of liquor into No-License communities by liquor dealers, will clean up the objectionable situation which has existed in Newton since the aldermen refused to grant the usual express licenses last summer. What will happen if the present policy is continued and liquor dealers prevented from bringing their goods into the city, is a matter of debate. The matter will be clearly up to the members of the aldermen, however, and may become a serious factor in our next city election.

Governor Patterson gave some forceful arguments at Eliot Church, Sunday evening, showing that National Prohibition was absolutely necessary if the rum evil was to be eradicated. His strictures against the Massachusetts Congressmen for voting 15 to 1 against the bill last December on the ground that it interfered with state rights, were well taken, for Massachusetts was not so particular about state rights a half century ago when slavery was the issue before the country.

The facts about the railroad traffic in this city, printed in another column will be of considerable interest to many persons, and the report from which they were taken is one of the most important documents of recent years.

Governor Walsh made an excellent impression on everyone who met him in his recent visit to this city and one prominent politician was heard to lament that the Governor was making votes right and left.

The Newton Board of Trade has made a fine beginning towards becoming a live factor in the city and deserves the hearty support of everyone interested in the right growth of our community.

An account of the annual luncheon of the Newton Equal Suffrage Association held Wednesday at the Burn Club will be given next week.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Several Newton residents were present at the session of the Senate on Tuesday afternoon, testifying to their deep interest in the bill to prohibit liquor leaders from delivering their wares into No License communities. The Senate had amended the bill at a previous session by allowing such deliveries to be made if a license to do so had first been issued by the local authorities. The temperance people, however, opposed this amendment so successfully, that it was withdrawn on Tuesday and the bill as passed by the House was also approved by the Senate. While it is possible, of course to kill the bill on its enactment stage, it is probable that this measure will soon become the law of the state.

Another measure to the hundreds of automobilists in this city was a bill favorably reported this week which requires all kinds of vehicles to come to a full stop at least 25 feet from the nearer rail of any railroad or railway track and then to cross at a reasonable speed. This would be an admirable (?) law for such a place as Nonantum square to say nothing of such a place as Centre street where it crosses Commonwealth avenue, where every north bound vehicle would have to stop almost in the line of traffic on the south side of Commonwealth avenue.

Another matter of some interest to everybody in the "bread bill" which was debated at length in the Senate the same afternoon as the liquor transportation bill, and which led one bright woman to say that the Senate was doing nothing but eating and drinking at that session. Mayor Curley's bread bill was favored by the Senate by a heavy vote.

The Supreme Court has answered questions asked by the General Court in regard to several taxation matters which were under discussion to the effect that none of them were constitutional and they have been rejected. The opinion of the Supreme Court seems to indicate that the amendment to the constitution adopted by the last Legislature will be endorsed by this Legislature and the matter put up to the people next fall for acceptance or rejection.

The Senate has reconsidered its rejection of the constitutional amendment relative to biennial elections and has passed it, with an amendment to the effect that there shall be biennial elections with annual sessions of the Legislature.

A hearing was held Wednesday before Ways and Means on the bill to provide for a new bridge over the Charles river to Weston. There is no objection to the bill, although there may be some question as to how the cost shall be apportioned.

Mr. Leslie R. Moore, a son of Mr. Stephen Moore of Hunnewell Hill has been reappointed this week by Governor Walsh as an assistant inspector of gas and gas meters.

In the House yesterday the Senate resolutions for biennial elections were rejected, and adverse action was also taken on the bill to require all vehicles to stop at least 25 feet from every railroad or street railway track before crossing the same.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Coming to the Majestic Theatre on Monday, April 12th, for a limited engagement, will be that remarkable New York success, "The Law of the Land," from the pen of that prolific writer of American dramas, George Broadhurst. It is a matter of distinct satisfaction to be able to announce that Boston will be favored with the same original cast and production seen in the all-season run at the 48th Street Theatre, New York. Featured in the cast is Julia Dean and associated with her in leading roles are George Fawcett and Milton Selt. The play is said to be a masterpiece in construction, and superbly acted. "The Law of the Land" differs from many of the recent works of our leading playwrights in that it does not argue or talk its way through a story nor lead up to stagey, obvious situations. Given a certain set of facts and a strong opening situation, the people involved in this drama proceed to do human and manifestly plausible things.

WILBUR THEATRE—New England playgoers in search of hearty laughter and bright entertainment are still flocking to the Wilbur Theatre, where "A Pair of Sixes," on Patriots' Day, will begin the seventeenth week of an engagement which has broken all records for long runs in Boston. Although it would seem that every man, woman and child in Boston has already seen this wonderful farce, the attendance remains just as large as ever, and at every performance "A Pair of Sixes" sends its thrills of laughter across the footlights at an audience that fills every portion of the playhouse. There must be some reason why a play can come to Boston in a season that has been characterized by poor business, and stay longer than any farce has ever been known to stay in the Hub city. For since this piece came to the Wilbur Theatre in December nearly 100 shows have come to Boston and gone their way. Any one who has seen this farce can tell you the reason. It is the best, cleanest, most enjoyable and funniest farce that has ever been presented.

Counting the Cost

"OFTEN wonder," said the local merchant recently, "why our bill for toll calls isn't larger each month, when I stop long enough to consider the use we make of the telephone, both at the store and at home. There isn't a town where I do business but seems nearer to me than even next door. I can beat many competitors by selling my goods over the telephone before they can get there by train; I can get into every town in New England all in one day, tell about my stock, quote my prices, make my deals and sit right here with my eyes on the home store all the time. Most of the people I sell to like that way of doing business."

"As for the folks at home, they keep in touch with all their friends everywhere, and my daughter there at Wellesley isn't a bit lonely, for she has mother's counsel, and it's the same way with Bob in Boston."

"Do you think I would let that telephone out of my reach? No siree! It's not only money in my pocket in my business, but we are in the center of a big world of real live people, just because we can call up any one, anywhere."

Message No. 5
To the Business Men of Newton

The prosperity of a city is in direct proportion to the local pride. Where local pride runs high, prosperity has a firm foothold. Such a town is a good place to live and do business in.

Paint helps to a remarkable degree in spreading an impression of prosperity throughout a community. It gives a fresh, new, inviting look wherever it is used. Municipal buildings, stores and homes feel its good effects. Growing business is bound to be one of the direct results of a liberal use of paint, not from any magic in the paint, but because of the pride which is stimulated.

to put through a big deal, he gets together some of his associates with money and they combine. A social reformer may denounce evils, but the evils continue until most of the citizens get together and decree that that evil must be eliminated. If the merchants and trades people of this city are to be protected they must get together because the same principle holds good in business, and they must not only get together but they must keep together, and it is because thoughtful men of this city realized this fact that this Board of Trade was started.

"This Board of Trade was the outgrowth of the old Business Men's Association of Newton. Corner. As a Board of Trade for the whole city, it is not very old. It has, however, done some good things. No one suggests even, that it has done all that it ought or might have done, and there is only one reason why it hasn't, and that is it has not received the whole soul support of our business men and our citizens. In every organization one notices two groups of men, those who work and those who look on. It is all right to meet and organize, to draw up a constitution and by-laws, to elect a president and vice-president, and directors, to hold dinners, pass resolutions, and hear reports, but we can do all these things and fall short of accomplishing the principles for which the Board of Trade can exist now.

A few men cannot do all the work, there must be co-operation, and we must never lose sight of why this Board of Trade exists, first, for our own advancement, second to help trade, and the city. Now, most of these men are in the retail business, trading things in a small way, you see your own little business, and you are particular and jealous of it. To make it a success is your own particular job, and men judge you in your success or failure as you make that business pay. Put your own business first, think through your own problems and win out, but do not forget your relationship to trade in general. You are a part of a great whole, and you are dependent upon other people and interests, you cannot be a success working for yourself alone, and you cannot help others by working by yourself. Working together means success for all.

"Every man engaged in trade in a suburban town has his problems, and to solve them he needs the assistance of those against the same problems. The Board of Trade is a combination. Business men should be a collecting house where the best study of business problems can be obtained, and a help to advertisers. You have got to advertise in order to live, and you cannot advertise to waste money, but you have got to advertise. A goose lays an egg and waddles away as though ashamed of it, but a hen lays an egg and is proud of it and starts to proclaim it to every body, and as you know hen's eggs are more in demand than goose eggs. This Board of Trade has 150 members more or less. It ought to have 500, and to get them is not the job of the officers alone. One man cannot do it.

"There is a women's auxiliary connected with this Board of Trade, and there is going to be, and every business woman in this city ought to belong to that. We need you, and you know it.

"As I look over this gathering, I cannot help but think that a Board we might be in this city. If all of us could think one thing and work for one thing there isn't anything that we could not achieve. A company of people like this could make this city famous in business and in trade. Let us stand together, work with some practical thing clearly and constantly in mind, let us look toward the north while and move toward it, let the spirit of co-operation prevail among us, and if we do these things we will create a better feeling in the community and we will all be happy in our work."

Mr. Allen spoke as follows, "Mr. President, ladies, and gentlemen, I come here tonight instead of our President, Mr. Cousins, and I am very happy to say that we have been fortunate in choosing Mr. Cousins as our President. I am no less sincere than would be Mr. Cousins if he were here, in presenting the most cordial greeting from the Brookline Board of Trade. The town of Brookline is not as large as the city of Newton. We have certain characteristics in the town of Brookline which are allied to your characteristics here. I believe that you have about 19 sections in Newton. We had 6 or 7 sections in Brookline until about two years ago, when the Board of Trade took upon itself to see that sectionalism was wiped out of the territory, and the result has been successful. It has done it through publicity and co-operation. In my mind the means of bringing about the results in co-operation is publicity. I have introduced Mrs. Anna Sturgis Duryea who spoke on the "Peace Question."

Her address was most notable and inspiring, listened to with the closest attention by all, who would have been glad to listen much longer. A rising vote of thanks was given her, "America" was sung and the meeting adjourned. A pleasant social hour followed, when the hostesses, Mrs. Ernest S. Gill, Mrs. Arthur E. Gill, Mrs. William E. Gill, and Mrs. Robert Gorton served refreshments.

Following Mr. Allen's remarks Mr. Harold Moore, assistant secretary, read a short history of the Board.

During the banquet which was an elaborate and pleasing one, the Newtonville Glee Club furnished music. The program and menu were several numbers by talent furnished by the Eastern Lyceum Bureau of Boston.

Those seated at the banquet tables included, James A. Seeley, Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Fogwill, Mr. and Mrs. E. Beardsley, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Robert, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Evans, C. G. Carley, Miss Hazel I. The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R. of Newton, held its April meeting at the Brae-Burn Club house on the afternoon of the 12th with a large attendance. Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, the Regent, presided. After the reading of the interesting report of the last meeting by the secretary, Miss Sladen, accompanied by Mrs. Owen, sang a group of songs most acceptably responding graciously to an encore, Mrs. Freeman of Philadelphia, gave a short account of the work of the "Colonial Dames," urging all patriotic societies to join in saving all records, wills, deeds, and other documents of the past. They will be of as much interest as those of previous centuries are to us. She exhibited a book in which she had collected copies of many deeds, etc., and photos of her ancestry through 15 generations from England to her 5-year-old son. A rising vote of thanks was given her and "Star Spangled Banner" sung.

A pleasant social hour followed, when the hostesses, Mrs. Ernest S. Gill, Mrs. Arthur E. Gill, Mrs. William E. Gill, and Mrs. Robert Gorton served refreshments.

STALE TOAST SPOILS GOOD NATURE

Few people ever knew, until a few years ago, what real good, fresh, crisp toast was like.

Even sick people couldn't enjoy the luxury of fresh toast, because it had to be made in the kitchen, buttered and carried upstairs, and by that time it had lost much of its savoriness.

Nowadays, however, people can have their fresh, crisp toast, golden-brown and hot, right on the breakfast table, because they can make it on the electric toaster.

This is only one of the many things that can be done electrically, when and where you want it.

Then too, in the nursery it is a delightful convenience, and in the sick room, where the toast can be made right at hand, there is no mussiness to it; everything is clean and fresh, and the toast is turned out quickly—Nothing is really more health-giving than such convenience and such delightful toast.

In another part of this paper, an advertisement of The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston mentions a special sale of an entirely new design of the Thermax Electric Toaster during April at $2.75.

These toasters are on sale, or will be delivered on telephone call from any one of the Edison Company's fifteen stores, or by your electrical contractor.

CITY HALL

In addition to grants of $770,257.08 for salaries and fixed charges for the entire year, $17,425 was allowed the various departments for running expenses until April 30.

On account of the illness of the principal petitioner the hearing on the matter of establishing public markets in this city assigned for April 26 was ordered postponed.

Tuesday was "Parents' Day" at the High Schools.

The third quarter ends Friday, April 16. Because of the holiday on Monday, April 19, the report cards will not come out till Wednesday.

The Junior class publication, "The Harlequin," is due to appear the first week in May. Dalton E. Francis, the business manager, deserves much praise for the way he has boomed this first attempt of a Junior class to print a magazine.

"The Harlequin" will contain poems, stories, jokes, editorials, articles, and other things of interest, written by the members of the class of 1916.

The Senior dance this year will come off later in the season than in past years; probably in the middle of May.

The Boys' Debating Club was very fortunate Monday morning in having Rev. Brewer Eddy, a foreign missionary residing in Newtonville, speak on "Some Problems of the Far East."

The address included a short history of the Far East from the death of Mohammed. Mr. Eddy gave the situation of the East in the present war, and showed how Germany's alliance with Turkey has failed in the Turks in India have broken away from the Sultan at Constantinople.

The boys were extremely interested, and expressed their sincere thanks to Mr. Eddy for his instructive and timely talk.

No subject was prepared for debate in the Portia Club; therefore, the girls had an extemporaneous discussion on Resolved—That the Women of Massachusetts should be granted equal suffrage with the men.

The members of the Girls' Debating team are hard at work preparing for the debate with the boys the first week of May.

The Senior play will be given in May.

Frederic Corson will take Charles Parlin's place on the Boys' Debating team which is to meet the Girls'; probably the Wednesday assembly period in the first week of May.

One of the school's foremost athletes, John "Buck" Donahue, is coaching the Boston College High School track, football, and baseball teams.

"Buck" has put out some very formidable teams.

The Girls' Glee Club had a rehearsal on Wednesday.

Mr. Adams comes to the school for a short time almost every day. He is much better, and is getting stronger each day. Everybody in the building is glad to see Mr. Adams back again.

The members of the Newton High hockey and track teams received their sweaters Tuesday afternoon. Track sweaters were given to Capt. Arthur Roberts, Meyler Bruner, George Litchfield, Ray Adams, Gordon Bancher, Harry Pierce, Gilbert McNamara, H. Woodworth, Carl Rogers, J. Gilman, Philip Newell, How Williams, Mitchell, "Terry" McGovern, P. Kelley, J. Hayes and J. Wheeler.

It was announced that the ball game between Newton High and Roxbury Latin School, scheduled for today, was indefinitely postponed at the request of the Roxbury Latin management.

Roxbury Latin will produce a play to-night and most of the players are in the cast.

N. T. H. S.

All the boys in the four classes went to the Assembly Hall Wednesday morning. The speaker was Mr. E. K. Hall of Newtonville.

Mr. Hall said he was going to speak on the "Value of Athletics," and was glad he had an audience who would understand the language of sports.

Mr. Hall gave the following reasons why athletics are valuable to a boy training for business: first, athletics develop nerve and courage; the value of doing things well is learned; the "do it now" spirit is awakened; the worth of training and perseverance is brought home; the importance of team work which is becoming more and more essential in business is recognized; lastly, fair play is taught.

Every one of these qualities are necessary to succeed in the business world today.

Mr. Hall held the boys' attention throughout, and his talk was greatly appreciated.

A week from tonight the Senior play, "Mr. Bob," will be given in the school hall, and repeated Saturday night.

Between the acts the Girls' Glee Club will sing, and the orchestra will play. Dancing after the comedy is an added attraction.

Miss Weatherbe of the English department is coaching the production. The cast is as follows: Elliott Stickney as "Philip Royson," Ralph Davis will be "Robert Brown," "Jenkins" will be portrayed by James Armstrong, "Rebecca Luke" by Miss Marion O'Connell, Miss Helen Jettord will appear as "Marion Bryant," the part of "Katherine Rogers" will be taken by Miss Ruth Spencer, and Miss Bogan will be "Pat."

Miss Rebecca's maid.

The Senior whose lot it is to work as public stenographer in the model office this week is Miss Margaret McDonald.

A number of the Clerical and Business course Seniors have attended the New England Efficiency Exposition held in the Mechanics Building.

Three graduates of the school are employed on the sales forces of firms exhibiting at the show.

There was an important rehearsal of the orchestra Monday. Ralph Davis, James Ormon, James Armstrong, John Connors, Gordon Scholar, Lorenzo Albert, William Quinlan, Doris Terry, Gladys Diamond, and Isabelle Eaton are the pupils playing in it at present.

Mr. Palmer appointed Charles Parlin, Edwin Gilligan, Wilbur Noyes, and Miss Grace Bowen for the Senior representatives in the Students' Council.

Charles Parlin has the honor of being the president of this newly formed body.

The two students from the Junior class which Mr. Palmer have chosen to be on the Students' Council are D. Underhill and Stuart Daniels.

From the Sophomore class Mr. Palmer selected Paul Coggins and Miss Ruth Addison. The fortunate Freshman who was given a place on the Council by Mr. Palmer is John Lewis.

At a meeting of the Sophomore class held on Wednesday morning, Herbert Hovenden and Miss Katherine Goddard were elected to the Student Council.

The Freshman class accorded Miss Miriam Lincoln a place on the Council.

MRS. CAROLINE B. ALLEN

Written as an Appreciation by an Old Friend

Mrs. Caroline Bassett Allen, wife of the late Nathaniel T. Allen, founder of the Allen School, died on the morning of April 13, 1915, at her home in West Newton, Massachusetts, where she had resided for more than sixty years.

Her age was eighty-four years.

Mrs. Allen was born in Nantucket, Oct. 16, 1830, the daughter of James Nye and Rebecca Freeman Bassett of Sandwich.

Her ancestors were pioneers and settled several of the towns on Cape Cod. She was educated in Nantucket, where Maria Mitchell, the astronomer, was not only one of her instructors, but an especially congenial friend.

It was when Miss Bassett came to West Newton as a student in the Normal School under Cyrus Pierce, that she first met Nathaniel T. Allen, who was even then attracting the attention of Horace Mann and other educators, by his original and effective work as principal of the Model School Connected with the Normal School.

This Normal and Model School were the first of their kind in the world.

After their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Allen opened the Allen School, which soon acquired an international reputation, drawing pupils from all over the world.

The first Cubans to come to this country for education, and some of the first Japanese to come for that purpose, were among the pupils.

Nearly five hundred people were instructed and cared for during the fifty years in which the school was carried on by the Allen family, and many persons distinguished in public life, in literature, and in science, received their early impulses to a useful life from these Allen brothers, their wives and other members of the gifted family.

As the school was unique in the emphasis placed upon a natural home and family life for the boarding pupils, and as the study of the individual characteristics of each girl and boy entrusted to their care in order to develop and build a symmetrical character, was a cardinal principle of the Messrs. Allen, it will be seen that Mrs. Allen's share of the work was as important as that of the teachers in the class-room.

Her co-operation as one of the factors in the school's success. To have aided in moulding the character of thousands of men and women who are today doing the world's work was a great privilege, a great trust, and a high honor.

An American gentleman of the finest type, she was an embodiment and shining example of the virtues of truth, honesty, courtesy and uprightness, an all unconscious object lesson in her daily life of the virtues she inculcated in her quiet, modest, tender manner, by precept and admonition.

To those under her roof she was a second mother, sympathetically, conscientiously, and painstakingly performing her duties with a sweet spirit of love to God and service to mankind.

Busy as was her home life, she yet found time for activities in the community. She was a member of the New England Woman's Club, the Browning Club of Boston and West Newton, and the Book Club.

With Mrs. E. N. L. Walton, she founded the West Newton Woman's Club. She was markedly an intellectual woman, always finding time to read and study, and to keep abreast of the day's thought and questions of the day.

This kept her mind youthful and alert. She retained to the last this youthful spirit, and a sane outlook upon life. This made her a charming companion for young and old.

She loved the young life by which she was always surrounded in her home. She enjoyed two trips to Europe, one in the 70's, with her husband and children, when they lived abroad for a time, and met many distinguished people, and the other when she was almost seventy-eight, yet which she enjoyed as keenly as her daughters, who accompanied her. She travelled in all parts of the United States and the islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen lived to celebrate their golden wedding. After his death, she and her daughters were privileged to continue his life-work of character-building, in the school for girls which the daughters established in 1904, and which is now carried on by the sole surviving daughter, Lucy Ellis Allen.

The eldest daughter, Fanny Bassett Allen, passed away Oct. 14, 1913. Another daughter, Sarah Caroline, wife of P. H. Cooney of Natick, died in 1897.

The daughters inherited the teaching gift and aptitude for training the young which made their parents so successful as educators, and were women of great public spirit and influence.

Beside the daughter, Miss Lucy Ellis Allen, principal of the Misses Allen School for Girls in the family home, Mrs. Allen leaves a son-in-law, Mr. P. H. Cooney, and two former wards, now as sons in the family, Dr. Edwin B. Nielsen, and Gustaf A. Nielsen.

The funeral services were held at the house to which Mrs. Allen went as a bride, her fine old colonial home, on Thursday, April 15, 1915, Rev. Julian C. Jaynes officiating—the pastor of the Unitarian Church in West Newton, with which Mrs. Allen has been connected during all her long life in the place.

The Mendelssohn Quartette sang several selections. Assisting in the arrangements were three nephews, Prof. Edward E. Allen of the Perkins Institution for the Blind, Mr. George B. Davis of West Newton, and Hon. E. B. Drew of Cambridge, formerly Commissioner of Customs in China;—also three neighbors and friends, Hon. George Hutchinson, Lawrence Bond, Esq., and Edward C. Burrage of West Newton. After cremation at Forest Hills, the urn was interred in the family plot in the Medfield Cemetery.

NORTH GATE CLUB NOTES

A very enjoyable concert was given on Monday evening by the Julia Pickard Trio assisted by Ethel Walcott Ross, soprano.

The Trio, which is a local organization, was received with great favor. In their solos as well as in their ensemble work they acquitted themselves artistically and proved themselves to be talented musicians.

Mrs. Ross' songs, particularly those with the Trio, were rendered in a very pleasing manner and found much favor with the audience.

CHANNING ALLIANCE

The annual meeting of Channing Alliance was held in the church parlor on Tuesday of this week. The morning session was given up to the presentation of the annual reports of officers and committees, which showed a large amount of work accomplished by many willing workers, much of it done in so quiet a way that the members themselves do not realize how much has really been accomplished, until it is all brought together at this time. The officers elected for next year are: president, Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey; vice-presidents, Mrs. George M. Nash, Mrs. H. L. Simpson, Mrs. Harry Lutz; recording secretary, Mrs. Sidney Peterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. G. Bridge; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre; auditor, Mrs. Robert G. Howard; director for three years, Miss Martha Lathie. A dainty and delicious luncheon was served at one o'clock by a committee of ladies with Miss Clara Soule as chairman. The tables were most attractive with their decorations of delicate yellow marguerites and favors. After luncheon the company adjourned to the parlor below where the Alliance choir rendered two selections. Mrs. William Noyes, treasurer of the Alliance of Unitarian Women, brought greetings and Mrs. Mary B. Davis, the national corresponding secretary, gave an address. Mrs. Davis told of her visit to the distant branches of the Alliance in Northwestern Canada and to those of the Southern states. She also spoke of the recent revival meetings of "Billy" Sunday in Philadelphia, which is near her home. While she found him in many respects a remarkable man with an unusual power, yet she deprecated his methods and his antiquated theology. She told of efforts put forth by the Unitarians of Philadelphia in distributing tracts and holding meetings in which were set forth the real Unitarian standpoint. Rev. William Sullivan of New York having been one of the speakers. The result of the Unitarians has been increased interest and addition to their membership.

UNITARIAN CLUB MEETS

The annual meeting and ladies' night of the Unitarian Club took place Thursday evening at Channing Church parlors, with a large attendance. The retiring president, Hon. Henry E. Bothfeld, presided at the brief business session.

The following officers were elected: president, George M. Nash; vice-presidents, James P. Tolman, A. Willis Small; secretary, James Kingman; treasurer, Horace C. Harrington; executive committee, Robert D. Holt, Herbert Stebbins, Alvin R. Bailey, T. Edward Stutson, F. W. Johnson; membership committee, C. H. Barney, Charles Matlack, Arthur P. Friend, E. W. Hodgson; reception committee, E. W. Hodgson, Lewis E. Coffin, Francis J. Small, William B. Baker, Mason H. Stone; music, Walter A. Beedle, Thomas F. Murray, Norman Marshall; entertainment, Henry F. Cate, Phillips Byfield, John W. Webber.

A delightful musical program was rendered by the following artists, who were introduced by Mr. Walter E. Beedle, chairman of the music committee: Mrs. Wilhelmina Wright Caldwell, soprano; Miss Edna Elizabeth Siedhoff and Mary Pumphrey Tower, pianists; and Mr. F. Stanley Tower, cellist. Rev. M. Franklin Ham, minister of the Unitarian church of Reading, read selections from his "Kinchin Stories," which take their name from an old negro with whom the author was acquainted during his residence in the South, one of a type that has nearly passed away since the war. The description of "Uncle Kinchin" and his quaint little store on Lookout Mountain, the old man's story of his early life and his tender tribute to his old "massa" were heard with deep interest and formed an unusual and charming picture of negro life before the war.

INFORMAL MUSICALS

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Paine Carter entertained delightfully at an informal musical on Sunday afternoon at their residence on Highland avenue, Newtonville. A program of exceptional merit, including six numbers was presented by The Julia Pickard Trio, assisted by Ethel Walcott Ross, soprano. The program opened with the "Allegro movement from a Beethoven Trio," Opus 1 for piano, violin and cello which was played admirably by Miss Isabel Wynkoop Puffer, pianist, Miss Julia Pickard, violinist, and Miss Alma La Palme, cellist.

"Ave Maria" by Gounod with cello obbligato, and Bach's "Heart Ever Faithful" with violin obbligato, were sung with pleasing effect by Ethel Walcott Ross, who was also heard in "Day is Gone" by Margaret Ruthven Lang, "The Open Secret" by Woodman, and Gounod's "Sing, Smile, Slumber" with trio accompaniment. A cello selection "Tarantelle" from concerto by Lindner, was excellently rendered by Miss Alma La Palme, and Miss Pickard gave pleasing illustrations of the violin pieces, Bach's "Aria on the G string," and "Gavotte" by Martini, and her performance of a thoroughly enjoyable writing was admirable. The program closed with two beautiful selections by the Trio, "The Hour of Sleep" by Benoit, and Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" No. 6.

WHIST AND DANCE

The Newton City Employees Union held a very successful Whist and Dancing Party on Wednesday evening in Nonantum Hall, Newton. Fully five hundred people attended, among them were Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Alderman J. W. Murphy, and several other well known people. Whist from 8 to 10, and dancing 10 to 12 was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The affair was in charge of President P. M. McCarthy, assisted by George Rogers, chairman, A. L. Moriarty, secretary, J. Ford, treasurer; aids, C. Quinn, C. W. Keefe, J. Dunn, J. Herlihy, Ralph Bennett, S. Fennell, E. Bennett, E. Daley, M. Finan, J. Bradley, J. J. Murphy, John McCarthy, T. Hickey, B. McFadden, M. Morris, A. Sweeney, P. McDonough, and H. Gahan.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Now is the time when the clubs are planning their programs for next year. A point which is very often overlooked in this work is an opportunity for the bringing in of some unexpected subject. Last year, for instance, when they were being planned there was no thought of war and the subject of international peace seemed the dream of the visionary. With the summer came the terrible cataclysm and the subject uppermost in people's minds and one which might well have engaged the attention of the club women was of necessity sidetracked, or postponed because of a full, inelastic program. The leaving of a date "to be announced" would have obliterated this. Another point to be borne in mind is too long programs, too many speakers or too many topics for one afternoon. The mind will take in only about so much and when that point has been reached, whatever follows might just as well have been left out as for any good that is gained from it. Simplify and intensify the work. Otherwise the clubs will be open to the criticism of being superficial.

Already the annual meetings have begun and three weeks more will see the year's work completed. There is an opinion current among club women, who are not actively associated with the work of their club, that reports are dull and prosy and therefore the annual meeting is a necessary evil and one which may well be skipped. Now as a matter of fact this annual meeting is the most interesting of the whole year, for it is a clearing house, as it were, of all the activities of the club, and when they are brought together one gets as in no other way a comprehensive view of what the little detached efforts mean. Don't stay away from your annual meeting.

Art Conference

On Wednesday, April 21, at 2 o'clock the Art department of the Federation will hold a conference at the Normal Art School, Exeter and Newbury streets, Boston. All interested are cordially invited to attend. Present visiting card with name of club.

Local Happenings

At the last meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club held at the home of Mrs. Clifton Leatherbee of Hillsdale avenue, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre gave an account of the Biennial meeting of the General Federation. Mrs. Elizabeth Glendower Evans spoke upon "The Mothers' Side of the War," dealing with the question of international peace and the reasons why it should be brought about.

On April 12th the Newton Highlands Monday Club met in Odd Fellows Hall. Miss Anna Irene Miller, a graduate student at Radcliffe, gave an account of the History of the Experimental Theatre from 1887 to 1914. Mrs. H. E. Williams read Bernard Shaw's play, "Pygmalion." Mrs. Williams' rendering was delightful in every respect.

A large audience gathered in the Congregational Church on Monday evening to listen to a lecture by Prof. Bliss Perry of Harvard. His subject was "Literary Fashioned" and was greatly enjoyed by the members and friends of the Auburndale Woman's Club, under whose auspices the lecture was given.

Miss Suzanne Wunderbaldinger of the Women's Municipal League spoke before the Home Economics class of the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon. Her talk was both interesting and practical. She told not only of the work of Market Inspection in Boston but also of leaflets on the campaign against the house-fly.

TRAVEL TALK

Mrs. James Richard Carter gave a very interesting travel talk on China Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. George L. Lovett on Mt. Vernon street, West Newton, for the benefit of the West Newton Day Nursery. An entertaining feature was an exhibition of embroideries, porcelains, photographs, lacquer and mandarin coats which Mrs. Carter had collected during her recent trip to the Orient. In the dining-room where tea was served, a combination scheme of blue, yellow and pink was carried out beautifully in the table decorations. Blue flowers were arranged in a centerpiece and the refreshments were served in old blue China dishes, and every detail, even to the table cover, was suggestive of the Orient.

The ladies who poured were Mrs. Charles W. Leatherbee, Mrs. Thomas M. Whidden, Mrs. Harry L. Ayer, and Mrs. George P. Bullard. Assisting in serving were Miss Leatherbee, Miss Eleanor Frost, Mrs. Irving J. Fisher and Miss Carrie Giles.

There were about seventy guests present.

HANDEL AND HAYDN SERVICE

Now that the Handel and Haydn Society are celebrating their centenary anniversary with concerts in Boston this week, it perhaps will interest the members of the society, to know that a beautiful silver service presented in 1865 to Loring B. Barnes, the then President of the Society is on exhibition in the windows of Shreve, Crump and Low, Boston.

Mr. Barnes, who died over 20 years ago, was a resident of Newton, and well known in musical circles, having been secretary of the Handel and Haydn Society for 17 years, and its President 5 years, and probably did more than any other man to insure the welfare of the Society.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

POLICE NOTES

She was later found to be insane.

LODGES

At the meeting of Newton Lodge, Knights of Pythias, held Tuesday evening at Newtonville, Mr. Clarence H. Bassett, who has spent considerable time in the Pennsylvania oil regions, gave an interesting talk on Petroleum and its Production.

The Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. met at the home of Mrs. Lincoln on Monday afternoon when Miss Cora S. Cobb continued the consideration of the status of women, taking up those of Mediaeval Renaissance times. She contrasted the two periods and pointed out how much better were conditions in the latter than in the former period. She gave an account of the life of St. Catherine, of Isabella d'Este and of Lucretia Borgia.

At the meeting of the Pierian Club on Wednesday Mrs. Benjamin who has worked among the Indians of Washington, Montana and the Dakotas told of her experiences and of the people themselves. Mrs. Ryder told of the Government's treatment of them and Mrs. Titus had a paper on "The Doukabor."

An account of the Social Science meeting on Wednesday is postponed to our next issue.

The last regular meeting for the year of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held on Friday, April 9. Mrs. William I. —There was a good attendance Monday evening at the annual supper meeting of the Unitarian Church. An excellent repast was served under direction of a committee in which Mrs. A. C. Dunmore was chairman, and the annual meeting took place at eight o'clock. Hon. George H. Ellis was moderator and satisfactory reports were received from all the church organizations. These officers were elected: Clerk, William A. Young; treasurer, Francis Newhall; trustee for 5 years, George P. Bullard; standing committee, Ellery Peabody, T. E. Stutson, Arthur T. Lovett, Mrs. A. S. Pratt, Mrs. S. H. Whidden. A new hymn book was adopted.

REV. DR. LITTLE

Death of Noted Congregationalist Minister

Rev. Arthur Little, D.D., for twenty-three years pastor of the Second Congregational Church of Dorchester and pastor emeritus since his resignation, died Sunday at his home, 150 Mount Vernon street, West Newton, after an illness of two weeks, due to a nervous breakdown. He was one of the most efficient and popular Congregational ministers of Boston. He was descended through six generations of New England ancestry. His first progenitor in this country was George Little, a tailor of London, who settled in Newbury, Mass., in 1646.

Arthur Little was born in Webster, N. H., May 24, 1837, the son of Simon B. and Harriet (Boyd) Little. He was graduated from Dartmouth in 1860, and later from Andover Theological Seminary and the Princeton Theological Seminary. He was ordained in 1863 and then entered the Civil War as chaplain in the First Vermont Heavy Artillery, serving until July 7, 1865, when he was discharged.

He took his first pulpit in October, 1865, at Bedford, N. H., remaining there three years, when in November, 1868, he started for new fields in the West, accepting a call to the First Congregational Church at Fond du Lac, Wis. After ten years of service there, he went to Chicago, as pastor of the New England Church, where he remained eleven years, coming East again in January, 1889, to become pastor of the Second Congregational Church in Dorchester. For twenty-three years he held this pastorate, resigning it only when he gave up active work in 1912, at the age of seventy-five years. He was at the time of his death pastor emeritus there.

Dr. Little was active in church circles in the West, and was many times moderator of the Illinois State Association meetings. He preached the annual sermons before the American Board and American Missionary societies.

Outside of distinctly church work Dr. Little was active in many other ways. He was trustee of the Ripon College, Wisconsin, 1869-85; president of the trustees of Bradford Academy since 1890; president of the board of visitors of Andover Theological Seminary for several years, since 1897; a member of the American Board of Foreign Missions; vice president of the American Tract Society; moderator of the Congregational National Council in 1883; a delegate to the International Council of Congregational Churches at London in 1891, and held other positions of prominence and responsibility.

He was conspicuous for his work in civic righteousness, temperance, and moral reform, and had been a frequent visitor to the State House to give opinions on matters relating to these problems. He was a familiar figure before the Legislature against a secular Sabbath.

Dr. Little was always a contributor to a number of religious publications and during the last two years wrote many articles. He was a member and chaplain of the Loyal Legion, a member of Benjamin Stone Post, G. A. R., of Dorchester, the Winthrop Club of Boston, and the Congregational Club of Boston of which he was formerly president. Since his retirement he had lived quietly in Newton, although he was often asked to make addresses and join in religious enterprises.

Dr. Little married twice, the first time in Bedford, N. H., where Miss Laura E. Frost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Frost, became his wife on Aug. 15, 1863. After her death he married in February, 1898, Miss Elizabeth Wales of Dorchester and she, with a daughter, Mrs. John Thompson of Portland, Me., survives him.

Almost 400 ministers of different denominations, a large body from the Legion of Honor, members of Post 68, G. A. R., a delegation from the American Board of Foreign Missions, a group of representatives from Bradford Academy of Georgetown and several hundred other persons, including past and present parishioners, gathered in the Second Congregational Church, Codman sq., Dorchester, Wednesday afternoon at the funeral services.

Four ministers of the Congregational denomination officiated, with the present pastor, Rev. Jason Noble Pierce, as director of the services. He was assisted by Rev. A. Z. Conrad, D.D., Park Street Church, who offered prayer; Rev. Raymond Calkins, of the Shepard Memorial Church, Cambridge, who offered the invocation and read from the Scriptures, and Rev. George A. Gordon, D.D., Old South Church, who gave the eulogy, touching on the life and character of the deceased.

The choir of Old South Church sang "Christian, the Morn' Breaks Sweetly Over Thee," "The Lord My Pasture Shall Prepare" and "Lead, Kindly Light." Henry E. Wry, organist of Old South Church, presided at the organ.

Six of the senior deacons of the church, who had been closely associated with Dr. Little in his long ministry, were the pallbearers.

As the funeral procession filed out "The Lost Chord" was given by the bugler of the Loyal Legion with the organ accompaniment. The interment was at Forest Hills Cemetery, where the commitment service was conducted by Rev. Jason Noble Pierce. Prayers had previously been said at the Newton home, Rev. Abraham J. Muste of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, officiating.

From 3.30 to 4 o'clock, after the remains had been brought from Newton, the body lay in state in the church.

NATIONAL PROHIBITION

for I favored the right of communities to vote liquor out if they so desired—the fallacy of local option. I vetoed a prohibition measure passed by the Legislature of Tennessee.

"My message on this question was printed as campaign material and spread broadcast over the country in liquor journals and books, and was used as arguments by those who were contesting the advance of the prohibition sentiment. This message was the child of my brain in which I took pride.

"But I say to you now, fully conscious of the meaning and responsibility of the declaration, that if this message has encouraged lawlessness or even been sought as a refuge for violators of the law, if it had to stand as my last expression on the liquor question, I would consume it in the living fires and erase it forever from the minds and memories of men.

"My life has had deep sorrows. My soul has been tossed on the waves of angry seas. My nature has been profoundly touched and stirred. I have seen the trail of liquor in the criminal courts where I have prosecuted crime.
I know and have been a participant in its paralyzing and corroding influence in the social and public life of our National Capitol. Going through life I have seen it drag down many of the associates of my boyhood, blasting their hopes and consigning them to untimely graves. I have seen its forked lightning strike my firstborn child of my young manhood, and I have borne with him the suffering and tried to help him in his brave but sometimes melancholy struggle for redemption. At last I have felt its foul and stealthy blow as it turned on me
in its deadly and shaming wrath—upon men who had pleaded before the people for its very existence.

"Out of this has come the profound conviction that on the question with which I had to deal in my public career, all my arguments and all my conclusions, so far as they excused or justified the moral right or policy of the state to legalize the sale of liquor, and thereby give sanction to its ravages on society, were only the empty and hopeless statements of propositions which had no verity or application to a thing wholly and essentially evil, and concerning which no principle or right or order or liberty should ever be evoked for its existence.

"No state licenses brothels or gaming. All laws condemn them. No man defends them, yet they have more reason for their existence than the licensed saloon, which breeds and supports them; for the saloon stands in all its enormity as the open, inviting, convenient and flagrant expression of a desire which is not only acquired but which represents nothing but waste in its acquisition. Civilized society can offer no excuse for the temptation which it sets before humanity, for in itself and of itself drunkenness is a sin without a reason; a degrading crime without a recompense, a promoter and prolific breeder of other sins and crimes which sap the strength and wealth of men and nations. Abstinence is therefore the only guarantee of safety, and the destruction of the liquor traffic is the only guarantee of abstinence. I have never known a human being whom the use of liquor helped.

"The liquor traffic is either right or wrong. If right it ought not to be fought anywhere, if wrong it ought not to be temporized with. I believe in a person-wide, county-wide, statewide, nation-wide and world-wide prohibition that will forever put away
the accursed thing.

"I used to think you could regulate liquor, but it can't be done. You had just as soon undertake to regulate the devil or a Mexican revolution. Liquor first thinks how to evade, rather than obey the law. The liquor traffic is only a band of organized law breakers.
Evidence abundant proves this. If liquor is legalized from a state, the saloon people take advantage of the prohibitory laws and find ways to violate the state regulations. They do the same thing when a county or a town votes out the stuff. It won't respect the law. That's the very reason we are going to ask the United States Government to take this dirty thing by the throat and choke its very life out.

"I never heard of an honest thief, and never saw an honest crook or respectable saloon. The only decent saloon I ever saw had its doors closed.
Sometimes the saloon is spoken of as the 'poor man's club.' It is a club that beats out the brain and health of the poor man and bruises and breaks
the heart of his wife and takes away bread from his child. God pity the poor man who thinks the saloon is his friend.

"It has been said that prohibition does not prohibit. But the liquor traffic does not use this argument in good faith, and its real fear is that prohibition will prohibit. It first evades the law and then asserts its own violation as the proof of failure. But no law will enforce itself and no honest effort will always have to be made.

"It has been demonstrated that prohibition does prohibit and the more it prohibits, the more it is respected by the people who opposed it.

"If we have no sorrows, liquor creates them; and if we have them it increases them and makes them harder to bear.

"It is the thief of character.

"It invades the ballot box and corrupts it.

"It weakens the administration of justice.

"It exacts a tribute of two billion dollars from the American people annually.

"It is the polluted stream which mingles with the current of public affairs, and poisons all it touches.

"If you would know more of its black and blighted record, look at the long and sad procession of its victims.
Go to prison and read the tragedies there. Go to the police stations and find the detestable, see them moving and shuffling in and out of the misshapen lives. Go to the divorce courts and hear the causes which dissolve the bonds of wedlock, and send families adrift. Go to homes where the serpent has left its slimy trail on the lintels of the door. Hear the oaths and curses the revellings and imprecations from thickened tongues and maddened brains.

"Liquor! I hate it for the tears it has caused to flow, for the blood it has shed, for the homes it has wrecked and men it has ruined."

MR. BAMBURGH'S LECTURE

Considerable interest has been aroused in the lecture on illuminated manuscripts by Mr. Bamburgh at the Newton Club, which will be preceded by an exhibition illustrative of the making of books before the days of printing and the public is particularly invited to attend, the entertainment committee of the Newton Club having determined not to limit the audience to members of the club.

We have been asked whether this lecture is in the line of a technical talk upon this subject. We are assured that Mr. Bamburgh's treatment of the subject is entirely a popular one. As he has already delivered this lecture in and about New York, this being the twenty-sixth presentation of it, the effectiveness of the subject from the standpoint of the romances attending many of the great books of the mediaeval period, as well as the wonderful beauty of the miniaturists'
art of those days, ensures the entertainment of the audience throughout the lecture. In discussing the matter with Mr. Bamburgh, he said,

"I have found it difficult to prevent extending my descriptions of too many volumes in preparing this lecture. The wonderful number of rare and superbly painted books which have had romantic careers makes it difficult to do more than choose some of the most notable from among them to describe, and, while I shall attempt to show some pages from all of the works which I have chosen to tell about, I am also choosing as wide a range of subjects and miniatures as possible so that a comprehensive knowledge of the subject will be obtained by my audience.

"The art which is represented in these rare volumes is really the foundation of the art of the great masters,
and the pictures which were painted in the miniatures are the main foundation of our knowledge of those earlier days which were recorded in these hand-written books. There is very little known about illuminated manuscripts, and yet it is so simple a subject that it becomes interesting to young and old alike, and I have already found that it invariably leads my hearers to a more intimate study of the work of those old scribes, illuminators and miniaturists. The love of beautiful pictures is inherent in mankind, and beautiful pictures
these certainly are."

"The lecture will be given at 8.15 on Wednesday, April 21, and the exhibition will be opened at 6.30 in club parlors.

CORT THEATRE—On Monday evening last the very newest creation
there in musical comedy, "A Modern Eve," was presented at the Cort Theatre, Boston, and met with enthusiastic approval. So favorable indeed, was the verdict of the public that the stay of the pretty newcomer may be prolonged far into the summer. The opera is in two parts, or acts, which are laid in Aix Les Bains, France at the present time. There are fifteen musical numbers, and ten dancing numbers, all new. The company is a large one and all of the principal members of the cast of "A Modern Eve" are well-known to theatre-goers of Boston and vicinity. The story of the play is intended to poke fun at the woman's suffrage movement in a good natured manner.

FINE CONCERT

A concert with an unusual array of talent will be given on the afternoon of Monday, April 26 at three o'clock in the ball room of the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, for the benefit of the Francis E. Willard Settlement. The artists include Mme. Rappold of the Metropolitan Opera House, soprano, Ada Sassoli, harpist, who has been engaged to assist Geraldine Farrar for next season, Lucile Orrell, 'cellist and Heinrich Gebhard, pianist. Among the patronesses from Newton are Mrs. W.
C. Bray, Mrs. E. E. Blodgett, Mrs. H.
B. Burrage, Mrs. F. S. Blodgett, Mrs.
H. B. Burrage, Mrs. F. A. Day, Mrs. G. A.
Frost, Miss Carrie Freeman, Mrs. C.
S. Houghton, Mrs. C. E. Hatfield, Mrs.
B. S. Palmer, Mrs. F. W. Renick, Mrs.
F. W. Stearns and Mrs. E. S. Webster.

The Francis E. Willard Settlement embraces three quite distinct departments of activity. During the year one hundred self-respecting young working women earning low wages find a safe pleasant home at the Francis E. Willard House, 44 Chambers street. Three dollars per week covers all charges for board, heated room and laundry for those who earn $5.00 or less. Every effort is made to have a beneficial home atmosphere.

So many older women came to the Settlement, needing a home and help,
that when the Settlement in 1910 purchased a fine farm and opened Llew-sac Lodge at Bedford for a large temporary home for worthy better class
women, it supplied a long felt need.
Women of good character, out of work, out of funds, or needing a rest are welcomed to a truly beautiful home both in the material and spiritual sense.

The Lodge is an industrial centre
and many are the patrons who can testify to the motto: "Perfection our aim"
which is being exemplified in its loom work, rug weaving, preserving, and what not.

In the third department one finds why it is called a Settlement. In the vernacular of a boy explaining to a new lad what the Settlement was, "It is a place where if you get into any sort of trouble they will settle it for you."

The Settlement has six resident workers and many volunteers who assist in its varied work. The most prominent life of the Settlement neighborhood work is with its one thousand members who weekly attend the clubs and classes. The membership card reads, "The Settlement stands for the highest ideals and aims to have all its members working toward the nobler and purest manhood and womanhood."

SAM SMALL

To Speak at Newton Upper Falls

The big national prohibition campaign, the second in a series in which the Anti-Saloon League plans to invade Massachusetts throughout the coming year, will reach Newton Upper Falls, Wednesday, April 21.

Sam Small of Georgia, one of the foremost figures in the country-wide fight for temperance will be the principle speaker on that day for the League which is promoting the campaigns for a saloonless nation. The meeting will be held in the Methodist Church, at 7.45 in the evening.

Sam Small is a speaker of exceptional ability. He is one of the group of big orators which is to invade this state for the second time this year.

The present campaign prefaces, the Anti-Saloon League officials say, a colossal struggle for national prohibition in Massachusetts to be waged the coming year. They declare that the state will be swept by the rising tide of temperance sentiment, and that license will be the dominant issue within a year—an issue to which other political activity will be second.

Superintendent Arthur J. Davis of the League stated that national prohibition is only a matter of time in this country. He declares that it is the purpose of the League during the coming series of campaigns to mold the scattered no-license vote into a fighting organization.

A. O. U. W.

The second in the series of socials given by General Hull Lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen of Massachusetts, took place at Dennison Hall, Newtonville, on Friday evening, April 9th, following a regular meeting of the lodge, and was a brilliant and most enjoyable occasion, and largely attended by members and their lady friends. It embraced whist and dancing, the music, which was of high order, being furnished by Knight's Orchestra. After refreshments were served, souvenirs were presented to Mrs. Wilfred A. Clark and Mr. Charles
D. Cabot, who made the highest scores at the whist tables.

The growing popularity of these socials is most gratifying to the lodge and it is probable that several more will be given during the year. Members of the Order are looking forward to the Class Initiation, which will take place on the evening of April 23rd, when degrees will be conferred upon a large class of candidates from the several lodges in this district, by the Officers of General Hull Lodge. A large attendance is expected, which will include the Grand Master Workman and the Grand Lodge Officers.

THE MAY BREAKFAST

Social Service League Announce Annual Event to Take Place, May 8th

For the third time the call goes out to the citizens of Newton, summoning them to a May Breakfast. Already this event has become an inevitable part of our lives, and we expect it almost as much confidence as we expect the spring itself. Fortunately every year finds us better prepared to avoid our former mistakes, with the result, we hope, of making us more efficient with every breakfast. We realize that we must make progress smoothly for the hurried business men, and yet not neglect the wives and children, who also have a right to hot and comfortable breakfasts. This year we hope to give you all well and quickly. The many workers engaged in organizing the May Breakfast have taken hold of the task with more determination than ever. This third breakfast is the most successful of all.

Please help us by buying your tickets early, so that we may know how many of you to expect. Five villages have joined in the movement this year, and on the 8th May, from 7 until 9 o'clock, will be breakfast at a small fee. The following churches will be used, selected for their central location, and their accommodation:—

St. John Church, Centre and Church Street, Newton.

Church of the New Jerusalem, Highland Avenue, Newtonville.

First Unitarian Church, Washington Street, West Newton.

Methodist Episcopal Church, Langley Road, Newton Centre.

First Congregational Church, Lincoln Street, Newton Highlands.

Auburndale will not have a breakfast this year, but is raising money in another way. Auburndale people are cordially urged to patronize the West Newton Breakfast.

Waban has organized an afternoon card party, and hopes to raise a substantial sum, while Wellesley Hills, Newton Lower Falls and Chestnut Hill are raising money by subscription.

The breakfast is given as always for the benefit of the Social Service League of the Newton Hospital Aid Association. This Hospital Social Service work is increasing in scope each year, and is proving its value. It provides convalescent care, supplies nursing when needed, also clothing and nourishing food, which is often necessary to the patient after leaving the hospital. It is a work which deserves the interest of every Newton citizen.

ELEANOR R. FROST,
For the May Breakfast Committee.

ICE HOUSES BURN

$45000 Fire Loss Yesterday at Newton Centre

The most costly fire Newton has experienced for many a day took place yesterday morning when box 76 was rung for a blaze in the ice houses of the Garden City Ice Co. and the Crystal Lake Ice Company on Norwood Avenue, Newton Centre. A second and then a third alarm were immediately sounded and the entire fire fighting force of the city were summoned, together with additional apparatus secured by telephone from Watertown, Waltham and Wellesley.

The ice plant is located on the easterly shore of Crystal Lake and with a good breeze blowing from across the water the entire place was soon in flames and the sparks and cinders were scattered all over the thickly settled portion of Newton Centre and were even noticed on Hunnewell Hill in Newton nearly two miles away. The fire broke out in the ice storage house, which was a two-story building, and the flames spread rapidly to the other buildings on the site. The fire department was called and the fire was fought for several hours, but the loss was estimated at $45,000.

The fire is thought to have started from a spark of a switching locomotive which had been working nearby that morning. All of the ice houses with the exception of the stable and the office building were destroyed at a roughly estimated loss of $15,000. The 15,000 tons of ice in the buildings is ruined on which the loss is about $30,000 making a total loss of about $45,000.

When the fire was nearly extinguished one of the walls collapsed and Arthur McCarthy of Hose 2 and Edward Hennrikus of Engine 3 were caught under it. The former was knocked down and both his legs were badly crushed. He was rushed to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. Hennrikus was only slightly bruised and he was able to continue his work at the fire.

The owners of the ice property burned are G. D. Milled and B. S. Hatch Co. the latter being a silent partner. The property was to have been taken over by a newly formed corporation, known as the Crystal Lake Ice Company, capitalized at $65,000 yesterday afternoon. The Brotherhood Realty and Construction Company was also involved in the buying.

MUSICAL

The third of the series of half-hour musicals will be given at the Newton Methodist Church next Sunday evening at 8.15 following the regular church service. The program will consist of "Introduction to Phantasia in A minor," Grabert (organ); "O Divine Redeemer," Gounod, (voice, violin, organ, piano); "Andante" from piano concerto, Grieg (piano, organ); "Adagio," Becker (violin, organ); Miss Elsa Leonard, organ, Miss Grace Leonard, contralto, Miss Florence Ferguson, violin, Miss Gladys Barber Walley, piano.

CLEAN UP NEWTON

Auburndale Woman's Club Take Lead in Arrangements for Clean Up Week

Auburndale, with its recently organized Woman's Club and with the cooperation of the Village Improvement Society, is taking the lead in a campaign to "Clean Up Newton" movement, which will culminate in the official "Clean Up Week" of the city, which Mayor Childs has fixed for May 3-8.

The Auburndale movement, should be copied in each village of the city, places great reliance upon the school children to assist in the work and the entire village is to be divided into districts, each of which will be in charge of a boy scout or a campfire girl. One lady will go into each of the school rooms of the village and explain to the children the subject and purpose of the clean-up campaign and enlist their assistance in the work. Nailed-pointed sticks for the picking up of all waste paper and refuse in the public streets and squares will be distributed among the school children, and a "campaign" badge as well.

The school children will be divided into groups each to be under the direction of a boy scout or campfire girl, who will report each day's progress to the general clean-up committee. Individual property owners are to be urged to take it upon themselves to see that their grounds are out in as cleanly a condition as the streets of the village are to be.

In fact every property-owner, householder and schoolchild is to be enlisted in this campaign against the common enemy, dirt, and if everyone will do their share the work will be carried out with a vim which will mean much in the entire elimination of disease-breeding dirt and rubbish from the city during the summer months to come.

The elimination of the dirt and rubbish-heap in the backyard means to a great extent the elimination of the fly which has a strong attachment for the garbage and refuse heap. A great deal could be accomplished along this particular line, if over the ordinary manure pile which now abounds in the back yard garden, one pound of powdered borax is sprinkled which results in no loss of value to the manure but is a most effective remedy against the pile being used as a breeding place for flies.

Let each citizen of the city in common with the residents of Auburndale look to his own door-yard during the week of May 1, and with a long pull and a strong pull all together we will have not only a cleaner Auburndale but sightlier Newton as well.

SAM SMALL HERE

Noted Evangelist Talks on Prohibition at Upper Falls

Sam Small of Georgia, versatile, eloquent, made the assertion at the Methodist church, Newton Upper Falls, that National Prohibition was near a realization in this country, and turned his oratory to a rigging attack upon the liquor traffic.

The tremendous sweep of the temperance movement, whose tide has already reached Massachusetts was vividly portrayed. It was announced that the opening of this second series of campaigns for a saloonless nation, conducted under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League, had been featured with great success. The example set by other nations in employing national prohibition was praised and the people were urged to push the temperance sentiment along.

Small, editor, soldier, orator, brought the word of success of the great movement in the South and West where 18 states have lined up for prohibition. Much enthusiasm was shown. He attacked the infringement of state rights by the liquor interests through the use of internal revenue to secure government licenses to conduct liquor business in states and sections which have voted for no-license. He assailed the system of licensing the saloon, declaring that if the profits to the municipalities were removed, the liquor business would cease. He showed the economic waste.

In part he said: "This national prohibition issue is the pivot upon which will turn the direction and destiny of our civilization. A sober nation will exalt itself but a drunken nation will destroy itself. We cannot remain permanently half-drunk and half-sober. We have come to a time when we must choose the milk-white flag of prohibition or the black flag of barrooms, booze and beastialism."

"Alexander Hamilton in 1790 denounced the taking of revenue from liquors as 'inconsistent with the genius of the American people'; and Thomas Jefferson, as president, procured the repeal of such revenues because they promoted a vicious trade and merchandise of the citizenry of the nation."

"Yet public revenues constitute the main strength and sole bulwark of the degenerating and destroying trade in liquors. Test that fact. Deny to town, city, state or nation, the right to collect a cent of taxes from the traffic in any of its forms and see how quickly American commonsense will give the trade its death rattle on every foot of soil between oceans."

"Everyone knows that the traffic fights men, women and children; that it is the enemy of the home, the school and church; that it disturbs peace, degrades labor and decimates property; it is satanism enthroned in a saloon; (Continued on Page 3)

DEATH OF NEWTON DRUGGIST

Mr. Fred A. Hubbard Passes Away at Summer Home in Duxbury

Mr. Fred A. Hubbard, for many years a leading druggist in this city, died last Monday evening at his summer home in South Duxbury from an attack of heart trouble. Mr. Hubbard has not been in good health for the past two years and had gone to Duxbury about a week before in order to rest. The last attack took place within a day of his arrival and was recognized at once as of the most serious nature.

Mr. Hubbard was born at Manchester, N. H., and was 56 years of age. He was employed for some years as a clerk in the drug store formerly conducted by Mr. Charles F. Rogers in Brackett's block, and about 27 years ago, in company with Mr. Thomas W. Proctor, purchased the business from Mr. Rogers and moved it across the street into the Lancaster block. Mr. Hubbard subsequently bought out Mr. Proctor's interest and moved into his present store in Associates block on Centre street.

He has always taken a deep interest in public matters, served for 2 years as a member of the board of aldermen of Newton, and was the first president of the Newton Business Men's Association, and its successor, the Newton Board of Trade.

For two terms he was a member of the State Board of Registration in Pharmacy and its secretary. He was on the legislative committee of the Massachusetts Pharmaceutical Association and a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association, the Boston Druggists' Association and the Boston Association of Retail Druggists.

He was a member of the Newton Methodist Church, of Dalhousie Lodge of Masons and of the Hunnewell Club. He married 35 years ago Miss Bertha Whitney of Watertown. She survives him, with one son, George Whitney Hubbard of Newton, and one daughter, Mrs. Florence Whitcomb of Oxford, O.

The funeral services held yesterday afternoon in the Newton M. E. Church were largely attended, with delegations present from the many organizations of which Mr. Hubbard was a member.

The death of Mr. Fred A. Hubbard will be seriously felt in Newton, where his influence was a potent factor in business circles. The same energy, enthusiasm and executive ability which he had built up a successful business, was characteristic of all his relations, public and private, and made him one of the leaders in the community. A man of positive convictions, he was never lukewarm in anything he undertook, and the positions of honor and trust bestowed upon him, both in this city and in the state, give ample testimony of his standing with his fellow men. The Newton Business Men's Association and its successor, the Newton Board of Trade, were formed largely thru his efforts, and he took a deep interest in the work of those organizations. His geniality, tolerance of the opinions of others as well as his influence for the betterment of the community will be greatly missed.

The appeal of the Newton Civic Council for friends of temperance to attend the next meeting of the aldermen when the question of granting pony express licenses is to be considered, is apparently based on the theory that a large attendance of citizens will have some effect on the action of the aldermen. This is an entire misapprehension of the case, as the Graphic is positive that no such demonstration, either by the friends or foes of this or any other question on which our city government takes action, has any effect whatever on the final result. Members of the Newton board of aldermen are made of sterner stuff and vote as they believe the interests of the city warrants, and not because of the presence or absence of citizens at such meetings.

Mr. William F. Bacon will receive the thanks of the residents of the Newton district for his kindness in allowing the fire alarm bell and striker to be placed in the tower of Eliot Block. The fire bell has been greatly missed since the old armory was torn down.

The burning of the Newton Centre ice houses, with the many small roof fires caused by nearby houses by the flying embers, is a splendid argument for the friends of the new ordinance regarding non-combustible roof coverings.

While the May Breakfasts and Clean Up Week have no connection, they will both be considerably in the public eye for the next few days.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

A most successful celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the vested choir of Grace Church, was held last Sunday evening, April 18, by the present and past members of the choir, 51 of whom took part. Many of them came from New York and Pittsburg to be present, and if it had not been the day before a holiday, it is certain that they would have had to use the front pews of the church for the choir.

There was a social meeting at 4.30, with a rehearsal at 5, followed by a supper at 6.15. Letters were read from Mr. Day, Mr. Barrell, and Rev. Mr. Smith. The company then adjourned to the parlors where Dr. MacLure presented Mr. Hanson a purse contributed by vestrymen and the present choir of Grace Church, in recognition of his faithful services, he having at this Anniversary completed twenty-five years of continued service.

In singing the processional and recessional hymns the choir marched around the church. The service consisted of Prelude: Gloria, Torjussen; Processional: Dykes; Vision, Bennett; Magnificat, Nune; Dimittis, Garrett; Hymn: Holden; Anthem: "To These O Country," Eichberg; Orison: Hymn, Barnby; Recessional: Hopkins; Postlude: "Caprice in B," Johnson.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

With but 50 unreported matters in the hands of committees at the beginning of the week out of something over 2200 measures actually filed, there is a strong feeling that prorogation will be reached within the next three weeks provided new complications over the railroad situation do not delay matters. The Railroad committee has reported a bill for the reorganization of the Boston and Maine Railroad which is the result of a compromise between the various conflicting interests and will probably be acceptable to the General Court, although doubtful things are always uncertain.

The opinion of the Supreme Court on the taxation question has caused the Governor to recommend five important changes in existing laws, the passage of the pending constitutional amendment, giving additional power to the Tax Commissioner, making compulsory returns of personal property, retaining to the state the remnants of the former corporation taxes which are now distributed to municipalities where the stockholders reside, and requiring banks to give information to the tax commissioners as to holders of bonds. The constitutional amendment ought to be adopted without question, but there is strong objection to legislation which would compel the enforcement of our present arbitrary and unjust tax laws. Such legislation ought to await the result of the referendum on the constitutional amendment, and if, for any reason that important measure should be rejected, it would then be time enough to more rigidly enforce the present laws.

The bill to abolish the sliding gas scale in Boston was defeated this week. Mr. Bothfield being one of the speakers against the measure. Mr. Allen favored the so-called "red flag" bill which would allow Harvard students to use their college colors in parades, etc., and it was passed by the House.

The attempt in the Senate to reconsider the liquor transportation bill this week was defeated and it is now before the Governor for action.

Practical Politics this week gives Mr. Bothfield considerable credit for the passage of the bill providing for an additional station in the Boylston street subway at Arlington street. It says, "Rep. Henry E. Bothfield of Newton did an excellent piece of work in reporting and securing the passage of the act and in doing it he performed a service for the metropolitan district that should merit consideration for him by the people living here whenever in the future he wishes to ask for reciprocity."

The bill to establish a half mill tax for school purposes and which would affect this city to the extent of some $33,000 was defeated in the House on Tuesday, 79 to 125.

ILLUMINATED MANUSCRIPTS

Lecture and Exhibition of Mediaeval Examples and Modern Copies, at the Newton Club

The large audience which gathered at the Newton Club last Wednesday evening to inspect the exhibition of early specimens and modern copies of illuminated initials and borders from mediaeval volumes and facsimiles of historical miniatures was deeply interested in the display of VII-

XVIII century art. There were some fifty examples of the illuminator's art by William C. Bamburgh, the lecturer of the evening. Many were of his own original composition and his adaptations of mediaeval forms and conventional designs; others were his own copies on vellum of important historical initials and borders. The precision of the human hand in interlacing forms and delicate outlines, as well as the rich flat surfaces of various tones and shades of water-colors, created a great deal of admiration by those who visited the exhibition.

Among the notable features of the exhibition were the pages of a mediaeval poem "Gul D'Uisel, a Ballad of a Jongleur of France"; a copy of Austin Dobson's "To a Missal of the Thirteenth Century" illuminated in gold and colors on vellum; and a number of pieces signed by their authors, such as the wedding poem by William J. Henderson of New York, poems by James Russell Lowell, Thomas Bailey Aldrich, and others, the rich color work being done by the lecturer.

The comprehensive exhibit of facsimiles of the work of the miniaturists during the ten centuries ending with the arrival of printing was exceedingly interesting. So, too, was the remarkably collection of 80 stereopticon slides which the speaker has gathered to illustrate his lecture. Photographed with great care from originals in the Boston, New York and other public libraries, as well as in private libraries rarely visible to the general public, and from rare originals in various parts of the world, the pages exhibited on the canvas aptly and adequately illustrated the text of Mr. Bamburgh's lecture, and provided his audience with a rare opportunity to comprehend the immense artistic labors of the illuminators and miniaturists of mediaeval times.

The romantic stories which he told about some of the books in the libraries of Robert Hoe, J. P. Morgan and other princely collectors, the tales of the fabulous prices which such books originally cost, and which they still bring in auction sales, kept the audience in wonderment throughout the evening.

The lecture as Mr. Bamburgh has revised it is highly instructive and entertaining, at times dealing with the humor of early painters and being replete with information rarely obtainable except after much research and study that the entire subject is one which all intelligent persons should be somewhat informed upon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Public interest in the subject of Christian Science, is so much on the increase, that the announcement of an authoritative lecture on this subject will be welcomed by many. Mr. Clarence W. Chadwick, C.S.B., of Omaha, Neb., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, Boston, will deliver a lecture on Christian Science at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, Sunday evening, April 25th, 1915, at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the lecture is to correct any misapprehensions regarding Christian Science, and restate some of its leading truths. The public is cordially invited to attend. The same lecture will be heard at Asbury Temple, Waltham, on Monday evening, April 26th.

DEATH OF MR. PYLE

One of the saddest events of the year, was the death on Wednesday at the Newton Hospital of Mr. Richard Harold Pyle, who was taken there on Tuesday ill with scarlet fever. Mr. Pyle was 24 years of age and was born in Watertown, altho he had lived in this city for most of his life. He was employed by Mr. G. Albert Aston and was a man of fine character and had hosts of friends. Mr. Pyle was married on New Year's Day to Miss Viola M. Harris of North Acton, and they had just begun housekeeping on Morse street. Mr. Pyle is survived by his widow, mother, three brothers and a sister. Funeral services take place this afternoon.

The Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association's edition of the Boston American will be issued next week Saturday, April 17. A great wealth of original material has been secured.

MRS. HALE TO SPEAK

Mrs. Beatrice Forbes Robertson Hale will make an address Monday evening at the Mason School hall, Newton Centre under the auspices of the Newton Equal Suffrage League.

Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, niece of Sir Johnston and daughter of Mr. San Forbes-Robertson, grandchild of John Forbes-Robertson well known as an art critic in London and, on her mother's side, of Joseph Knight, P. S., editor of the "London Notes and Queries," and the foremost dramatic critic of his day—it was but natural that this, the youngest member of a family that for three generations has held a distinguished place in English dramatic and literary life, should find herself on the stage early in life. Miss Forbes-Robertson was seventeen when she first appeared under Sir Henry Irving in his revival of "Robespierre." She has since acted with Sir Charles Wyndham, Sir John Hare and Sir George Alexander, and has played Ophelia, Desdemona and other leading parts with Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson and Ophelia with Sir Herbert Tree. She created the part of Marion Alardyce in Pinero's "Letty" and played Muriel Eden in the London revival of "The Gay Lord Denax." For the autumn of 1907 Miss Ellen Terry brought Miss Forbes-Robertson to America with her and she returned during the two following years under the direction of Mr. Charles Frohman in "The Mollusc" and "The Morals of Marcus." She then joined the new theatre company in New York for its first season. At the close of which she married Mr. Swinburne Hale, a New York lawyer, and thus became an American citizen. Since 1910 Mrs. Hale has ceased to act and has devoted herself to lecturing upon poetry, the drama, English and American politics with special reference to the rise of modern democracy and on Woman Suffrage and Feminism in their various phases.

The summer of 1914 she has spent in England in writing a book on the Feminist movement which is about to be published under the title of "What Women Want."

Mrs. Hale has been widely identified with the Woman's movement both in England and America, where she has spoken for Woman's Suffrage in twenty-one states.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Graphic:

I was glad to see in your last issue an appeal to the Newton Improvement Society, (if it has any longer any existence), to take some action, to rouse some interest in securing for this part of Newton the strip of land along the Charles River at the foot of Maple, Jefferson and St. James streets for a public park, not a playground, nor a base ball diamond, but a park, a place where those who enjoy nature, with a view of distant hills, and the charm of a placid winding river might so easily go and enjoy all that this plot of ground offers.

They should act quickly for now the "hand of improvement" in the shape of a tenement house has taken part of the land and others will soon follow and the chance of keeping such a rare spot for us and those who come after us will be gone forever.

Speak again to them, to all of those who live in this part of the town to stir themselves to avert this great danger!

N. H. S. TENNIS

Newton High School expects to have a formidable tennis team this year and it seems probable that one of the strongest teams in the scholastic ranks will be developed. Stafford Brown has been appointed captain and Lawrence Rice manager. Eight dual matches have been arranged. The Newton boys expect to play on the courts of the Newton Centre Squash Racquet Club this year and practice will be started next week. Stafford Brown, Leonard Jackson and Lawrence Rice will play the singles matches according to the present plan. Captain Brown and Mark Noble pairing for the first doubles, with Chase Kerner and Gerald Daiger teaming for the second doubles. If any of these boys falls to live up to expectations a different makeup will result. The date with Brookline High is pending and no answer has been received in regard to Somerville's date. The schedule:

May 4—Huntington, at Newton.
 May 7—Brookline at Newton (pending).
 May 19—English High, at Newton.
 May 22—Andover, at Andover.
 May 28—Arlington High, at Newton.
 June 4—Quincy High, at Newton.
 June 9—St. Mark's, at Southboro.
 June 11—Quincy High, at Quincy.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—"The Law of the Land" has made a tremendous sensation at the Majestic Theatre, and will enter upon its second big week at this house next Monday, April 26th. Everybody seems to agree that George Broadhurst has never sent to Boston such a genuinely vital and human play as this. It is a play once seen will make you wish to see it again. It is full of thrills and tears and laughs. There are tears that end in a laugh, and laughs that end in tears. The play is said to be a masterpiece in construction, and superbly acted. Certainly not since "The Third Degree" has a play made so profound an impression upon those who are interested in social conditions of today. As in other recent successful plays the piece has a palpitation with every emotion that sweeps its cyclonic way across the stage. As a drama it is vital and human. It is the stark tragedy of souls that have been stripped of conventions of every-day life, and that stands forth as naked as the day when man and woman and love were created.

SHUBERT THEATRE—"It's so different," is what they all say of "Tonight's the Night," the big musical comedy success as presented so successfully at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, where the fourth week of its engagement begins next Monday, April 26th. It is so entirely in contrast to the customary American brand of musical comedy that it is positively refreshing. Local theatregoers have never before had an opportunity of seeing the London Gaiety musical comedy without going to the world metropolis for that purpose. The daintiness, delicate charm and essential politeness which always characterize Gaiety productions and which have never been successfully reproduced in American presentations of Gaiety pieces, are in evidence in this production.

SOME ODOR

Two men were disputing as to which smelled the worst, a goat or a tramp. They decided to leave it to the judge. "All right," said the judge, "trot in your animals." They brought in the goat and the judge faint. Then they brought in the tramp and the goat faint. —Clint H. Dunn, Randlett, Okla.

"FAKE CHARITY SOLICITORS"

A large company of ladies assembled in the parlors of Eliot Church Tuesday morning at the meeting of the Church and Home Department of the Woman's Association, when Mr. Lloyd B. Hayes, Assistant Secretary of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, gave a highly interesting and enlightening discourse on "Fake Charity Solicitors."

Mr. Hayes pointed out the various forms of this system of soliciting, which is being carried on, and related many personal experiences in which he had discovered the imposters. One of the most common of the fake charities is the magazine frauds, where women go about selling magazines to help support a so-called nursery. In one such instance which came under his observation, Mr. Hayes made a thorough investigation and found that the nursery did not even exist. He visited the place and interviewed the woman who claimed to run it. There was a large room, small tables and chairs, toys scattered all around the room, but no children. The woman said that the children had gone home and appeared rather evasive about answering questions.

When Mr. Hayes remarked that the neighborhood did not look like a working community, and inquired as to how the poor people came to be about the nursery, she said that the children told each other about it.

When asked to show a report and financial statement the woman was unable to do so.

Mr. Hayes said that as a matter of fact the story of the nursery was made up out of whole cloth, and it was a complete fraud. He presented the matter to the postal authorities and it was "shown up."

In another case of a magazine fraud, he ran it down and discovered that it had its source in a shoe-store in Jersey City. The man admitted that he was the publisher of the magazine, and there was a man in Boston authorized to sell it, and these two men got a living out of it.

There was also a labor organization working all over the eastern part of the country and the man who was running it had been here a long time before he was arrested.

The organization had a membership of 25 or 30 men who thought they belonged to a labor union. A lady in Brookline, who was asked to contribute to it, went to the headquarters where she found a filthy place and discovered that she was throwing her money away. Most of the men who perpetrate these frauds have "done time" in States Prison. They claim to run organizations that are not in existence. Mr. Hayes cited the case of a negro who claimed to come from Brunswick, Georgia, and was soliciting for "The Industrial Navigation Academy," a school, a school which was supposed to teach sailors how to go to sea. He got into communication with the Bank of Georgia and they referred him to the Board of Trade, and he discovered that the man who was supposed to be running the school, had not lived there for 100 years, and that no such academy existed.

Mr. Hayes spoke on the question "How is Charity Managed?" It is the work necessary and is there actual need of it, and the importance of knowing all the facts and he gave illustrations of misplaced charity, where charity was bestowed when there was no actual need for it. Another mistake is mismanagement. Where no report is given, and the charity is managed by one person, who is unwilling to tell what is done with the money. In one case no one was able to find out what they were doing with the money; there was just the institution and the inmates, run by one person, who solicited the money.

Mr. Hayes also spoke of selling tickets for entertainments; the common practice among professional solicitors is to raise the price of the tickets to five hundred dollars for the privilege of getting out their annual report. He keeps everything over and above what he gets and the organization doesn't get anything. They also do it on commissions, and the incidental expenses mount up so high that the organization usually owes them money. One particular concern employed at one refined lady, whose work was to become a member of the organization and suggest getting up a program for it, but when they came to settle up, they find that they have the small end of the bargain. Mr. Hayes investigated this phase of scheming and found that they made 10 per cent.

In entertainments the scheme is to pile up a long list of expense and sell tickets which they never account for.

Mr. Hayes said that there are six good "Donts" to remember when dealing with solicitors: first, don't give cash to any promiscuous solicitor who calls at the door; second, make all checks payable to the treasurer of the organization; third, don't pay for advertising until you see the forth, don't rely on credentials; fifth, don't sign subscription lists; sixth, don't believe everything the solicitor says because he makes a good appearance. It is no reflection on your neighbor if you lock up your house when you go out and it is your right to exercise precautions for there are so many wolves going about in sheep's clothing. At the close of the meeting questions were asked by the ladies concerning the various methods resorted to by those seeking charity, which were answered and explained by Mr. Hayes. Among them was mentioned the man who goes about holding up pedestrians and asking for money. Mr. Hayes said that ninety out of a hundred are not deserving. Men who are hard up don't pursue these methods, but ask help from charitable organizations, and he related several amusing instances where he himself, by close questioning, had discovered them to be the worst sort of frauds. "It is a difficult matter," he said "to rid a community of imposters without the co-operation of the whole community."

Mr. Hayes was a very interesting speaker and held the attention of his hearers from start to finish. The meeting closed with piano selections by Miss Manning and a basket luncheon was served at noon.

About the time an actress recovers from one attack of matrimony she has another.

N. T. H. S.

Mr. Charles C. Parlin, manager of the Commercial Research Division of Curtis Publishing Co., spoke to the Senior Assembly last Friday. Mr. Parlin began his talk on "National Advertising," taking the Automobile Industry for an Example. President Stickney appointed Wilbur Noyes secretary for next time, and Perkins reported for the picture committee. Mae Lannigan read a well expressed report of the previous meeting. The speaker first said that there were two kinds of advertising, national and local.

The Curtis Publishing Co. will not accept an "ad" which contains a fraudulent statement, which knocks a competitor, or which will not benefit the advertiser. Coming to the automobile industry, Mr. Parlin said it was particularly adapted to national advertising. By the aid of charts the speaker gave a clear idea of the wonderful growth of the business, why it concentrated at Detroit, and a few problems automobile manufacturers are "up against." In closing, Mr. Parlin said that he believed in perseverance and concentration in advertising, and that now the manufacturer who is popular with the consumer will succeed because the consumer is fast coming to be recognized as king. The speaker answered questions for the pupils, and a most interesting and profitable period came to an end.

There was much gloom and some joy when reports were given out at the end of school on Wednesday.

A very striking and original poster in the main corridor has arrested much attention. The artist is H. Stuart Daniels who has lately changed from the Tech College course to the Fine Arts. The poster advertises the Senior play which comes off tonight and is repeated tomorrow evening. This "ad" is entitled "The Humorous Side of the Senior Play," and judging from Daniels' work of art anyone who misses this production will lose a good laugh.

"Senior Dance, class of 1915. Have you bought your ticket? Be sure and purchase," that's what a poster says on the board in the hall. Underneath the words is a thermometer showing the rise in "class spirit" according to the number of tickets sold to the dance. Temple Hall, Newtonville, has been hired for this great event, and it is hoped all the Seniors will attend. The members of the two committees to look after the dance are: Harold Wilson, Charles Parlin, Catherine Derusha, Metelena Maxim, Kinchola, Earle Conn, Grace Bowen, Edith Bartlett, and Cathrine McCarthy.

Charles Parlin, president of the Student's Council, called the first meeting of this newly formed organization on Wednesday after school. The purpose of the first meeting was to elect the officers.

Mr. Thurber, head of the English Department, was absent from school Wednesday till the following Tuesday. Miss Jellison conducted Mr. Thurber's classes during his illness.

The orchestra held a rehearsal on Tuesday afternoon. The Girls' Glee Club has also been rehearsing this week; both were for the part they are to take between the acts of the Senior play tonight and tomorrow night.

Miss Doonan and Miss Weatherbee, Coach of the Senior play, tendered a chafing-dish treat to the members of the club on Wednesday afternoon. The seating capacity of the library has been increased twofold by the addition of a number of new tables. Pupils enjoy studying in the library, not only for the books, but also for the quiet, which is not obtainable in class rooms where classes are reciting.

WILL MEET PARENTS

The principals of the Newton High Schools, Mr. E. C. Adams of the Classical, Mr. I. O. Palmer of the Technical and Mr. M. W. Murray of the Vocational schools, invite the parents of their pupils to meet in the assembly hall of the Classical High School on Wednesday evening for a conference. It is hoped by this meeting to promote closer relations and a fuller and better understanding between the home and the school. After brief remarks, by the gentlemen named, they will endeavor to answer such questions as may be asked of them by anyone interested in the work of the school.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON

Notable Addresses at Meeting of Newton Equal Suffrage Association

A most notable social affair on Wednesday, April 14th, was the annual luncheon of the Newton Equal Suffrage League, at the Brae Burn Club, West Newton.

There was a very large and enthusiastic attendance, and luncheon was served at tables arranged attractively in the sun parlors at the Club. The decorations were yellow jonquills, and the golden spring blossoms were used as a centre-piece on each table.

Mrs. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., presided over the meeting which followed, and after a short but interesting introductory address, presented the speakers, and gave notices of the coming events of the League, which include a meeting Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Players' Hall, when Mr. George Creel of New York, a man of national reputation, will speak on "The New Morality," and Mrs. Garrison expressed a wish that all who are interested in the cause of Suffrage, would assume the responsibility of attending this meeting.

On Monday evening, April 26th Hon. Samuel L. Powers will preside over a meeting which will be held in the Mason School Hall, Newton Centre, at which Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale, will speak on "Woman Suffrage and Democracy."

The League will give an entertainment on Friday evening, May 14th in Players' Hall. It will be a variety show of a very high order, and the program will include vaudeville sketches, singing and dancing. Miss Hildegard Nash will give violin selections; Miss Kate Ryan, formerly of the Boston Museum and Miss Irene Tolman will give monologues, and Miss Ruth Allen will dance.

Mrs. Garrison mentioned with regret, the death of Mrs. Allen, one of the early presidents of the League, who was such a brave and noble character, and expressed sympathy for her daughter, Miss Lucy Allen, a vice-president of the League.

In her opening remarks, Mrs. Garrison said that she was glad to see so many gathered together in such a pleasant way, even though all were not in sympathy with the cause of Suffrage. "Society is divided not horizontally, in classes, but perpendicularly, in groups," she said. "On one side are those who care, and on the other side those who don't care; but the true line runs perpendicularly and divides the world into these two classes."

She then introduced the first speaker, Mrs. Ernest C. Moore of California, who told what votes have accomplished in California and was such an earnest and convincing speaker, and so well versed in her subject, that she could not fail to awaken interest in the mind of the most indifferent listener, and it is safe to assume that many in the audience, who were in the class of "those who don't care," were enlightened enough to form a different point of view, and manifest more interest in this great and worthy cause. Mrs. Moore is entertaining as well as enlightening, and is always ready to make sacrifices for the cause. She spoke graphically about her native state, and said she would try to be as true as a woman ought to be. She told of how charming a place California is, and how wonderful the women of that State carried on their suffrage campaign, and the great good it has accomplished for them. But California is very young, and has the characteristics of a very young state. The whole aspect is not quite settled; there is that feeling of freshness, and life, and everything in California is worth while.

"There is nothing like having confidence," said Mrs. Moore. "It was a great thing for women to believe so thoroughly in the cause, for there is nothing which impels like confidence, and that is the spirit in which the women of California use their new political power. We can look to California for the newest ideals in art. A great many people believe that in the next generation we shall have some great development."

The thing that we don't realize is the left over part of sixty-two years, when New England women had no education, or chances. That was the pioneer age. It came to the mind of the mother in thinking of the future welfare of her daughters. "My daughters won't do this—won't work so hard as their pioneer mothers had to work," she said. Then education began. All New England States must be what Gov. Baldwin of Connecticut said, "The Land of Settled Habits." It is absolutely and essentially the coming to consciousness of what women want, and the thing to do, is to get people to feel it. California is a short distance off from the pioneer woman.

In the matter of having the ballot, the men of California were willing to let the women have a charming encouragement, and a wholesome atmosphere, and they never said mean things about it.

It is of greatest importance for women to change their feelings, and come over to the new consciousness. In absolute justice to the men of California, Mrs. Moore said, that the reform party of California was made up of men who helped to carry thru and voted for the referendum. They were actively friendly and the very best men in Los Angeles and other California cities were in favor of votes for women.

Mrs. Moore interspersed her address with amusing incidents and comparisons, and told of how the women succeeded in getting some important bills thru the Legislature, and related how the women controlled the playgrounds and the killing of the Meadow larks. Women felt that they should have a thought as to the sort of men who make the laws. Some of the representative women got together and gave a luncheon for the men in order to talk things over. Out of 15 men who were invited, only 7 were present and after hearing the woman's side of the question, objections were raised by only one man, and he was illiterate. After that it was enormously interesting, and the work was taken up by the College Woman's League. In southern California the work was done by the Woman's Clubs.

The country people in California are intelligent and the Suffrage movement gained wholly by the votes from the country. In California every little town has a Woman's Club, and every Club was willing to let the organizing committee speak. They finally got their vote out at $1.27 and it always costs the men $2.75.

Mrs. Moore says that we do not want to think that we are marvelous sort of angels because we have the vote; all that we want to feel is that we are a part of government, and it is our alienable right that we should have it. If it is claimed that we make mistakes, it may be said that it is by mistakes that we learn and we want to learn to be good political citizens.

California women have no office seeking class; no particular party. California has four bills this year that it is recommending. To say that the women of California are doing nothing spectacular is to say that they are doing just what we want them to do. The women have been instrumental in abolishing the race track evil. The race track is where young men are taught to go to prison, and the women did all the work, and said the race track bill must not win and it was defeated. One of the men said that it never could have been done without the aid of women. They also succeeded in passing the Red Light Abatement Bill. Brothels existed in California containing 360 little cubbyholes of rooms, and this bill is to take the burden from the women and put it on the men who own the houses and make it unprofitable to own such houses. The work that women have done in this field alone, deserves the highest sort of commendation.

The second speaker was Mrs. Lister-Watson of Australia who told of what the women of Australia have accomplished with the vote. Altho Mrs. Watson does not relish being interviewed by reporters, she is, "The best-known woman in Australia." She calls Australia the jumping off place for theories and says that little is known of Australia over here, and what is known, is not so. She has been asked by some of the Antis, where it is.

New Zealand 21 years ago was the first country to have equal suffrage; then Southern Australia and then Western Australia, and the women woke up one morning to find that they had full suffrage for their whole country, and they have had it for 13 years.

Mrs. Watson thinks that it is a great thing to come to Suffrage naturally. It is so absolute—normal and ordinary that now they never even hear it discussed. No public man, no newspaper in Australia, will speak against it. With the women lies the help of the nation and they ask the women to help. A great many of the men go to England and are always interviewed and they always pose as being instrumental in bringing about Suffrage in Australia. A man in Australia who once spoke against it, recently admitted that he considered it the biggest mistake he ever made to oppose it, and would like to take back everything he ever said. Better conditions exist now in Australia than ever before. The death rate is lower, the women have brought the death rate to the lowest in the world.

Australia is the jumping off place of false theories, and there is a law that every woman must vote. They were told that Suffrage would result in Sex War and Free Love, but home life in Australia is the best in the world and the method of preserving it and caring for neglected children, is the best in the world and is being copied today in the United States.

The Old Age Pension Scheme keeps old people in their homes. Incapables are allowed so much a week to remain in their own homes, and the whole idea is to preserve the home. Working 12 hours a day would never be tolerated where we have the vote. In 1910 the Federal Parliament which is elected by the whole of Australia had resulted in better legislation and more humane legislation.

Mrs. Watson claims that we should influence those who are not in sympathy with Suffrage, to work for votes for women, so that they may use direct influence, for indirect influence is like a bullet going through many thicknesses of cloth, and loses its effect.

Two years ago the women raised the working age of children from 16 to 18 years and the bill passed without opposition. It has been said by some men that women must expect to lose a certain amount of courtesy when they become voters, but Mrs. Watson thinks that the very highest degree of courtesy is to recognize the equality of the sexes, and considers it an absurd argument.

Now that the women of Australia have the vote the men all have to come to see them and ask about the bills. A short time ago a bill was opposed in the interests of vicious men, but not one man would dare to vote for the bill, for he knew the women voters were watching him.

Mrs. Watson said that the work of the pioneer American women was very helpful to Australia. After their bill passed they burned all their suffrage literature with joy, and she hoped that the women of New England would have the same experience in 1915, for it is a pity to have so many magnificent women, fitted for such fine construction work, having to use so much energy trying to get the weapon with which to do the work. She feels sorry that American women have to ask negroes, foreigners and ignorant men to make their laws and felt that under the same circumstances she would be tempted to start a revolution. At the close of her address Mrs. Watson was applauded most enthusiastically.

Mrs. Lanier of Canada, was next called on to speak and gave a very pleasing discourse. She said that altho she was a decidedly home woman she believes in Suffrage, because she believes in progress, not because she always enjoys it. Being brought up

DEATH OF MR. ROBINSON

The many friends of Mr. Birney A. Robinson were grieved to learn of his sudden death on Sunday afternoon, April 18th. Mr. Robinson has lived in Newtonville about five years, having come here from Worcester, Mass. He was the first to engage in the automobile business as a dealer in Worcester and for many years both there and in Boston continued in that occupation. Two years ago failing health compelled his retirement from all business activity and since that time he has fought a courageous battle against the disease of the heart which finally caused his death.

Mr. Robinson was born in Westford, Vermont, August 24, 1869, and spent his boyhood and youth on his father's farm, as one of a large family of brothers and sisters. He attended St. Johnsbury Academy and later was several years in the employ of the Vermont Marble Company. October 23, 1895 he married Mabel Fairbanks of St. Johnsbury, Vt. After a short residence in St. Louis they moved to Worcester where they made their home until their removal to Newtonville nearly six years ago.

Mrs. Robinson and three children, Bertha, Clifford F., and Winfield F., survive him.

The funeral service was held at the home, 74 Page road on Wednesday afternoon, and was conducted by Dr. A. J. Conrad of Park street Church, Boston, assisted by Rev. A. J. M. Juste of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

The auditorium of the Newtonville Methodist Church was filled with a large and enthusiastic audience on Wednesday evening, when the Clafin Club presented the Lafayette Concert Company of Boston, in a diversified program of exceptional merit.

The singers, who were artists in every sense of the word, included Mr. Frank Craigie, first tenor; Mr. Roy Patch, second tenor; Mr. John Blum, first bass and bellist; and Mr. Charles Brown, second bass, assisted by Miss Wilma Dearborn Carter, reader.

The quartet met with unanimous approval, and was enthusiastically applauded from their first number to their last encore, and the program was sufficiently varied to satisfy the most exacting audience. Their ensemble work was beyond description, their voices blending beautifully and their interpretation of each number was true and at the close, its harmony died away like voices fading in the distance.

The program included 8 numbers by the celebrated composers, and every number was repeatedly encored. It opened with the singing of "Sunrise," by the quartet, followed by a reading, scene from "Sign of the Cross," by Miss Wilma Dearborn Carter, a reader of exceptional dramatic ability and versatility, who held her audience captive, and gave evidence of being a true artist as well as a young lady of very attractive personality. She was most charming in the song-stories, "The Butterfly," "The Captain," and "The Little Bisque Doll," and fairly "brought the house down" in her amusing interpretation of "A Mary Pickford Subject," her impersonation was so true to life, and she was obliged to respond again and again to encore.

"I'll Sing The Songs from Broadway," with cello obligato by Mr. Frank Craigie, who has a natural tenor voice of remarkable sweetness and rare quality, was most pleasing to the audience, and the singing of "Annie Laurie" by the quartet, met with pronounced approval. Mr. John Blum contributed two cello solos, "Bacchante" and "En Scandale," and his mastery of the instrument enabled him to delight the audience with his rendition of these beautiful selections. In "The Indian Bride," by the quartet the singers proved themselves wonderfully clever and versatile. They were rapturously applauded, and were recalled four times, responding with a negro melody, "Honey I Want Now," an old Irish melody with bagpipes, and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

Mr. Blum, who has a bass voice of excellent breadth and range, sang "Down in the Cavern," with very pleasing effect, and was vigorously applauded.

The program closed with the singing of "Sunset" by the quartet, and the artists all proved themselves thoroughly entertaining, that they are assured of a royal welcome, should they visit Newtonville again.

SMALL-GATES

A pretty home wedding took place Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Gates, on Ware road, Auburndale, when their daughter, Miss Ethel Mildred Gates, a popular and attractive young lady of Auburndale, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Grant Small of Allston, son of Mr. Charles E. Small of Waltham.

In itself the operetta will be well worth attending for the whole setting as well as the music is very pretty, and the double object of helping both the School and the Federation financially should be an added reason for supporting the performances. The value and possibilities of the work of the Music School are not sufficiently understood.

Local Happenings

Owing to the holiday the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. was omitted.

The members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild assembled for luncheon on Tuesday, April 20, in the New Church parlors. Yellow and white spring flowers adorned the tables. At the head table were seated the past presidents together with the members of the Executive Board. Much credit is due the social committee and Mrs. A. E. Vose the able chairman, for this part of the entertainment. The post-prandial exercises arranged by Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. A. D. Sallinger took a unique form, each number in some way suggesting the one of the open meetings of the club—a bit of a scene from the play, amusing anecdotes, original songs, poems and parodies. Thus in a very novel manner the whole year's program passed in review.

After the luncheon came the business of the annual meeting, reports of officers and committees, all showing an exceedingly prosperous year. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, the retiring president, gave a resume of her three years of service in which she pointed out the progress which the club has made in many ways, mentioned some of the needs and suggested new lines of work for the future. Too much cannot be said of Mrs. Palmer's able administration and it was to the great regret of all that she declined re-election. Miss Clara M. Bullard of West Newton with her exceedingly rich soprano voice gave much pleasure by her songs. The following list of officers were elected for the coming year:

President: Mrs. Willard S. Higgins;

vice-presidents, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Mrs. F. W. Pray, Mrs. J. L. Jellerson, Mrs. F. W. Martin, Mrs. W. O. Hunt, Mrs. Maynard Maxine, Mrs. C. W. Rolfe, Mrs. W. A. Corson; recording secretary, Mrs. E. E. Wakefield, Jr.; corresponding sec., Miss Julia A. Butler; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Byers; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Lincoln Righter; clerk, Miss Louise Sherman; chairman of finance, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins; auditor, Mrs. A. C. Dunmore; directors, Miss Margaret McGill, term expires 1916, Mrs. A. L. Wakefield, Mrs. Charles Whittemore, terms expire 1919.

Mrs. Higgins, the newly elected president accepted her office with a graceful speech and the promise for the future of the Guild is very bright.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Arthur C. Farley entertained the Auburndale Review Club for its annual meeting. There were the customary annual reports of officers and committees and election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Arthur C. Farley, vice-president, Mrs. Joseph N. Draper; secretary, Miss Harriette D. Hunt; treasurer, Mrs. William Fuller; members of executive committee, Mrs. H. G. Hildreth, Mrs. Edward Almy, and Mrs. P. F. Davidson. The club has decided to take for its topics next year, Greek Drama and Music. This meeting closed a most profitable and interesting year's work.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday, April 14th, Prof. Jay William Hudson of the University of Missouri gave an inspiring and convincing address on "America's Contribution to the New Nationalism." This new nationalism he said, is based upon the fact that we have attained a new kind of civilization during the last 50 to 100 years. There was a time when every nation was separate, but with the invention of the printing press, the cable, the telegraph, the telephone, the steamboat, the wireless, and numberless others, all the nations have been brought closer together. There is today no culture strictly of any one race or nation, but the culture of each is the product of all the others. This interdependence is best expressed by our economic relations.

International differences should be settled through diplomacy and in terms of the welfare of the nation at large and not in terms of selfish gain merely. In discussing the peace movement, he said, we must get the people educated. This movement has been greatly misunderstood. There are certain things which can be settled by means of international law, an international court and an international police, but most of the great wars have been caused by misunderstandings, hatred, prejudice and selfishness. No court could do away with selfishness. To Prof. Hudson, it is a question of education much more than of a court. The true way, he said, is to settle these matters by reason. The greatest agencies to bring about international peace are the chambers of commerce, the National Grange, the American Federation of Labor, and the Socialists. The advocate of peace should war against the war system and this is best accomplished by getting the nations to understand each other. Get them to understand each other so well and there will be no need of guns and battleships—they will become obsolete. The only force needed will be the Force of Understanding, Friendship and Co-operation.

America has demonstrated that the various states with greatly differing ideas can live together without war and this is the first contribution of America to this New Nationalism. Other contributions he named as the value of the individual, the social nature of the person, that obligations go with the rights—and the cosmopolitan culture, made possible through the great influx of people from abroad. As a force in bringing about a better understanding of the nations for one (Continued on Page 7.)

tion of game and the seal and other fisheries in Alaska; suppression of illegal traffic in firearms, ammunition and spirits in Alaska; 12. Co-operate with life-saving service by the instruction, drilling and inspection of the crews; 13. Giving medical aid to seamen of the deep-sea fishing fleet.

The service is divided into six divisions, three belonging to the Pacific Ocean, one for New York and another for the North Atlantic or Eastern coast, and a sixth comprising 27 independent vessels that are detailed for the Southern coast, Porto Rico, the Great Lakes and Hawaii.

Mrs. Whittier read a description of the rescue of a whaling fleet cut off by the ice in Alaskan waters by the Cutter "Bear." She distinguished between the Revenue tugs and the cutters and stated that recent legislation has combined this service with the Life-Saving Service and will be hereafter known as the United States Coast Service. She closed her most interesting and informing paper with an account of her own personal experiences of several months spent at the Fort Trumbull Revenue Cutter School at New London with her nephew who was detailed for service there last summer.

On Wednesday afternoon the Monday Club of Newton Highlands held its regular meeting in Odd Fellows Hall when Beulah Marie Dix read her play, "Across the Border," to a large and appreciative audience. The club comprising Mrs. F. S. Fairchild, Mrs. E. C. Winslow, and Mrs. M. S. Wallace with Mrs. W. C. B. Robbins at the piano rendered "Voices from the Woods," and a Nursery Rhyme Suite. Miss Frost played two piano solos. A social hour with refreshments closed a most delightful afternoon. Mrs. W. E. Bowen and Mrs. S. A. Thompson presided over the tea table.

Mrs. Frederick G. Marsh of Chestnut street entertained the Waban Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, April 20th. After a big business meeting, the president Mrs. George M. Angier introduced Mrs. Richard H. Gorman of Milton, who described the organization and platform of the Woman's Peace Party urging the club members to join individually or collectively. The Club being greatly interested in social service work enjoyed the program arranged by Miss Grace Miller in which Mrs. Frank Piper, who is connected with District 11 of the Boston Bureau of Associated Charities, told the members what it meant to be a volunteer visitor for the associated Charities of Boston. She first explained the organization of the Social Service Society in 1875 in order to give people more than coal and groceries. In 1876 monthly reports were made to a registration committee. In 1879 a constitution was adopted to carry on the registration of charities, to obtain help for those deserving, to diminish pauperism and begging, and to place trustworthy information within the reach of all. District conferences were formed with a trained secretary in each. Mrs. Piper cited a special case in which three generations of a family were under her supervision showing the psychological effect the social service visitor had had for the betterment of this family.

Miss Mabel Hansen, accompanied by Miss Marion Miller, sang most pleasingly, "An Irish Folk Song," "Aria" from Tosca, and "A Little Gray Home in the West."

Miss Lillian May Brown of the placing out department of the Boston Society for the care of girls gave a history of that organization from the time of its inception in 1800. She cited several special cases and made a plea for the club members to open their homes to one or more of the girls in her care.

The president, Mrs. George M. Angier and the recording secretary, Mrs. Herbert S. Kimball presided at the tea.

The adjourned annual meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club was held yesterday morning in the Unitarian Church.

After some discussion it was voted to establish a building fund for the purpose of erecting a club house. The proposed amendment of the constitution was passed raising the membership limit to five hundred.

under Radical training she was taught that the greatest thing in the world was to be a woman, and woman's work was home-making.

She says that women must learn to think and act from principle, and assume the responsibility of their privileges. Men are conditionally opposed and it is up to their wives to educate them. It amounts to taking real life as it is.

The Anti-Suffragists ideal is in the home and they cling to the old traditions, and yet they never stay in the home, and they are scared of votes for women. But what they dread has already happened and as the Antis are never in the home, it is now only a question of choice, "What are you going to be out for?"

It has been said that there is only one thing worse than a Suffragist, and that is an Anti-Suffragist. Some claim that women are not ready for the vote but they will get ready for handling it after it arrives. We never are ready for anything. Life would not be human, but divine if we were always ready for everything.

Mrs. Lanier spoke of the universal restlessness of women; they are unsettled and dissatisfied. In olden times woman was the conservator of the home and man the rover. There were large families. Now the home is a sort of retreat. The bearing of children is the only creative thing in it, and in olden times this was woman's sole mission. But women are not willing now to make it their whole mission. We are "in it," and that is our problem.

The last but not the least interesting speaker was Madame Malmberg, the Finnish patriot, who is the daughter of a Lutheran clergyman. She was one of the first four women to graduate from the University of Helsinki. On account of her political activities in the cause of Finnish freedom she has found it convenient for a number of years to reside in England. She has addressed and entertained in Queen's Hall, London, and in Edinburgh, Glasgow and Manchester, and spoken in the principal cities of Great Britain, appearing before the leading Literary, Social, Geographical and other societies.

Dressed in the quaint garb of her native country, Madame Malmberg, gave an interesting and entertaining address on, "Women After the War." She said that the speeches of the American Women had filled her with hope; that before leaving England she had rose-colored views of America being a neutral country, where people have open minds, but she was afterwards told that if she expected to find neutrality and openness in America, she had better remain in England, where it is easier to express your own opinions than in any other country, and she thinks that America is not a neutral country. Here, more than in Europe, people think one side black, and the other all white. She has not a high opinion of the neutrality of America, and if there is any hope, it is in the Woman's Movement and the Peace Movement. The women in Finland were the first women in Europe to get political rights, and the first women in the world to avail themselves of their rights. The Fins are most passionately attached to their country, even though it is poor and cold, and they would not want to live anywhere else. It is a big country but sparsely populated, but it stands amongst the most civilized countries in the world. They have big forests instead of big cities in Finland, and lakes and hills, and the atmosphere creates mystics and dreamers.

There was a tremendous National awakening in Finland with the National movement. The people were eager to sacrifice everything. The women of Finland occupied a very important place in the life of the nation, when that movement began. When they got the organized life they also got the Anti-Suffragists with their silly notions. Mrs. Martin, a well known Anti-Suffragist of New York, made the statement at one of their meetings, that it was quite a usual thing in Finland, to see women chained to carts hauling heavy loads. Mrs. Malmberg said it made her furious, for even the dogs in Finland were not chained to carts, and they had horses to do their hauling.

In 1899 the Constitution of Finland was broken and their liberty was taken away. No one can have any idea of what this meant to them. There was a feeling of hostility between Russia and Finland and suddenly came this tremendous blow. There was but one question: "Could we serve the nation or could we not serve the nation?"

On it was, that the women came forward and did the work that the men, and sometimes they could do better than the men, and sometimes the men could do better, and then a marvelous thing happened, on the last of October, 1905, the whole Finnish nation went on a strike; they just kept quiet, and did nothing. Some unknown power seemed to urge them to do it. The strike was not organized for seven days, and then the people all went out on the streets making friendly overtures to each other, and even the school children who were inclined to be more cruel and hostile became passive and friendly and made friends with the Russian children and marched singing with them thru the streets.

This lasted for eight days; the Fins dragged down their flags and put red flags everywhere and then the Czar gave them back everything.

The Fins have no guns, no dreadnoughts, nothing but their education, and now it is all under Russia. All their systems will be taken and united with Russia. Finland does not exist any longer. It is a Russian province—even their language has been taken away. The only thing they have gained is that the program will not be carried out until after the war.

It means another war and the English papers are now predicting another war.

In Finland it hurts just as much to kill their mental, as their physical rights. It meant a mental war for them which they conquered by just doing nothing. It had a tremendous effect on the Russian soldiers and it was a glorious victory for Finland,—they just did nothing and got everything back.

If they had had weapons some one might have used them and that would have been their death. The absolute passive attitude saved them. Since then in spite of what all the Antis say, there has not been one Fin who spoke against the rights of women. All the leading men in the Finland Parliament have been unanimous in saying that it has been for their best interests, and not one spoke against it.

Europe, the big country, has given us one good object lesson of how the men muddle up things. If women had their say, they would have prevented the war from taking place. Those in favor of Anti-Suffrage, ought to go over to Europe and see what war means, and then decide if they would say that women should have no voice in their government.

If a woman's sympathies are on one side, she cannot see anything but blackness on the other. Americans are going to have much to say, as they are the only big neutral country and the only big rich country. When peace is formed, there will be a Conference of powers, or nations, and America should demand a Conference of Nations—demand freedom for every one to lead his and her own life.

SUBSCRIPTION DANCE

The subscription dancing party on Saturday evening at Brae-Burn, was a very pleasant social affair, members of society numbering about sixty, being present from Brookline, Newton Centre, West Newton and Auburndale. Russell's orchestra was in attendance and furnished the usual excellent program for the dancing. The order included the hesitation, fox-trot, canter, Castle-polkka, and all of the modern dances.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William B. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Sherburne M. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic T. Cutler, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker of Newton Centre, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dana Priest of Auburndale, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer of West Newton, Mr. and Mrs. Egerton Chichester, Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Munroe and Mr. and Mrs. Spring of Brookline.

Methodists are coming to the support of equal suffrage. The Methodist Men of Ohio, 3,000 strong, in Columbus recently declared:

"We commend to the Methodist Men of Ohio the proposition to grant the franchise to women not merely for the equity of equal suffrage, but for the increase and unifying of the moral forces of the State."

In Norristown, Penn., the Methodist Episcopal Conference at the final session of a busy conference with about 300 delegates present, passed unanimously a resolution in which they said: "We affirm our belief in the principle of political equality and our faith in the patriotic devotion and aspirations of the women of our State; and we recommend that all our members work actively to secure the passage of the amendment to the State Constitution, enfranchising women, which has been passed by two successive Legislatures, and which comes before the voters in November of this year."

Bills have been introduced in New York to strip working women of most of the legal protection they now enjoy. No right is really safe when granted to those who have no votes to defend it.

in a house or highway it is hell-tetloose. It was never known to do good and it never ceases to do evil.

"When we propose the submission to the State of a Constitutional amendment to prohibit the liquor traffic, we are met with the cry that we are attacking the doctrine of state rights.

"Why our proposition cannot win without the separate consents of 36 states! Whether those three-fourths,
as provided by the constitution, desire to change that instrument as we propose, can never rightly be known until they are allowed to legislatively express their will.

"The man who would arbitrarily deny to them that right is not a friend but an enemy of state rights. But how strangely this doctrine sounds coming from the liquor interests whose long record of contempt for state constitutions and state laws is the one broad bar sinister upon the escutcheon of our American civilization.

"Put them to the test of their vociferous loyalty to state rights by offering to repeal the internal revenue laws affecting liquor! Then you will hear wails of protest the like of which issue only from the slaughter-houses of the Chicago stock-yards. If there is anything on earth the liquorites of America do not want it is to be released from their partnership with Uncle Sam and to be turned over to the will of each of the 48 states of the Union.
They don't want state rights; they only want Congress to weave a coat of mail in certain cases for the protection of the traffic from real state rights.

"Every time a Texas tick straddles
his thickpick and swims the Mississippi River and attacks a mangy steer in the pine barrens of Mississippi or on the red hills of Alabama, a concerted howl goes up from the solid South and all her state rights statesmen calling upon the Federal government to hustle the pesky invaders back to their Lone Star lairs.

"Early last year the cholera got into the hog ranges of the middle West, and at once the whole pork-eating constituency of these modern state rights yellers for the national prohibition of hog cholera and our obliging Congress and President hastened to sign a bill appropriating $500,000 to buy some sort of aquium-juice to shoot into the hogs of Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri all in defiance of the sacred Shibboleth of State Rights.

"When we consider that by the census we have only fifty-eight million four legged hogs in this country and equally as many children upon whom the liquor trade has fixed its basilisk eyes to make them its future patrons and victims, we cannot possibly hurrah for a state rights doctrine that says 'Save the hogs but damn the children'.

"The State of Georgia where I live,
by solemn act of her legislature outlaws the liquor traffic and refused to create by law, or by license a 'liquor dealer'. But the United States Government maintains in the State of Georgia a federal officer who issues to every man or woman who applies to him and pays him $25 for Uncle Sam,
a script that recites that each of the payees is 'a retail liquor dealer' and may prosecute that business without interference by Federal authorities, and that, mind you, in defiance of the state right that Georgia has exercised in saying that no such calling shall exist within her jurisdiction. That practice by the Federal Government carried on in every state is the most flagrant invasion and nullification of state rights ever recorded in American history.

"What shall we say of the bizarre dogma of State rights when we reach the case of the District of Columbia?
This state has no State Rights to be safeguarded and which can be made the bulwark of defense against the liquor traffic. Yet Congress imposes this traffic upon the people of the District to the shame of the whole nation
in a way to demonstrate beyond question that this state rights defense against national prohibition is a false-face, a mask, a makeshift, both tricky and transparent.

"There is yet another marvelous and contrary picture of Government paternalism and prodigality. The distillers of the United States have overplayed their power to drunkardize the nation. They have overproduced whiskey until they have over 28,000,000 gallons for which they have no present market. But they suffer no distress thereby. This generous and sympathetic government accepts those 28-000,000 gallons of whiskey in pawn
for the distillers, puts it into Government bonded warehouses, guards it with Government salaried officials, issues Government warehouse receipts for the whiskey which receipts the U.
S. Supreme court has declared valid securities, and on which the distiller can walk into almost any bank and borrow eighty percentum of their face value to continue his distilling business.

"Understand further, this Government agrees to hold his whiskey thus in pawn and off the market for eight years. And on that whiskey the distillers owe now, not at some future date but now, to the people's national treasury the huge debt of $310,200,000.
What an enormous credit that is for Congress to continuously give to the makers of the detestable stuff that kills the bodies of the people and con-signs their immortal spirits to eternal hell. Yet that is the supreme example of state rights statesmanship. The great and glorious dogma of state rights stays our hands from relieving the impoverished cotton farmers of the South and the drink-cursed millions of the nation at large."

ADDRESS BY MRS. HALE

Prominent Suffragist Speaks at Newton Centre Meeting

A large and enthusiastic audience was present last Monday evening at Mason School Hall, Newton Centre to hear Mrs. Beatrice Forbes-Robertson Hale speak on Woman Suffrage. Before presenting the speaker Hon. Samuel L. Powers gave a brief outline of the rise of democracy in this country. He was frequently asked by anti's, if voting was a right or a privilege. It is a legal right when the qualifications can be complied with. A woman can comply with all the qualifications save one, that is she can not become a man. This qualification should be changed, since it is manifestly unjust. Each state fixes its own requirements, and in the South, by these means the negro is being deprived of his vote. Our ancestors who came over in the Mayflower contemplated a pure democracy, but, in 1636 when the King gave a charter for the right to govern themselves a few persons who applied for the charter made the conditions, for voting (or becoming a "freeman"), the ownership of property, and membership in the Congregational Church. Sir Roger Williams' colony was dropped and the owner of a house and master of a family was entitled to vote. Bachelors were therefore excluded.

After the Revolutionary war, the property qualification was abandoned, owing to a growing discontent among the people who were not "freemen." In 1790 a person could become a citizen after five years residence in a place. In 1870 the negro was allowed to vote and, at present, all the immigrants coming to this country and meeting the conditions here are given the franchise.

Mrs. Powers brought out the fact that every change made in the qualifications for voting, in every state has been the result of a struggle and demand of the disenfranchised class. It is women now who are asking for the privilege of becoming citizens. Massachusetts of old stood for progress. Let her not lose her proud name by becoming a slave to conservatism. May she open wide her doors to women, and give them in 1915 their just rights to be citizens of a democracy.

Mrs. Hale spoke of the progress made in this country in having alliances of men working for woman's suffrage. A few years ago there were practically none, now there are 10 nations having men's alliances of this order.

There seems to be an impression that women who want equal suffrage would like to be men. This is a great mistake, women want to be women, but since they have to share in the burdens of government, must pay taxes, must keep the laws and pay the penalty for breaking them they should have something to say in regard to making laws by which they must abide.

NICHOLSON-ATKINSON

Among the interesting social events of the past week in Newtonville, was the wedding on Saturday evening of Miss Dorothy Mae Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Atkinson, and Mr. George Edwin Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Nicholson of Cherry street, West Newton.

The bride's residence on Churchill avenue was artistically decorated for the occasion with palms, ferns and Marguerites. The ceremony was performed at half past seven, by Rev. A. J. Muste, pastor of Central Congregational Church.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful wedding-gown of white crepe meteor trimmed with white chiffon and charming lace, and her veil was fastened with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a full shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and Brides roses. She was attended by Miss Ruth Nicholson of West Newton, as maid of honor, who was becomingly gowned in white lace over yellow satin and carried a basket of yellow marguerites with bows of yellow gauze on the handle. The bridesmaids were Miss Ruth Anderson and Miss Beatrice Eddy of Newtonville, Miss Margaret Crocker, Miss Dorothy Seccomb, Miss Hazel Snyder of Newton, and Miss Ethel Gardner of West Newton.

The wedding march was played by Miss Florence Carter. Following the ceremony a reception was held, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, parents of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will be at home after September first at Witherbee avenue, Point of Pines, Revere.

MR. BLAKEMORE'S RECORD

Mayorality Candidate Advocated Many Sane Measures While at City Hall

One of our candidates for Mayor this fall will be Arthur W. Blakemore who served as alderman for five years from 1910 to 1914 inclusive. He has always been a vote getter and has never yet been defeated for political office. In his first contest for election to the Board in 1909 he won by a wide margin and two years later in the campaign of 1911 he had the highest majority of any Republican candidate and in 1913 he also received the highest vote of any Republican candidate in any contest on the ticket. During his first three years as alderman he served on the important committee on finance and at the end of that time had so won the confidence of his fellow members that he was unanimously elected President of the Board and was unanimously re-elected President in 1914. His record shows him to have been both faithful and active in his discharge of his duties as an alderman.

His one hobby has been guarding the interests of the general tax payers and citizens in general as he has often stated that the only persons who make themselves heard at City Hall are those interested in expenditures and special privileges and he believes it is therefore peculiarly the duty of the city fathers to guard the interests of the general public. With this in mind and to prevent unwarranted increases in the tax rate he has been in favor of appropriations for maintenance as low as consistent with keeping up the city plant, and he was often called the "Watchdog of the City Treasury."

One example of his work in this direction is the change in the sewer ordinances recently passed by the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Blakemore, after an exhaustive study last fall, discovered that although our sewer system was begun in 1893 on the basis of charging fifty per cent of the cost of the system on the abutting owners, that the increased expense of the building of sewers had gradually made the old rates inequitable to the general tax payers as the abutters instead of paying fifty per cent were contributing only about thirty-five per cent of the cost under the old rates of assessment.

Mr. Blakemore presented the facts to the Board of Aldermen and obtained the passage of an order requesting authority to change the rates, which power was granted by the Legislature this winter, and the Board of Aldermen has recently adopted new rates in accordance with Mr. Blakemore's suggestion, thus saving the general tax payers between five and ten thousand dollars per year.

While on the Finance Committee he advocated co-operation in the purchasing of supplies among the various departments; the substitution of small automobiles for touring cars for city use and their care in a central city garage; and was active in the investigations conducted by the committee at that time to promote economy in expenditures in the City departments. He did a great deal to stop the practice among Heads of Departments of exceeding their appropriations by first laying down the principle that such practice should affect the salaries of offending officials and advocated the creation of the office of Comptroller of Accounts to furnish a check on expenditures. He has consistently opposed bond issues whenever there was any question about their propriety, believing the "pay as you go" policy safer and more economical in city affairs.

An example of his ability to adjust disputes was seen in his handling of the problem of the school appropriation while a member of the Aldermanic Committee on Schools. There had been for a great many years differences of opinion between the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee in regard to the size of the school appropriation which disputes were possibly due to the fact that the School Committee knew little about the financial needs of the city and the Board of Aldermen knew little about the financial needs of the school department.

Mr. Blakemore feeling that the school appropriation was increasing out of all proportion to the financial ability of the city suggested a "Gentlemen's Agreement" that the school appropriation should be increased only in proportion to the increase in number of pupils. This scheme was adopted by the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee and has worked satisfactorily to all parties, protecting both the School department and the City and has removed a potent cause of friction in city affairs.

He has always advocated local self-government close to the people as

PARENTS AND TEACHERS MEET

A very satisfactory meeting was held Wednesday evening in the Assembly Hall at the Classical High School, Newtonville, in response to an invitation extended to the parents and teachers, by the superintendent Mr. U. G.
Whetler, and the principals, Messrs.
Enoch C. Adams, Irving O. Palmer
and Michael W. Murray.

There were about 300 present including some of the teachers. The meeting was called to give the parents an opportunity to confer with the principles of the High Schools, regarding the entrance of pupils and to ask questions, and enter into discussion of High School matters.

Mr. Wheeler opened the meeting with a few remarks of a general nature on education matters, and spoke on 5 different points which he considered essential to satisfactory High School work.

First was the preparation and ability of the pupils who enter the High School, referring to their work in the grades, high-standing and elementary work. Parents and teachers are a little too anxious he thinks, to get the children ahead too fast.

Secondly, he spoke on the choice of a course; the importance of choosing the right course, and thinks that they should take into consideration the ability of the child. Mr. Wheeler made a plea for democracy in High School work.

Third, is the transitional period of the child from the grades to the High School, which he considers a critical period both educational and physical.
He contrasted the differences and the effect that the change would have on some of the children.

Fourthly, he spoke on the High School itself, what it should stand for in the community, and the role of teachers we should have. Mr. Wheeler believes that the High School should be a democratic institution and should treat all classes alike regardless of race, station, religion, etc. He pictured of briefly the qualities which make for a successful teacher.

The fifth point which he emphasized was parents and home conditions.
There he pleaded for co-operation of parents and school. Parents must take more interest in the work of the children in school—to know if they are succeeding or failing. They should also see to it, that outside activities do not interfere with school work and look out for social dissipations if they stand in the way of school results. They should not be satisfied with the pupils just getting by, but should encourage them to do more efficiently.

At the close of Mr. Wheeler's remarks the meeting was opened to the public for questions which were answered logically by Mr. Adams, the principal of the High School. They were all honest questions concerning matters pertaining to the school, home study, secret societies, etc.

One lady suggested the idea of appointing a woman as an agent for the school; a woman who would spend a large part of her time as a personal friend and counselor to the girls, and to watch over them. All of the high schools in Chicago and western cities have a woman dean.

Some little time was then given to the question as to whether they should organize a Parents Teachers Association, and a great deal of interest was shown in the meeting.

THE JAPANESE GIRL

"The Japanese Girl," an operetta, music by Charles Vincent, and libretto by I. Ross was very successfully presented on Monday evening at the Technical High School, and on Saturday afternoon and Wednesday evening at Norumbega Hall, Auburndale under the auspices of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs and the West
Newton Music School.

Georgious Japanese costumes and some novel and elaborate stage effects characterized the production and the musical numbers, the chorus singing and dancing was among the most attractive features of the show.

Miss Alice Foley was exceedingly clever in the role of "O Hance San,"
and the Misses Eva and Mary Clifford, as "O Kitee San" and "O Kayo San,"
her cousins, were excellent.

Miss Margaret Reeves as "Chaya," the servant, played her part extremely well, and Miss Ruth Erickson was charming in the role of a governess.

The Misses Annie Blakemore and Celia Brookman, as "Nora," and
"Dora," two charming American dansers, acquitted themselves most creditably and Miss Marion Parker, as the "Mikado," was one of the best in the cast, and played the part with perfect ease.

The audience was delighted with the chorus singing and dancing and was very enthusiastic in showing its appreciation.

The chorus singers and dancers included the Misses Margaret Mutch, Helen Woodward, May Paul, Alice
Dorman, Estelle Jacoby, Julia Bryson, Katherine Simmons, Emily Howard,
Ruth Paul, Pauline Kimball, Louise Hill, Helen Pucellari, Isabel Manning, Annie Roach and Ruth Pollard.

Mrs. Frederic Lesh presided at the piano and the music by the orchestra was most excellent. The orchestra players included the Misses Elizabeth Fyffe, Sallie Briggs, Elsie Kimberly and Irene Foote.

During the intermission piano solos were played by the pupils of West Newton Music School.

BROOKE-WADLEIGH

The leading social event of the week in Newtonville was the wedding on Thursday evening of Miss Gertrude Evelyn Wadleigh, and Mr. Barton Easly Brooke. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Levi Cole Wadleigh, Jr., and a granddaughter of the late Mrs. Prescott C. Bridgman, of Newtonville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Brooke of Washington, D. C.

The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's mother on Newtonville avenue which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with pink and white carnations, palms and greenery.

The ceremony was performed at half past seven by Rev. Julian C.
Jaynes, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of West Newton. The bridal party stood in a bower of palms and ferns in the drawing-room, which was lighted by candelabra.

The bride was given in marriage by her great-uncle, Mr. Edward Webster Foster of New York. As the bride partly entered the drawing-room Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by Odell's Orchestra.

The bride looked very charming in an exquisite wedding gown of ivory satin, with rose point and duchesse lace; she wore a tulle veil fastened with a spray of orange blossoms, and carried a full shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. She was attended by Mrs. James Blair Wheeler of Rutland, Vermont, as matron of honor, who was attractively gowned in Nile green satin with silver lace, and carried pink roses; and Miss Virginia Tapley of Newtonville, as maid of honor, who wore a handsome gown of coral satin with velvet bodice, and also carried pink roses.

Mr. George Howell Jones of Portland, Oregon, was the best man, and the ushers were Mr. Norman W.
Holmes of St. Clair, Penn., Mr. John
H. Scoville, of Hartford, Conn., Mr.
James Beale of Brookline, Mr. Edward
S. Pratt of Newton, and Mr. Henry Merrill of Concord, N. H.

A large reception followed the ceremony from 8 until 10, and Mr. and Mrs. Brooke were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Lloyd B. Brooke, the bridegroom's mother and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lloyd H. Brooke, of Washington, D. C., and the bride's mother Mrs.
Levi Cole Wadleigh, Jr.

Guests numbering about 175 were present from Brookline, D. C., and Hartford, Conn., Rutland, Vt., Concord, N. H., Brookline, and the Newtons. On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Brooke will reside at 432 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville.

POLICE NOTES

A fine of $65 was imposed by Judge
Kennedy upon Louie Baker of 70
Crafts street, Newtonville in the Police Court Monday morning on the charge of keeping and exposing liquor for sale. The premises of Baker were raided last Sunday by patrolmen Condron and McAleer and liquor officer Richard J. Harlan seized one and one-half gallons of wine, three quarts of whiskey and a small quantity of brandy were found. Witnesses for the Government testified that they had purchased liquor at the home of Baker on more than one occasion. Baker appealed from the court's finding and was held in $300 bonds.

SMITH PRESIDENT WILL VOTE YES

"I shall vote for suffrage in Massachusetts this fall," declared Dr. Marion Le Roy Burton, president of Smith College, the largest woman's college in the world, in a recent interview in the New York Tribune. "I believe women must have equal opportunity with men, and that they will surely get it,"
said Dr. Burton.

"There is little difference between the minds of men and the minds of women. At least, if there is, no one knows what it is. Personally I don't believe it is a question of sex, but one of personality."

"I certainly do want women to have all their rights. What I look forward to is the day when no woman shall be at a disadvantage, because of her sex, and when no woman shall be able to take an unfair advantage because of it. Both conditions exist today and each is a necessary corollary of the other."

A woman tires of being married as easily as she does of not being.

just as much as men. Years ago, when life was very different, when a man owned his wife's property, when he paid all the taxes, when he was punished if his wife broke the law, then there was no reason why a woman should vote, she was a man's property. Now that woman has a place of her own in the world, she simply asks for an equality of opportunity. Her old province of being the producer in the family has gone. The state now takes charge of the home, it regulates the food, schools, sanitation and about everything connected with the household. This being so it is now a woman's work to see that good laws are made. In the suffrage states it is noticed that women do not interest themselves much in monetary questions or struggles between capital and labor, these questions they leave largely to men, who know more about them.
What interests women are home and civic questions, pure food laws, good sanitary measures, juvenile courts, widow's pensions, women's wages, and like problems affecting the welfare of her own sex. It is on this account that the suffrage states have the best laws for women. The woman's movement is an effort to catch up with men.
Women have had to struggle for the last 100 years for one thing after another. First, she asked for an education, just a common school education, and then the trouble began. It was predicted that she would lose all womanly charms, all interest in home
and domestic life and become masculine. Then her wish to go to college met with still more ridicule and remonstrance, it was said such a step would make her wholly unsexed, and the funny papers of that time pictured her as a monster, flooding from home and underneath in big type were the words, "blue stocking." These stages of progress having been reached and become everyday affairs she is now the same old monster in the comic papers of today only in place of "blue stocking" is written in still bigger type the words "suffragette." It is said, "The majority of women do not want to vote." This is quite true. The majority of people have never been known to favor any progressive movement.
It is the minority who push forward, always. Those gifted with a little more imagination, who are a little more far seeing, a little more just and charitable, who take the lead. It is however true, that if the majority voted at all in woman's suffrage,
the majority are in favor nearly 50 to 1.
This big majority includes Industrial workers, Trades Unions, Teachers, Actresses, Professional women. All social workers of any note. The federation of women's clubs (which is the home keeping class) and the Farmer's Grange. What about the ignorant vote? The percentage of illiteracy will be decreased when women have the ballot because girls stay in school longer than boys and of the immigrants who come over to this country the percentage of men is much larger than that of women. The lowest death rate among children is found in the three countries in the world having equal suffrage, New Zealand, Australia and Norway. This means something. Any woman who stands in a public platform, and talks against woman's suffrage is guilty of one of two things, she either proclaims that women are not intelligent enough to vote, or she does not believe in a democracy. Certainly the anti can win converts to democracy by denouncing woman's suffrage, and the suffragist can not lose democracy, because she has it to win.

CLEAN UP WEEK

week as Clean Up Week for the year, and on the days specified below the city teams will remove, in addition to the usual ashes and combustible

When a good salesman goes out after business, he first puts on a clean collar and gets his shoes shined. Then he looks like more business—and he's made a flying start toward getting it.

Likewise, a community can go after more business—and get it. The "clean collar and shiny shoes" of this town are the well-painted stores, the bright, cheery homes, the fresh, clean-looking buildings. The part paint plays in building up local pride cannot be put in figures—but its good effects are recorded on the local merchants' sales sheets. Buy good paint. We recommend and sell

Counting the Cost

I OFTEN wonder," said the local merchant recently, "why our bill for toll calls isn't larger each month, when I stop long enough to consider the use we make of the telephone, both at the store and at home. There isn't a town where I do business but seems nearer to me than even next door. I can beat many competitors by selling my goods over the telephone before they can get there by train; I can get into every town in New England all in one day, tell about my stock, quote my prices, make my deals and sit right here with my eyes on the home store all the time. Most of the people I sell to like that way of doing business.

"As for the folks at home, they keep in touch with all their friends everywhere, and my daughter there at Wellesley isn't a bit lonely, for she has mother's counsel, and it's the same way with Bob in Boston.

"Do you think I would let that telephone out of my reach? No siree! It's not only money in my pocket in my business, but we are in the center of a big world of real live people, just because we can call up any one, anywhere."

WILBUR THEATRE—"A Pair of Sixes" enters on its 15th week of wonderful success at the Wilbur Theatre, and it is creating just as much hearty and unbounded enthusiasm as it did the first week of the Boston engagement. Every other man, woman or child in Boston has already seen this remarkable farce at the Wilbur, and the others are doubtless preparing to see it before it leaves the city. For only once in years are the theatre-goers given such an opportunity for rich and wholesome laughter as is to be found in the performance of "A Pair of Sixes". Already it has broken all records for farce runs in Boston, and there is not the slightest decrease in the interest displayed in the piece, "A Pair of Sixes" must soon leave to fill other engagements before the theatrical season closes, and those who have not yet enjoyed this "cure for the blues" are advised to secure their seats at once.

SHUBERT THEATRE—Edward Locke, who is the author of "The Climax" and "The Case of Becky" has come forward with a new play, which is to be presented at the Shubert Theatre for a limited engagement week beginning next Monday, May 3rd. The name of the play is "The Revolt," and comes here direct after a successful run at the Maxine Elliott Theatre, New York. The cast will include Vincent Serrano, Alma Belwin, Edwin Mordant, Beth Franklin, Jessie Ralph, Susanne Willa, Annetta Tyler, Claire Burke, Sara Enright, Rosanna Logan, Craig Miner, Howard Gould, Sam Edwards, Fred W. Peters, Charles Hallock, Fred Smith and John Walsh. The play has been staged by Mr. J. C. Huffman.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

Mr. Clarence W. Chadwick Speaks to a Large Audience at Bray Hall, Newton Centre

A large audience listened to the lecture on Christian Science by Clarence W. Chadwick, C.S.B. of Omaha, Neb., at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, last Sunday evening. Mr. Chadwick is a convincing speaker and being a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ Scientist, in Boston, his message was authoritative in the best sense of the word. He was introduced by Alderman Abbott B. Rice of Newton Centre as follows:

Friends: I myself am not a Christian Scientist, nor do I profess any special knowledge on this subject. We all love the truth and do not care how nor whence it may come to us. We must concede that Christian Science has brought health, joy and peace of mind into thousands of homes. We also know that the men and women who follow Science are intelligent and refined and command the respect of every community in which they live. Yet in spite of these facts Christian Science is constantly being criticized by those who do not understand its teachings. The growth of Science has been so rapid and remarkable that those who once scoffed now listen.

Personally I am very glad to acknowledge the good which has come into my home through Christian Science. In my business career I come in contact with a great many Jewish people and I have been impressed with the great numbers of these people who have accepted Christian Science thought. On a recent business trip to New York I visited the largest silk merchant in the United States. I was so much impressed by the magnitude of his business that I asked the clerk who waited on me to tell me what was the secret of this man's success. He said: "The head of this house is a Jew; he is also a devout Scientist and he attributes his health, happiness and business success all to Christian Science."

This thought and other observations which I have made lead me to believe that in the future Christian Science is going to be the one potent power which will do more than anything else to unify in faith Jew and Gentile.

What this great power is we are all glad to know. To explain it is the real object of this meeting tonight. I therefore take pleasure in introducing to you Clarence W. Chadwick, a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ Scientist, Boston.

Mr. Chadwick spoke as follows: The scientific presentation of the subject of Christian Science, involving as it does the vastness of infinity, is destined to encounter a wide range of human belief, theory and opinion; and the question naturally suggests itself, Why is it that Christian people, actuated by the same lofty aims and ambitions, working side by side in their daily vocations, and having the same definite goal before them, should differ so radically in their thought of the infinite?

Centuries have passed since these assuring words of the prophet Jeremiah: "They shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, saith the Lord;" and the positive promise of the Master, "There shall be one fold, and one shepherd," and still there is a deplorable lack of unity among professing Christians throughout the civilized world, and still we find "an altar with this inscription, To the Unknown God. Why is it? The answer is plain: forgetting that spiritual things can be only spiritually discerned, humanity has been trying to know God, to see good, through the human mind or material senses. Almost unconsciously it has drifted farther and farther away from the Mind that was with Christ Jesus, and the commandments of men have taken the place of sound doctrine. Christian Science has come as the resurrection of primitive Christianity and its lost art of healing, and all who will may prove by demonstration the verity of its teachings. It is not the purpose of this lecture, however, to force conclusions upon so important a subject, but to speak from that viewpoint of the Science which has enabled its adherents to find in it a satisfying explanation of the phenomenon of human existence.

Point of Agreement
There is perhaps one basic thought upon which all religionists agree at the very outset—namely, Consciousness. We all assent to the fact that we are in a conscious state of being or existence, and that without such consciousness we would cease to exist. So far, so good. But when we attempt to call this consciousness good, we immediately plunge into an abyss of darkness from which the Christian world for centuries has been struggling to extricate itself, that of mingling good and evil, calling evil good and good evil. This dualistic concept of consciousness has been the cause of the spiritual suffering and torment to the human race. It is evident then that from it humanity must escape if it would ever reach what is called heaven. Hence its need of a Saviour.

Consciousness Defined
Here Christian Science steps forth into the arena of mental activity and gives a definition of consciousness which enables us to differentiate between what is real and eternal and what is unreal and temporal. It defines consciousness as the infinite intelligence or Mind, which is God, or Spirit. It makes clear to the receptive thought that the so-called consciousness of both good and evil is not in spiritual accord with the nature of God or good. Real consciousness being God, it is infinite, all comprehensive and ever-present. The moment this super-sensible fact is admitted we are divinely empowered to begin the all-important work of purifying that consciousness which claims the capacity and privilege to know evil as well as good.

Transformation of Human Consciousness

This one statement on page 276 of Science and Health, by Mrs. Eddy, "Real consciousness is cognizant only of the things of God," has already aroused a slumbering world from its dream of life in matter to the great need of mental transformation, for it is the abnormal human consciousness that is referred to in the scriptural passages: "No man hath seen God at any time," and "There shall no man see me and live." Is it any wonder that the apostle admonished, "Be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind?" This renewing of the mind involves the separation of good and evil in consciousness, of right thought and wrong thought, a mental process which every human being must undergo before he can fully awaken to the perfection of being. Heaven is, always has been, and always will be, not a locality, but a divine harmonious state of consciousness into which no erroneous or evil thought ever entered or ever can enter. It therefore follows conclusively that all wrong thought must be purged from consciousness, and that our heaven will be found here and now just to the extent that we reject the evil and lay hold of the good. How to distinguish between right and wrong thought will be our main concern. Right thoughts or ideas in Christian Science are emanations of the one divine Mind or intelligence. They are the only avenues or channels through which the one Mind finds expression. We could not conceive of an expressionless Mind or intelligence. Wrong thoughts are human beliefs only, therefore finite, mutable and mortal. They do not convey intelligence or real Mind to man. They have neither Principle, power nor law to sustain them, and no mission to perform. Wrong thoughts are no part of real consciousness. In no way does God sanction or uphold them. But how shall we detect and cast out such counterfeiters of reality? Obviously by gaining an understanding of genuine or right thoughts. Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The right idea of intelligence or Mind and of what constitutes its expression or manifestation will certainly free us from any mistaken sense of Mind. It is always a knowledge of the truth which corrects and does away with mistakes. So long as we place good and evil on the same level of human belief we fail to understand the true nature of either. The moment we accept good as supreme and as the spiritual reality of being, the very moment we do acknowledge a divine Principle or law which operates mentally through the idea of infinite good to destroy all belief in evil. Here, then, is the way out of our dilemma.

Right Mental Activity
If two men are in a frenzied state of thought, and almost upon the point of inflicting bodily injury upon each other, we all know that a certain degree of right mental activity on their part will soon restore harmony, in fact, we cannot think of any other possible means of bringing about such a result. If a pupil in mathematics becomes confused in thought and cannot work out his problem, we know that the influence of right thought will soon adjust the difficulty and enable him to solve his problem. We all acknowledge that his state of consciousness must change before he can complete his work.

If a friend is prostrated with grief, this life is dark and lonely, we know and acknowledge that the application of rightly directed thought will very soon act as oil upon the troubled waters, and mourning will be turned into joy. If fear overwhelms one we admit that a thought of God's power and presence very soon banishes the fear. Then why should not the power of God be used to free from some ailment which has no possible existence outside of the realm of mortal consciousness, be healed through the operation of God's thoughts. The activity of right thought is no finite or limited capacity. Neither is it any respecter of persons, troubles or diseases. It is as natural for right thought to heal as it is for the sun to shine. All of the mental disorders which we know yield to the exercise of right thinking are capable of producing what are termed physical or bodily diseases, which are only a different form of error, cannot be healed by material means, is to dispute the practical application of spiritually enlightened thought.

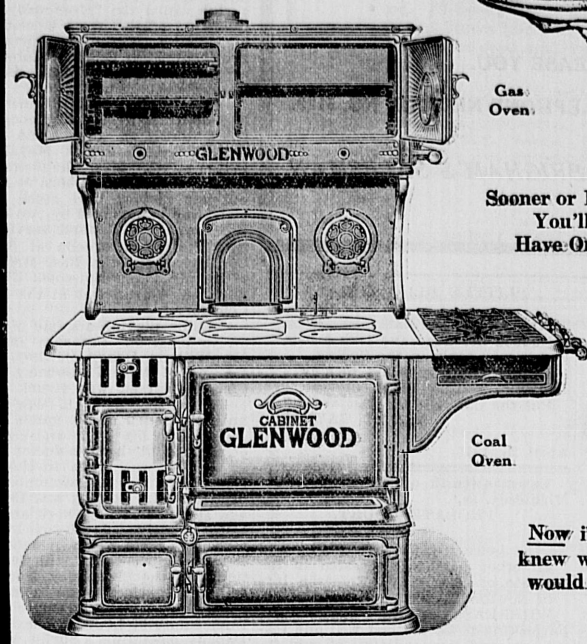

When the right idea of God as being the one infinite all-good consciousness enters the area of our thinking and reasoning capacity, the activity of righteousness is allowed to assert itself, and just as darkness is displaced by the light, so are wrong thoughts displaced by scientific or God-like thoughts. The moment the true idea of Mind enters individual consciousness, real constructive mental work begins therein. This idea, operating through law and as law, demands the perfect readjustment of finite human consciousness. The divine idea is Mind's true and lawful representative, and Mind has no other. It is the only agent that is clothed with power and authority to carry out the purposes of its Principle, God. Let us never forget that the only real power in the universe is divine Mind and is expressed or reflected through its own idea, never through changing human beliefs. In all directions, far and near, we hear of the continuous unfolding of this universal idea of Mind, of the wonderful healing and transformation of human thought, of the peace and joy and happiness that have entered into the world through its loving ministrations, and we are led to exclaim, "Is not this the Christ?"

The Christ Within
The world is fast losing its limited personal sense of the Saviour of men and is looking more to the Christ within. It is a present resurrection and spiritual life that Christians are most deeply interested in. Christian Science urges upon all mankind the necessity of opening the door of consciousness to receive this king of glory, this ever-present saving Christ idea which comes as of old "with healing in his wings." David cried, "Who is this king of glory? The Lord strong and"

But if it is chivalry that provides a 72 hour week for working women in some states, pays scrub women $22 a month and allows babies to make flowers in the tenements of New York City for 12 cents a day, the sooner we get rid of chivalry and get down to brass tacks, the sooner we can look ourselves in the face with respect," says Owen R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee one of the leading social statistics authorities in the United States.

mighty, the Lord mighty in battle." This certainly conveys an impersonal concept of the Christ, Truth, a divine activity or influence which is indeed mighty to heal all our diseases. Every human failure to prove the power of good is a failure to leave all for Christ. Whenever human will surrenders to the divine there is a victory won on the side of Truth, but not before. The great Teacher of mankind, whose consciousness was ever dominated by the Christ idea, said "I can of mine own self do nothing." What a rebuke to pride and human will power! If all who profess to love the Truth could grasp the metaphysical viewpoint of the great apostle when he said "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me," they would be in touch with the only healing and redeeming activity known to the world. This Christ idea speaking through Jesus said, "Without me (severed from me) ye can do nothing." This statement is of vital import to the whole world for severed from the understanding of the true idea through which the nature of divinity is imparted to humanity, we would all find ourselves in a very sad plight, without healing or salvation. As we stop to ponder the thought that good can find expression only through goodness, Love only through that which loves, Truth only through that which is truthful, we can begin to see the intimate relationship between God and His idea. They are inseparably connected, so that they never have existed and never can exist separate and apart from each other. The Christ idea, therefore, was never for one moment separated from the Father, but through the pure humanity of Jesus it found its normal and harmonious manifestation in those wonderful words and works which are today as never before attracting world-wide attention.

Our Saviour

In the experience of humanity a right idea is always a saving idea. When it is seen that an erroneous concept of God is really responsible for all the evil in the world, it will naturally follow that a right concept of Deity will be the only means of correcting such evil. And this correction will take place in human consciousness, where all belief in evil must obtain. Thus we find in Christian Science that the right idea of good frees us from everything that is unlike good; the right idea of health enables us to overcome disease; the right idea of Love destroys all sense of hate; the right idea of power enables us to prove the dominion of good; the right idea of supply makes it possible to conquer all belief in poverty or lack; the right idea of success leads to the overcoming of all merely selfish or worldly aims and ambitions; the right idea of Spirit turns the light of spiritual understanding on matter and robs it of all life, substance and intelligence, thus enabling us to overcome its discordant conditions and so-called laws; the right idea of causation does away with belief in secondary or evil causes; the right idea of activity leads to the subjugation of the self-assertive human will; in other words, the right idea of God, man and the universe is our present means of escape from all that would separate us from God, good. Is not this "the resurrection, and the life?"

As human consciousness becomes purged of the dross of materialism, is resurrected from a false material sense to a higher or spiritual sense. Only through this thorough purification of thought can we come face to face mentally with things spiritual and eternal. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God," good. God is not revealed to humanity through a good and evil consciousness. Whoever insists upon such a consciousness has not therefore participated of the resurrection. This fact is one that should receive more thoughtful consideration at the hands of all Christian people, for it most vitally concerns the welfare of all humanity. The most unnatural of all unnatural things is to believe that evil is any part of real consciousness. Such belief does not honor our Creator. The possibility of finally attaining the perfect state of consciousness is patent to all Christian Scientists, and there is untold joy and happiness and satisfaction in striving for its accomplishment, here and now. It pays daily dividends in a renewed sense of health, strength and happiness. Only through the coming of Christ, of the true idea of God, can this ever take place.

When Christ appears, the tares (wrong thoughts) are bound in bundles to burn, while the wheat (good thoughts) is gathered into the Father's storehouse. He who is first to acknowledge that the dual consciousness of good and evil is in absolute need of a Saviour is the first to acquaint himself with God and to be at peace.

Love for Christ Jesus

There are no people on earth who feel and express more genuine affection and love for Christ Jesus than do Christian Scientists. They not only believe but they understand why he is to them "the resurrection and the life." They reverently acknowledge him as the Saviour of the world, and they are striving to keep his commandments. They know only too well that something more than lip service is required to enable them to follow in his mental footsteps. They realize that the whole plan of salvation is nothing short of a mental and moral healing and regeneration, whereby the so-called human consciousness surrenders to the divine, which, as has already been stated, "is cognizant only of the things of God." This being the case we must begin now to think our way into the kingdom of heaven. No one of us will ever reach this harmonious state without being conscious of it. It is not an experience outside of or independent of consciousness. The apostle knew this when admonishing us to have in us the same Mind that was in Christ Jesus. He knew that the way was a mental crucifixion and resurrection for us all to pass through before we can become conscious of good only. The Christ idea of purity, operating in human consciousness, offers to Christian Scientists, as well as to all others the only means of escape from wrong thinking and its attendant discordant effects. Jesus taught "as one having authority and not as the scribes." What gave him authority to speak as never man spake and to do the works which the scribes and Pharisees did not and could not do? Was it not his intimate knowledge of the naturalness of Spirit? He recognized the sovereignty of good and yielded uncompromising obedience thereto. This very obedience endowed him with power from on high, and in the measure of our obedience to this same divine Principle, which Science calls God, and which is no respecter of persons, we too can reflect the same power.

It is sacrilegious for us to lay claim to our divine inheritance, to think and to act as if we possessed at least a measure of divine intelligence? Could we very well do otherwise if we are to allow the Christ Mind to control us?

God All Power

One of the very first things which the student of Christian Science does after gaining even a faint glimpse of the truth of his being is to give all power to good and none to evil. The door to the kingdom of heaven is opened to him the moment he does this. Then he wonders why he spent so many years in believing in two powers while calling one of them omnipotent. The inconsistency of such a mental attitude never before appeared to him. He now sees where it was the main barrier to his moral and spiritual growth. This one point in metaphysics is so simple that multitudes of professing Christians stumble over it. They pray earnestly for deliverance from evil, but never once does it seem to occur to them to give all power to good by withholding all from evil. They may declare with the lips that God is almighty, but they still believe that there is an evil power. This bars the door to the coming of Christ, Truth, to the coming of that spiritual activity, which corrects and destroys all mistaken belief in a good and evil power. When all Christian people are ready to take Jesus at his word and to call evil a self-constituted lie as he did, they will comprehend for the first time the true significance of omnipotence, and meekly, humbly and joyfully begin to do the healing works which he did. When referring to the divinity of this very teaching Jesus said: If any man will do his (God's) will he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." Do the harsh critics of Christian Science ever go far as to apply the sacred rules of this Science before proclaiming their false impressions of its teachings? If they did, they would cease to condemn a religion which they have failed to understand metaphysically. The omnipotence of good is not an argument, it is a spiritual or supersensible fact, and can be understood only through the practice of good, "with signs following." Arguing against its validity or practicability will never repeat the works of the Master nor help any one to understand his sacred teachings.

Nothing could be more fatal to one's happiness and success than to entertain a mistaken sense of life. The Christ method of learning Life is made plain in Christian Science. It is so simple and practical that young and old alike may readily adopt it. The Master clearly defined eternal Life, and Christian Science has adequately interpreted his words: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." In the light of Christian Science it is evident that a right knowledge or understanding of God (Continued on Page 8)

It tells us that we must heed the admonition of the apostle. "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light." From what must we awaken? Not from a conscious state of mistakenness to right-mindedness. That would be impossible. The apostle would have us infer that we are asleep, even dead, but that Christ will give us the light of understanding to awaken from this dream sense of existence. It may be humiliating to some to be told that they are "dead in trespasses and sins," but sooner or later the admission of a mortal consciousness which knows nothing of health or salvation will be made by all mankind. It is from this false sense of consciousness that every human being must eventually, here or hereafter, awaken that he may become conscious of the true idea of God, good. It is then that he begins to partake of "the resurrection, and the life." Paul referred to it as the putting off of the old man and the putting on of the new. It means the "new creature" in Christ, in other words, a God-corrected mentality.

A mentality which has been thus corrected by the right idea of good is one that is mentally alive or awake to metaphysical facts, and is dying daily to sense testimony. Wherever the Christ activity has begun to find expression in individual consciousness, behold a better man or woman, one who is more practical, more honest, more loving, more sympathetic, more generous, more considerate, more capable in every respect. There is not a single human activity that is not experiencing this leavening and healing influence of the Christ idea today. Disobedience to God's law is what retards normal human progress, while obedience to it leads immediately to a present participation in all that makes for the mental, moral and physical uplift of humanity.

Mrs. Eddy

Mary Baker Eddy, the acknowledged Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, was a most wonderful woman. Her genuine nobility of character, her intensely religious nature, her unbounded love for God and humanity, her untiring labors for the good of mankind, her sublime courage and trust, made her one of the world's greatest of religious Leaders and Teachers. The one dominating feature of her life was that she had learned the meaning of Love and how to reflect it toward friend and foe alike. She claimed no infallibility nor sought any personal aggrandizement. Those who knew her best affirm that she was a wise spiritual counselor and a true friend. The spirit of Christian charity controlled her every thought and action. When she was reviled, she reviled not again. She said of her former church: "I love the orthodox church, and in time that church will love Christian Science." (Miscellaneous Writings, page 111.) Christian Science did not originate in Mrs. Eddy's human mind. It was the Christ idea of the oneness and aliveness of Divine Mind that found expression in her purified mentality. She had reached a purified mental height which made it possible for the Christ consciousness to assert itself as the law and dominion of good. She yielded willing and loving obedience to this spiritual evangel, and as a result of this obedience Christian healing is again an established fact in our midst. The Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," is the natural and logical outcome of Mrs. Eddy's unselfed devotion and fidelity to the spiritual law. It is doubtful whether any one of her followers has as yet been able to feel or to express his full measure of gratitude for what has come to the world through the devotion and self-sacrifice of this noble woman. It cannot well be measured by any human standard. The dawning of the spiritual idea in Mrs. Eddy's Love-chastened consciousness is the greatest mental phenomenon that could ever be experienced by a human being. Its importance to the human race is beyond comparison. It is "the resurrection and the life" to all who humbly appropriate it and begin to live according to its divine requirements.

Life How Learned

Nothing could be more fatal to one's happiness and success than to entertain a mistaken sense of life. The Christ method of learning Life is made plain in Christian Science. It is so simple and practical that young and old alike may readily adopt it. The Master clearly defined eternal Life, and Christian Science has adequately interpreted his words: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." In the light of Christian Science it is evident that a right knowledge or understanding of God (Continued on Page 8)

POP CONCERT

A very successful pop concert and entertainment for the benefit of the Parish of the Messiah, was given Monday evening in Norumbega hall, Auburndale, under the auspices of the Parish Work Department.

Small tables were arranged attractively in the hall, and decorated in yellow and white, with a centre piece of ferns and greenery on each table, and refreshments were served during the intermissions by eight young ladies effectively attired in yellow muslin skirts and white blouses and bolero jackets of yellow.

The servers included the Misses Hazel Foxwell, Florence Haynes, Susan Fogwill, Josephine Burgess, Susie Dwyer, Lillian Scott, Edith Patchett, Victoria Heald and Edith Carver.

The stage was festooned with yellow flowers, and a program of 14 excellent numbers was presented, which was replete with entertaining features and variety. Each member was received with enthusiasm by the large audience, and the selections by Knight's Orchestra were repeatedly encored.

The program opened with "Sari Waltzes" by the orchestra, followed by two piano solos, admirably rendered by Miss Edith Spinazola of the West Newton Music School.

Miss Gertrude Copeland, a wonderfully gifted and entertaining reader, delighted the audience with "Camelia Ricardo" and "Barrel Organ," and two soprano selections, "In Love's Garden," and "An Open Secret," by Miss Helen S. Legge, were beautifully rendered.

Mr. William J. Francis, Jr., the popular baritone, who is a remarkably pleasing soloist, sang several selections, and Miss Zeleznay contributed a violin solo, "Scene of Ballet," proving herself an artist of exceptional ability.

Among the most entertaining features of the program, were the piano-ologues, "The Three Trees" and "When Grandma Had a Beau," by Edna Knight; of charming presence and extensive concert experience.

Mr. Knight is admirably qualified by nature to portray the childish characters, and besides being an accomplished pianist her work is made more enjoyable by the element of personal magnetism without which no artist is able to approach nearer the ideal.

The audience manifested its approval, by frequent and liberal applause and she responded to the encore, with "A Little Girl's Idea of a Cow," "Whirlwind," a breezy cornet solo by Miss Grace Swain, was among the enjoyable numbers on the program, and John Turner, and Richard Jacobs made a decided "hit" in their clever execution of an "Umbrella Dance."

Two "catchy" melodies, "That Southern Hospitality," and "On With the Dance," by the orchestra, completed a most delightful program.

The following ladies had charge of the tables: cake table, Mrs. Scott; candy table, Mrs. William Newstead; nut table, Mrs. Louise Gates; ice cream Miss Annie Washburn; Decorations, Mrs. E. H. Ashenden.

The affair surpassed in excellence, any of the past, and the young people in point of enjoyment and attendance, and much credit for its success is due Mrs. M. E. Beardsley, of the M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company, under whose direction it was given.

MAY PARTY

Temple Hall presented a gay and festive appearance on Saturday afternoon, on the occasion of the Annual May Party, which was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Newtonville Universalist Church.

More than one hundred attractively attired boys and girls assembled between 3 and 5, where a program of exhibition dancing had been arranged for the entertainment of the children.

Lively music by Mrs. Edna Knight, who presided at the pianoforte, made a delightful accompaniment for the many charming dances portrayed by the graceful and clever dancers. To the strains of an inspiring march, the children in holiday array, marched into the hall, where an order of dances was executed, each number being dearly expressed, and the young people won the admiration of the large company of spectators who manifested their appreciation by frequent and liberal applause. Paul Revere Knight, Jr. and Miss Mildred Wright, pupils of Mrs. Maude S. Osborne, in a "Japanese Cherry Blossom Dance," were wonderfully clever and graceful, and were enthusiastically encored and the Misses Helen and Florence McKen-were two very dainty little dancers in "Petite Coquette," and were greatly admired.

The Misses Dorothy and Priscilla Cornish, pupils of Miss Mildred Macomber, delighted the audience with the pantomime dance, "Tipperary," in fetching costume, and they were so rapturously encored that they responded with "If That's Your Idea of a Wonderful Time, Take Me Home."

Miss Mildred Wright scored a great success in her execution of the solo dance, "Fairy Snowflakes," and Pamela Gifford, a pupil of Mrs. Lilla Viles Wyman gave a very clever demonstration of artistic toe dancing, in flowery costume.

All of the dances were pretty and appropriate costumes, and the children were presented with beautiful flowers and May baskets. Refreshments, consisting of cakes and ices were served during the intermission.

The affair, which was very successful and enjoyable, was under the efficient management of Mrs. J. L. Atwood.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE—"Common Clay" began the last two weeks of its run Monday at the Castle Square Theatre before an audience so large that it suggested that a lot of people have been procrastinating. It seems impossible that fifteen weeks, with an attendance totalling more than 250,000 people, should have not included in the audience everyone who cared to see this play. But last week's rush for seats is a denial of such an assumption.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor

The club presidents will receive the Bulletin of the State Federation this week and with it the list of questions for the information from which the Federation Manual is compiled. Any one who has had experience in preparing club year books will have a little conception of what the work of getting out the Manual is, but only a very small idea. There is nothing more difficult to read than names with which one is unfamiliar, particularly from the fact that there is no context to assist the guessing. Will every one of the Newton presidents do her part to help in this matter by filling out her blank distinctly and returning it promptly? It is due not later than May 15, but if the club has already held its annual meeting, do it now before the blank is hidden and forgotten.

State Federation

The last meeting of the Conservation Club will be held at 3 Joy street, Boston, on Thursday, May 6 at 10.15 A. M. Mr. Arthur A. Shurtleff, landscape architect of Boston, will be the speaker and his talk will be illustrated with lantern slides. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Owing to the fact that Mrs. George W. Perkins, president of the State Federation, is to attend the Council meeting of the General Federation at Portland, Oregon, the dates for the annual meeting have been set for June 24 and 25 instead of the week of June 7, but the place, Marion, will be the same. Hotel Sippican will be the headquarters and on account of there being but few single rooms the delegates are requested to arrange to share accommodations with friends. These may be secured by telephoning to Mr. Harry T. Miller at Woodland Park Hotel, who is also manager of The Sippican.

Newton Federation

On Tuesday, May 4 at 10.30, the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will hold its annual meeting in the Central Congregational Church, Walnut street, Newtonville. The morning session will be occupied with the annual reports of officers and committees and clubs. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock, after which there will be an unusually attractive program of music by the pupils of the West Newton Music School, readings by Miss Ruth Perkins and an address by His Excellency, Governor Walsh, his subject being, "Social Service and the Government." A limited number of additional luncheon tickets may be secured from Mrs. F. E. Anderson of Newton Centre on or before the morning of Saturday, May 1st.

Every one who attends the afternoon session only must present her personal card with name of club.

Local Announcements

On May 3, at 12.30, the members of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Hayward for luncheon. The annual business meeting will follow.

Mrs. Hubert Carter of Otis street, president of the Newton Mothers' Club will entertain the members at luncheon at her home next Monday, May 3. This will be followed by the business of the annual meeting.

The Brightelmstone Club holds its annual meeting on Monday next at 2.30 P. M.

The Waban Woman's Club will meet at the Union Church vestry at one o'clock on May 3 for luncheon. After which will come the annual business meeting and a short play.

On Wednesday morning the Social Science Club will hold its closing meeting for the season. Mr. George Royal Pulsifer will speak on "The Work of the Newton Hospital," his talk being in the nature of a report and an explanation rather than an appeal, as the club is an annual contributor to the work.

Local Happenings

On April 26 the Newton Highlands Monday Club held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. D. W. Eagles. After the annual reports of officers and committees Mrs. C. S. Luitwiler presented a paper on "Modern Drama." The following officers have been elected for next year: President, Mrs. L. H. Marshall; vice-presidents, Mrs. C. H. Keeler, Mrs. S. A. Thompson; recording secretary, Mrs. H. W. Osgood; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. W. Barker; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Turnbull; auditor, Mrs. D. W. Eagles; directors for two years, Mrs. G. A. Salmon, Mrs. F. A. O'Connor; for one year, Mrs. H. E. Williams, Mrs. H. B. Walker.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. held on Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Bacall, Mrs. George Q. Hill read an unusually interesting paper on "The Modern American Woman," which created considerable discussion.

Mrs. Robert Gorton of Brookline, president of the Newton Parliamentary Club, entertained the members at a delightful luncheon at her home on Tuesday. This was followed by the practice session and business meeting after which original poems, recitations and music added much merriment to the occasion. Mrs. J. W. McIntyre, president of the Newton Federation, was one of the invited guests.

The first annual meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club was held at Woodland Park Hotel on Tuesday. A luncheon was served at 12.30 to about 250 members, after which Mrs. J. R. Draper as toast mistress introduced the following ladies, who spoke on the general topic of "Our Village Garden." Mrs. Peloubet, "Auburndale in the Past." Mrs. Stiles, "Auburndale in the Present." Mrs. Davidson, "The Club Seed." Mrs. McConnell, "The First Fruits." Miss Porter, "The New Growth." Miss Ordway then recited a group of original poems. This program was greatly enjoyed. After an intermission the club was called to order by the president, Mrs. Charlotte Brown. The annual reports of both secretaries, and the treasurer were presented and showed a tremendous amount of work done, and the loyal service and co-operation of the three hundred and eight women who constitute the club. Reports of the chairman of Standing committees showed excellent results for the year and the foundation of larger endeavor in the future. The classes have been very successful and much philanthropic work has been accomplished. The Clean-Up Campaign and the collection of funds for the Hospital Social Service are being carried on by the club committees. The election of officers for the ensuing year was as follows: President, Mrs. Chas. A. Brown; vice-president, Mrs. Henry A. Wentworth; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Lane; recording secretary, Mrs. Wilbur Gilpatrick; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Joseph R. Draper; treasurer, Miss Margaret Haskell; assistant treasurer, Miss Caroline Hollis; director, Mrs. Mary E. Herron.

The various standing committees will be chosen by the Executive Board at an early date. The Club is to be congratulated on the success of its first year of work and pleasure.

On Wednesday afternoon the Pierian Club met at the home of Mrs. Titus. Mrs. H. E. Child gave a paper on "Education and Literature of Canada." This was followed by a paper on "Patriotic and National Music," by Mrs. Easterbrook, Mrs. Dresser rendering the various airs upon the piano by way of illustration. The annual meeting has been postponed from May 5th to May 12th when luncheon will be served at Pettee Inn.

The Social Science Club departed from its usual custom on Wednesday afternoon, the kindness of members owning automobiles seventy-four were transported to the Brae-Burn Country Club for the annual meeting. The business session opened soon after ten-thirty in the billiard room with the reports of officers and chairmen of standing committees, all of which were full of interest. Among the things reported may be mentioned the efforts of the Home Economics committee to secure more sanitary conditions in the local provision stores, the attempt of the Education committee to correct the overheating of Bigelow School, the weekly visits by members to the Newton Opera House with a view to observing conditions there, the formation of a local branch of the Massachusetts Forestry Association, the investigation into the birth registration system of our city, and things well worth while and the results reported were most encouraging.

The Stamp Savings committee reported that this year there have been 26 collection days at the three schools and $350.40 have been deposited, of which $178.28 have been withdrawn. Some of the children saved for Christmas, others have put their money in the bank.

There has been given from the philanthropic fund subscribed by the members to the Stearns School Centre, $250, the Newton Hospital, $100, Hampton Scholarship, $70, Dental Clinic, $25, School Garden work $25. A most interesting letter was read from Charles Martine, the recipient of the Hampton Scholarship, who is described by the teacher in charge as "the most Indian of all our Indians," and whom the boys have named, "Big Chief." These officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Sterling Elliott; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Louis Stoughton Drake, Mrs. James W. McIntyre, Mrs. Charles H. Breck, Mrs. Vernon B. Sweet, Miss Grace Weston, Mrs. George Angier; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Ethel Sears Gilman; Treasurer, Mrs. Henry K. Hobart; Auditor, (Continued on page 7)

AN APPEAL

The following appeal has been sent the residents of Newton Centre. Next week (May 28) is "Playground Week" in Newton Centre, and every child of the sixth ward is to be interviewed at his or her residence and to contribute towards the cost of building and remodeling the building which has been presented to the Association by Trinity Parish.

those who use it with a building which will afford shelter and simple sanitary facilities? Certainly every resident of the village must answer No to this question. The Committee asks, and knows it will receive, the cordial co-operation of all those who will be called on. The appeal which is to be made should strike a responsive chord in the hearts of every man and woman who has children or who is interested in the welfare of children. Are there any of us "grown ups" who cannot qualify in one of these two classes?

Yellow and white jonquills were arranged attractively on the table in the dining room where refreshments were served.

Mr. Smith was presented with a pair of beautiful pictures, Mr. Patchett doing the honors, and making a presentation speech.

Mr. Smith responded, thanking his friends for their kind thought of him, and the remainder of the evening was passed most delightfully with music and games.

At the close of the business meeting luncheon was served in the dining room overlooking the links. The guests were seated at small tables, all attractively decorated with green, and white sweet peas and snap-dragon. Mrs. George Angier as toast-mistress presided over the after-luncheon festivities. She prepared the members for an imaginary journey by packing their bags with the necessities, adding various magazines and papers for their enjoyment. The first was "The Outlook," which was responded to by Mrs. Sterling Elliott, the newly-elected president; then came the "Review of Reviews," which Mrs. L. S. Drake, the retiring president, reviewed earlier club programs and paid tribute to past presidents. The next were the "Newton Papers," when Mrs. J. W. McIntyre gave "A Graphic Journal of Newton Times on the Circuit." Humorous verses contributed by a club husband were read at this point by Miss Ethel Sears Gilman, the corresponding secretary. A combination of "The Smart Set" and the "Century" was responded to by Mrs. E. E. Kent, who brought back from the sunny South glimpses of three types of women, the every day set whom every one enjoys, the Palm Beach woman, and Grandma Pigg of the Kentucky mountains. Mrs. Grosvenor Calkins, whose magazines were "Living Age" and "World's Work" told of the Women of the Future, embracing personal observations of conditions as she has known them in California. The affair was delightful from start to finish and much credit is due the Social committee for the carrying out of all the details.

On April 23 the West Newton Women's Educational Club met in the Rose Room of Hotel Lenox, Boston, for luncheon and the annual business meeting. After the luncheon Mrs. George G. Phipps paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of Mrs. Nathaniel T. Allen, one of the club's honorary vice-presidents, and also referred to the passing of Mrs. Edward C. Burroughs and Mrs. Charles H. Stacey, both former members of the club. Mrs. H. K. Burrison spoke of Mrs. Rowe, a former president who has also died within a short time. The annual reports were all full of interest and showed the club to be in good condition. Two groups of songs by Miss Ruth Winslow added much to the pleasure of the afternoon. Mrs. G. W. St. Amant, the retiring president, called attention to the fact that Mrs. Lavinia Brown and Mrs. Sweetland had attended over thirty of the thirty-five annual meetings which the club has had. These officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Walter A. Beedle; vice-presidents, Mrs. Harry S. Wells, Mrs. Robert Gorton; recording secretary, Mrs. H. K. Burrison; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Olin D. Dickerman; treasurer, Mrs. F. E. Nowers; auditor, Mrs. Ernest F. Robinson; directors for three years, Mrs. Emma M. Dimond, Mrs. E. A. Dexter, Mrs. G. W. St. Amant.

On Wednesday afternoon the annual meeting of the Travel Class of West Newton Women's Educational Club was held at Mrs. McDonald's, Auburndale. There were twenty-one members present and the afternoon was spent on the play Antony and Cleopatra, as an appropriate climax to the study of Egypt. The story of the play was told, interspersed with reading from scenes which brought out important points in the story. The principal characters taken were "Antony," Mrs. McLean; "Cleopatra," Mrs. Gibbs first and later Mrs. Burrison; "Caesar," Mrs. Byfield; "Charman," Mrs. Beedle; "Eros," Mrs. Jordan; "Enobarbus," Mrs. Wells.

All were deeply interested in the development of the story and, as usual, an interesting and profitable afternoon passed all too quickly. The annual report was given by the class leader, Mrs. Early, and the class was then placed in charge of next year's leader, Mrs. Byfield, who gave out the subject and topics assigned to each member.

As mentioned in the leader's report, the hearty and spontaneous hospitality which has welcomed us at the various homes of members has been no small part of our year's pleasure and yesterday's reception was an exception to the rule.

The ices in the shape of Egyptian lotus flowers looked too beautiful to be eaten and the rule of the class which forbids the serving of more than two items of refreshment at any meeting was, on this occasion, utterly disregarded. The meeting closed with many pleasant memories and only one regret, that we must wait till next fall before meeting again in our new study of the "United States of Today."

and His Christ makes us the inheritors of Life eternal here and now. Such knowledge is absolutely dependent upon scientific or right thinking.

The acceptance and adoption of right thoughts or ideas inaugurates in individual consciousness an activity which dissipates all wrong thinking, and must eventually destroy all belief in sin and death. The advent of this mental awakening in individual experience marks our entrance into eternal Life. Every kind act on our part, every loving sacrifice for the good of others, means just so much of deathless Life for us here and now; in other words, the more good we do and embody, the more permanent becomes our sense of Life. Malice, envy and hatred, all sinful thinking, brings suffering and death into the world. Right thinking brings health and peace and joy and life. As the apostle expressed it: "To be carnally minded is death; to be spiritually minded is life and peace." The deathless Christ-idea spoke through Jesus: "I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life." How shall we follow the great Wayshower except as we begin to think as he thought? His whole life was one continuous service of thinking and doing good. His mission on earth was to abolish from consciousness all thought of death, and to bring "life and immortality to light through the gospel." Could this have been done through any human power, mind or intelligence? No, Jesus wrought through the divine idea which forever expresses divine wisdom, power and intelligence. Without the operation of this divine idea, man, man, considering the gospel of "one earth peace, good will toward men," would never have been taught or demonstrated. It constitutes the very life blood of the Christian religion. The universal peace of nations is absolutely dependent upon it. The unprecedented growth and success of the Christian Science movement is wholly due to the activity of the true idea of God as voiced to the world in Mrs. Eddy's discovery of the Science of Mind-healing.

Right mental action is necessarily constituted of right thoughts or ideas. It is not expressed through finite human thought. Why were there no healing works accredited to John the Baptist? Because, according to his own admission, he was not in possession of the Christ consciousness. Jesus said of John: "Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist: notwithstanding he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he." This somewhat remarkable statement would indicate that the least degree of spiritual understanding is greater than anything possessed by the so-called human mind as typified in John. This ought to prove to all thinking persons the futility of looking to any human source for healing or redemption. If the very highest type of human thought could not heal John's time, it cannot be expected to do so today. This leads at once to the subject of healing as understood and practiced in Christian Science.

What Is It That Heals?

After what has already been said about the spiritual idea one will naturally anticipate the answer to the question, What is it that heals? It must be that which expresses activity, law and intelligence, and what does this except God? "Among them that are born of women there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist: notwithstanding he that is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he." This somewhat remarkable statement would indicate that the least degree of spiritual understanding is greater than anything possessed by the so-called human mind as typified in John. This ought to prove to all thinking persons the futility of looking to any human source for healing or redemption. If the very highest type of human thought could not heal John's time, it cannot be expected to do so today. This leads at once to the subject of healing as understood and practiced in Christian Science.

The world's literature is rapidly becoming permeated with higher ideals of life, resulting from the leavening influence of the Christ idea of purity. The cause of clean journalism has received a mighty impetus in the publication of The Christian Science Monitor, a daily newspaper for the home, free from all demoralizing news items and from unreliable advertising. Could any one deny the effective operation of right thought in projecting such a stupendous educational enterprise? Surely not. In national, state and municipal activities we witness the steady advance and achievement of corrected thought. What but the spiritual idea, expressing the power, law and dominion of invincible right, could inspire and lead on such a mighty conflict as is now being waged throughout the world between right and wrong? Truly says our Leader: "The world feels the alternative effect of truth through every pore" (Science and Health, p. 224). There are countless thousands of earth's people who want to be right with God, and to be of service to their fellowmen, and Christian Science is satisfying their longings as nothing else can. Why? Because it is "the resurrection and the life" to all who would know and do the will of the Father. To be right with God it is absolutely necessary to understand who man is and how he is related to God.

The Real Man

Thoughts emanating from the brain never deliver the real man. God's image and likeness they never do. They define anything correctly or scientifically. The man referred to in the first chapter of Genesis was never in partnership with evil in any form. He was and is the mental embodiment of all that is good, pure and true. The world as yet knows very little of this man because he is the perfect expression of a perfect Mind or intelligence, and human consciousness is not yet sufficiently purified to grasp the idea of spiritual perfection. Is this man a wholly unknown quantity in human experience? Indeed not! On the contrary, wherever we witness some deed of kindness, some unselfish act, some manifestation of justice and mercy, of love and compassion, there we catch a glimpse of the real man. And when every ungodlike thought is ruled out of consciousness, and nothing but the attributes of good are in evidence, the active manifestation or expression of these attributes will constitute true manhood and womanhood. It must, therefore, be evident to all that the more active we are in reflecting good, the sooner will the spiritual idea of the new man be revealed to the whole world. This is the great work that Christian Scientists are engaged in, and they have abundant proof that it is the spiritual healing activity of the Christ, Truth, which is destined to leaven the whole lump of mortal consciousness. There is no other way out of bondage, for "without me (the Christ consciousness) ye can do nothing" (John 15:5). "No man cometh unto the Father but by me," said Jesus.

Christian Science is daily and hourly proving the eternality of God and His man. It is lifting thought out of matter into the realm of pure Mind, out of physics into metaphysics, out of sinful sense into sinless Soul. In no other way will the true brotherhood of man ever be established.

Treatment

It goes without saying that only a Christian Scientist knows how to give a Christian Science treatment. It requires honesty, humility, compassion, moral purity and spiritual understanding to give a treatment in Christian Science. The expression or reflection of God through His own pure thoughts or ideas, constitutes scientific treatment, just as the sunlight expressed or reflected through its own rays results in the dissipation of darkness. Simple though the process is, no one but a Christian can understand it or use it. It is beyond the ken of human will power or "mental suggestion" even to attempt to give a Christian Science treatment. Treatment is not the influence of one human mind over another. It is the activity of the Word of God in human consciousness. It is prayer in its highest and truest sense.

Results

What of the results of scientific treatment? Observation and experience soon compel the admission that the most successful and salutary influence known to the world today is the practice of Christian Science. As a prophylactic or preventive with both children and adults it has no peer. Unnumbered cases of healing of nearly every known disease, many of these pronounced incurable by the ablest medical authorities, stand as living monuments to the power of Truth. So many such instances of healing are in evidence that practically the whole world agrees on one point, that Christian Science does heal the sick. And it is fast acknowledging something of still greater moment, that what is called physical healing in Christian Science is but the outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace, which characterizes the Christ consciousness. Christian Science teaches us to seek "first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness," and through obedience, moral and physical healing ensues to prove that we have touched the hem of the seamless robe of righteous thinking. Christian Science declares that there can be no reformation without a change of consciousness. Standing upon this basis it becomes the only sure character builder. There are thousands in the various walks of life whose lives have been radically and permanently transformed through the ministrations of Christian Science. In finding the pearl of great price, the mental process by which they can work out their own salvation, many have learned to discriminate between the consciousness of good, and that of the uncorrected carnal or mortal mind which is enmity against good. This enables them to be more useful men and women in every department of life and to fill important posts of duty for which their mental awakening has specially prepared them.

Christian Science offers the one and only solution of the omnipresence problem, because it recognizes false appetites as residing in mortal consciousness and consequently deals with them mentally rather than externally. One Christian Science treatment has frequently cast out the demon of intemperance in its very worst form. It has also healed the morphine, cocaine and other demoralizing habits. Where there has been first a willing mind, there has been a ready way. Degradation and vice that has not yielded to the activity of right thought. Right treatment is necessarily corrective and reformatory, and when it has eliminated sin from thought (by sin we mean all erroneous thinking), it has wiped out the cause of all the discordant conditions of earth. This is precisely what Christian Science is doing. It recognizes the healing of diseases as always incidental to the conquering of the moral fault under whatever guise it may appear.

The world's literature is rapidly becoming permeated with higher ideals of life, resulting from the leavening influence of the Christ idea of purity. The cause of clean journalism has received a mighty impetus in the publication of The Christian Science Monitor, a daily newspaper for the home, free from all demoralizing news items and from unreliable advertising. Could any one deny the effective operation of right thought in projecting such a stupendous educational enterprise? Surely not. In national, state and municipal activities we witness the steady advance and achievement of corrected thought. What but the spiritual idea, expressing the power, law and dominion of invincible right, could inspire and lead on such a mighty conflict as is now being waged throughout the world between right and wrong? Truly says our Leader: "The world feels the alternative effect of truth through every pore" (Science and Health, p. 224). There are countless thousands of earth's people who want to be right with God, and to be of service to their fellowmen, and Christian Science is satisfying their longings as nothing else can. Why? Because it is "the resurrection and the life" to all who would know and do the will of the Father. To be right with God it is absolutely necessary to understand who man is and how he is related to God.
